FANATICS INVOKE THE LAW

Seven Well Known Boys Arrested Last Night— Trial This Afternoon

Just what constitutes religious worship in the eyes of the law and how far a spectator can applaud or laugh without disturbing that worship are questions that will perhaps arise in an interesting little trial that is booked for 4 o'clock this afternoon in City Recorder Moore's court at the city hall.

This trial is the outcome of the arrest last night by Chief Cornelius and Policeman Johnson of seven boys and young men on a charge of disturbing public worship. The boys were taken red-handed at the Pentecostal Mission, on Twelfth street, and, after being hauled up before the recorder, were allowed to go home and be arraigned today.

So strenuous has the younger element of the nightly attendance upon the religious meetings at the Pentecostal Mission made the frenzied and fanatical worshippings of the faithful followers of the "Tongues of Fire" doctrine that it was found necessary to call in the police last evening, with the result that the seven young fellows were rounded up and taken to headquarters.

Of late the believers in the doctrine of the "Baptism of the Holy Ghost and Fire," who speak in all sorts of unknown "tongues" and gibberish, and indulge in visions and visitations with the supernatural and burst into weird chants and songs of which they claim to have had no knowledge before, have carried their physical and vocal demonstrations—what they are pleased to call "wrestling with the spirit"—to the point of ludicrousity, and their audiences have been composed, for the most part, of boys and young men ranging from 15 to 21 years and over.

While interruptions in the nature of loud laughing, hissing, cat-calling, whistling, etc., have been frequent, and, upon two or three occasions, the rougher element has carried matters to the extreme of throwing rocks through the windows and the indulgence of other "mild" means of showing their appreciation of the entertainment but, although the mission is furnished with a special officer to preserve peace and quiet during the services, the police have been unable to locate the ring leader. Last evening, however, the straw that broke the camel's back materialized, when, during the season of testimonials, and the leader of the meeting had called upon the audience for miscellaneous quotations from the Bible, one of the boys in the rear shouted out "Jesus Wept," and this brought forth a storm of laughter and turmoil.

Marshal Cornelius and Officer W. W. Johnson rushed in from a back room, where they had been in hiding, at a whistle signal from Mr. Shipley, and captured the seven youths as a result of the raid.

All of the boys professed innocence of creating a disturbance or of taking any part in it, but City Recorder Moore thought best to give them a chance to vindicate themselves before their accuser this afternoon.

All of the boys and young men arrested are well-known in Salem; they are sons of well-known parents, one at least being a scion of one of the most distinguished and eminent families that Oregon has delighted to heap honors upon. Of course, this does not ameliorate the offence any, but helps to add to the "safety of nations."

This may perhaps only be a beginning of litigation. One man, at least, has for weeks been meditating having the "Tongues of Fire" people arrested on some kind of a charge charging them with causing his wife and two daughters to practically "go crazy." On the other hand he is said to have been kept quiet for fear of himself being arrested for calling the mission leaders humbugs.

There will perhaps be other litigation in the matter. The interesting question will be threshed out how far religion can go before it becomes fanaticism in the extent of being a nuisance in the eyes of the law.

The history of the "Tongues of Fire" is well known to readers of The Journal. Several weeks ago accounts of their manner of worship were printed in this paper. On the arrival of a band of fanatics from the Azusa street mission in Los Angeles, things began to get very interesting on Twelfth street. Rev. Mr. Ryan, the head of the mission, Mr. and Mrs. Shipley and others obtained the gift of "tongues," and began to preach, sing and pray in what they declared to be unknown tongues, but the chief and most interesting incantator has been a yellow negro woman from California, whose weird and wonderfully melodious chants have filled her more ignorant hearers with a frenzy of awe. The end is not in sight. But it must be remembered that the late Joshua Creffield once preached in this town, and was one of the leaders of this same band of religious worshippers. Many people claim that the same brand of erotic religion that Creffield finally dealt out will be the logical outcome of the present incantations. Anyway, no one knows what the harvest shall be.

Deafness Cannot Be Cured

By local application, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars free. F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O.

Y. M. C. A. Basketball Omit Efface Newberg from the Map.

The Salem Y. M. C. A. basketball team started on their first trip to this season this morning. They left by boat for Newberg, where they will have a game with Pacific college this evening and then go on to Portland and play Multnomah first Saturday evening.

The Y. M. C. A. has developed a strong team this year and one is going to rank well in the state league of which they are member. They start on their trip in fine condition and have strong hopes of coming home victorious both games.

Pacific college is said to have a good team this year and Multnomah always has one of the strongest teams in the state and if the Y. M. C. A. defeats them tomorrow it indeed be a victory for Salem team.

Forwards—V. Allen and C. H. grove.

Center—John Simonton. Guards—P. Jones and E. Basher.

Sub.—J. King.
