The Garages of New York. "During the year 1903 only one garage was erected in New York city, at a cost of $23,000 and even at that it was almost universally looked upon as a reckless experiment at the time," says the Motor World. "During 1904 only three small private garages were built, at an aggregate cost of $30,000. Last year eighteen garages were erected in that city, practically all of them within a small radius of what has now come to be regarded as the permanent automobile center of the city. Their total cost was $1,287,500. One of these structures cost $350,000; one $200,000, and two of them $150,000; the remainder ranged in cost from $4000 to $80,000. In the nine months of 1906 that have already elapsed no less than $1,324,500 has been expended for the same purpose, these figures being exclusive of the value of the land. Several costing in excess of $100,000 and a few over $200,000 are included in these figures, which also embrace what will undoubtedly be the largest garage structure in the world, now being erected at the northeast corner of Broadway and Sixty-fourth street, at a cost of $400,000. It will be six stories in height, and will have close to 200,000 square feet of space on each floor and the very latest advances in the way of fireproof construction, as well as in affording facilities for the easy handling and storage of cars. But three years ago the car had to come to a halt on the sidewalk, have its gasoline tank emptied and then be pushed by hand, so stringent were the insurance regulations regarding the storage of cars. Many of these new storage buildings are leased at yearly rentals in excess of $20,000, while some of them approach $50,000. Less than two years ago the Avenue de la Grande Armee in Paris was considered to be the greatest of all automobile rows, but Broadway, between Forty-second and Seventy-second streets now eclipses it."

So Much the Better. "Madam, I haven't a friend in do world." "Well, I'm glad to know there is nobody to worry about you in case anything happens. Go for him, Tiger!" —Philadelphia Press.

CHRISTMAS GIFTS FOR EVERYBODY
Some Suggestions for Practical Presents for Every Member of the Family, From Grandma Down to the Little Folks.
"What shall I buy for mamma?"
"What in the world will papa like for Christmas?"
"Dear me, I wish I knew what grandma needs to make her more comfortable?"
How often does one hear just such expressions as these repeated over and over again for weeks approaching the Christmas holidays?
When one comes to think about it he must acknowledge that he, too, is "up against it" when it comes to buying presents for the dear ones as the eventful evening draws near and he sees visions of happy, dancing children around the dazzling tree and the happiness in the hearts of the elder ones who have been "remembered" reflected upon flushed and smiling countenances. Having anticipated that the readers of The Journal might find themselves in just such an embarrassing and uncomfortable predicament a few suggestions were invited from the good and all-wise Santa Claus, and here is the result. Look the lists over, perhaps they will assist you in making your holiday selections:

Supplies of Natural Gas.
The known main productive areas of natural gas in the United States are in connection with the great oil fields. In the Appalachian field this area extends along the western slope of the Appalachian mountains from New York state into Kentucky and Tennessee, with strong probabilities that the future will see it extended into the northern part of Alabama and possibly into Mississippi. Experience has shown that in the Appalachian field the area of sand rock which is completely saturated with salt water is much less than in the upper or younger sandstone beds. This condition causes the accumulations of oil to be at or near the lowest points of the rock, and leaves large areas of the higher portions of the rock which are completely filled with natural gas. The gas-producing area of western Ohio and Indiana has horizons within it which are porous, and in which are accumulations of salt water, oil and gas. The quantity of salt water throughout this field is plentiful and appears to be capable of advancing and occupying all space as soon as the expansive force of the gas has been relieved by opening of gas wells. The source of further supplies of gas will thus be cut off. In Kansas, Oklahoma, Indian Territory large and promising gas fields are being opened up with the oil-bearing formations of that region. This gas is produced in sand rock in all respects similar to that of the Appalachian field, and the probabilities of an extensive continuous supply. The great fields of Texas and California do produce natural gas in proportion to their oil production. This is probably caused by the fact that the producing formations of California have been much tilted and are therefore faulty. Through the vents and cracks thus formed, large quantities of natural gas have escaped into the atmosphere.

PUGET SOUND SPECIAL TOMATO.
This miniature, from a photograph, gives you an idea how the tomato produces. Is an early dwarf, stands free from the ground, with hard, firm, round stalks. Yields large clusters of round, firm, luscious fruit, beautiful rich color, free from blemish, stands shipment splendidly. A three-season leader; popular everywhere. Perfected by us on our experiment grounds at Brighton Beach, and can be obtained solely from us. Sold only in sealed packets. Ounce, 60c; packet, 10c.

GOLDEN JERSEY WAX BEAN.
Brittle, tender, broad, thick—the best of all the yellow pod bush beans. Stringless. Beautiful golden color and delicious flavor. Vigorous, reliable, and an abundant producer. 1/2-lb., 25c; packet, 10c.

JACK FROST SWEET CORN.
Plump, milky kernels, that melt in your mouth; tender, sweet, prolific—really phenomenal. Dwarf variety, permitting close planting. Very hardy. Not only season's earliest, but longest and latest producer. We cannot say too much in endorsement of this corn. Large packet, 15c.

LILLY'S GLORY CABBAGE.
Glorious in flavor, gloriously sound, a glorious grower and a glorious shipper. Lilly ships tons of this cabbage seed across the continent, as this variety, perfected on Puget Sound, is admitted to be the best cabbage grown. Even rounder and more solid than the Danish Ball Head, and infinitely better adapted to Pacific coast conditions. True to type, every head like its neighbor, symmetrical, white inside and solid to the core. 1-lb., $1.25; 1-oz., 35c; packet, 10c.

PRIDE OF THE PACIFIC CUCUMBER.
