The Best Magazines at Bargain Prices

Any magazine, newspaper or periodical, no matter where published can be subscribed for through THE BOBBS-MERRILL COMPANY, Indianapolis, at wholesale rates.

We offer this service to get more readers for THE READER MAGAZINE and THE HOME MAGAZINE, and to pay you for your interest and patronage, we offer you an actual cash saving on all magazines.

WHAT MAGAZINE CLUBBING MEANS.

A magazine club formerly meant getting together a number of people to subscribe for the same magazine. Under our plan it means getting together a number of magazines to be furnished in one order at a greatly reduced price. For instance: The Reader the Cosmopolitan, The Home Magazine and Harper's Bazar, if bought each month at the news-stands, would cost $7.20 per year. If subscribed to separately they cost $6.00 a year. We have arranged a club of these magazines whereby we can furnish all four for $3.00 or just one-half of the subscription price.

Free—Our beautiful 36-page magazine catalog will be sent in response to a postal card request. This tells how you may secure absolutely free a year's subscription to The Home Magazine, and a year's subscription to The Reader Magazine.

Women Who Do

A Woman Who Is Amassing Wealth at the Rate of Several Millions a Year—Hetty Green, Money Lender :: :: :: ::

The number of women who own and manage colossal fortunes is a present-day feature significant of the change in status of woman in regard to financial dependence. Helen Gould has not only kept the millions left to her by the late Jay, but has added largely to them. Her fortune is, however, not so great as that of Mrs. Hetty Green, who since the death of Russell Sage takes rank as the world's chief individual money lender. If the impecunious Russian government wished to get a loan of $50,000,000 suddenly it is probable Het-

MRS. HETTY GREEN.

ty Green could dip down into her own bank vaults and bring up the money. One of her notable sayings, containing part of the secret of her success, is: "I never worry. Worrying is bad for a woman."

Mrs. Green, Hetty Howland Robinson before her marriage, inherited about $10,000,000 from her father and an aunt. At the age of thirty, about the time she was married, she began to invest her money on her own account and control it herself. That was forty-one years ago. Now her wealth is variously estimated at from $50,000,000 to $75,000,000. She has got this vast sum through shrewdness and an economy so strict that many people call it stinginess. However, Hetty Green and her immense wealth are a solid proof of the possession of financial ability by women. Mrs. Green is a native of New Bedford, Mass., and comes of Quaker ancestry.

Chicago's Three Famous Spinsters.

One of them is Margaret Haley, the leading spirit in the fight which resulted in the adding of many million dollars of tax evading property to Chicago's tax list, that resulting in the prompt payment of the back salaries of Chicago teachers, of whom Miss Haley was one. A second spinster is Dr. Cornelia De Bey, a woman noted for her intelligent and helpful interest in educational and sanitary matters in Chicago. The lake city's third famous spinster is Jane Addams of Hull House. Miss Addams and Miss De Bey are members of the Chicago board of education, in which they are the reverse of deadheads. By a recent rule adopted by the board all school matters are now in control of a tripartite government—the board of education, the city school superintendent and a committee from the teachers' union. Thus the teachers themselves help control the Chicago school policy. Margaret Haley represents the teachers' union.

Miss Moon's Magazine For the Blind

In England a magazine of current literature in raised letters for the blind has been established by Miss Adelaide Moon. Hitherto the hapless blind folk have been shut out from general news and literature. Miss Moon's father, himself a blind man, devised a raised alphabet for the sightless. This his daughter uses in her magazine, which is published at Brighton. In connection with her magazine the lady also conducts a shop in which she prints books in the raised alphabet. The magazine has proved such a boon to the blind in Great Britain that it is proposed to start a similar one in America.

A Girl's Remarkable Swim.

At Pelham Manor, on Long Island sound, lives Correen Violet, a noted girl swimmer, aged eighteen. She is distinguished for her endurance in a long distance swim. One of her acquaintances is a young man named Dennison Hatch, likewise known as a swimmer. The young man and girl were both such water athletes that at length some of Mr. Hatch's friends decided there ought to be a swimming match arranged between them. Mr. Hatch was quite willing, but the young lady hesitated a considerable time. At length, however, she was nagged by the admirers of her rival into making the trial. The swim was in Long Island sound from the Westchester club to Great Neck, N. Y. The woman beat the man by several lengths, moving away from him by means of a long, slow, steady stroke. The time occupied by the six mile swim was two hours and a quarter.

Accuracy of Automatic Machinery.

To such accuracy have automatic tools been brought that adjustments and niceties of fitting which had to be done with a fine file in the hands of a good fitter are no longer required. I pointed this out to the general superintendent of a pistol factory, and asked him how much handling had to be done to the parts after they came from the machines, and his reply was:

"None at all. I'd like to see a man going over details with a fine file. But there will be a lot of jobs for the jig makers. How do you suppose a commercial watch can be made and retailed for a single dollar, leaving two or three profits for those who buy to sell again? For all the practical uses of life these watches mark time as well as those costing $300, and they are all punched out of blanks by cheap labor."

The superintendent took me to an inspector, got one of his gauges and went to a machine with it, picking up a handful of small parts from it. "Try them," he said. "Are there any which require fine filing?" I was answered.—Egbert P. Watson in Cassler's Magazine.
