The American people in consequence have ever since been victims of lard cooked food and indigestion. The Sunny South) is in striking contrast to the source of lard (the pig-sty).

Lard soaked food is not fit for human stomachs because lard is made from greasy, indigestible hog fat, and is bound, sooner or later, to make trouble for your inner machinery.

Cottolene is the only rational, national shortening. It is a pure vegetable product and its source (the cotton fields of Cottolene is a clean, wholesome product that makes food palatable, nutritious and healthful, and food that any stomach can digest. If American housewives but knew the superiority of Cottolene over lard, both from a practical and health standpoint, lard would never again enter any well-regulated kitchen.

COTTOLENE was granted a GRAND PRIZE (highest possible award) over all other cooking fats at the recent Louisiana Purchase Exposition, and food cooked with COTTOLENE another GRAND PRIZE.

PENSIONS SMOOT WATER WAYS

Washington, Jan. 18.—Officially there never was any "War of the Rebellion." The United States senate has legislated that term out of existence and hereafter in official documents the late unpleasantness between the north and south will be known as the "Civil War." This change in nomenclature was brought about this week during the passage of the general service pension bill, which, incidentally, adds fully $12,000,000 to the annual roll. Exception to the term "War of the Rebellion" was taken by Senator Money, of Mississippi, and after a spirited debate he won his point, so that hereafter the expression "Civil War" will be used in referring to the sanguinary conflict that raged between 1861 and 1865. While the senate was busy in the passage of the general pension bill, the house this week established a record in the number of private pension bills passed within a given time. In the space of 95 minutes the house passed on 628 of these private pension bills, or an average of nearly 7 bills per minute. This record never was approached before. There is a decidedly strong possibility that Senator Smoot, of Utah, will not be ousted from the United States senate. From present indications the chances are favorable for a vote permitting him to retain his seat. His fellow members have temporized with this question for many months, fearing to champion his cause and being equally loath to vote against him. Driven into a corner now, however, a number of senators who hitherto have kept their hands off are coming out boldly into the open and declaring his right to retain his official toga. Senator Hopkins this week made a powerful speech in defense of Mr. Smoot, in which he questioned the right of the senate to pass upon the Utah member's case. He declared that senators are not federal officials to the extent that the senate can pass upon their qualifications or can impeach them for high crimes and misdemeanors. He cited as a precedent the case of Senator Blount, of Tennessee, charged with treasonable correspondence with a foreign nation more than one hundred years ago. The conclusion reached at that time was that the senate had no right to try the case, but that it came within the jurisdiction of the federal courts. This decision never has been reversed. From a constitutional standpoint Mr. Hopkins' argument was powerful, and there is no doubt that many senators who secretly have sympathized with Mr. Smoot will take shelter behind this phase of the general law and vote against his expulsion. The storm center at the capitol this week has been the room of the committee on rivers and harbors. Delegations from Chicago and St. Louis, reinforced by the congressional delegations from Illinois and Missouri, have stormed the stronghold of Chairman Burton in an effort to secure recognition for the "Lakes-to-the-Gulf" deep water way. The Pennsylvania delegation in the house held a caucus during the week at which resolutions by Representative Acheson were adopted denouncing the niggardly policy of congress towards waterways in general and urging the importance of a survey for deepening the channel of the Delaware river to 35 feet. Representatives from practically every quarter of the country also have appeared before the committee to press general schemes for particular improvements. This activity has impressed congress with the remarkable interest being developed in the general plan for waterways development throughout the United States. For the purpose of centralizing and making more effective this growing interest, the National Rivers and Harbors congress, through its secretary, J. F. Ellison, of Cincinnati, has issued a general call to the entire country to join it in pressing the claims of commerce before the administration. Copies of this call have been received by members of congress and it is expected that the response will be widespread and complete. The National Rivers and Harbors congress at the present time has a membership extending over 32 states and the territories, but it is hoping to double this membership within the next year. The list of membership fees as shown in the official call is remarkably moderate, and for that reason the response is expected to be prompt.

Although there is not the slightest anticipation of trouble with Japan, the recent flurry on the Pacific coast has had the effect of making the navy department change its plans materially, so far as the distribution of the nation's war vessels is concerned. Although the naval general board denies that it entertains at present any intention of disturbing the plans made several months ago for maneuvers in West Indian water, it is credibly reported that as soon as the big fleet now under command of Rear Admiral Evans reaches northern waters for minor repairs, a number of vessels of the heavy armored class will be sent around the Horn and stationed in Pacific waters along the United States coast. At the same time, congress has under consideration a bill for the creation of a fleet of fifteen submarines vessels to be stationed in Pacific coast ports. If this bill becomes law and the big war vessels follow out the program outlined, the Pacific coast will be fairly well protected in case of attack.

BAKER COUNTY MURDER

Baker City, Jan. 18.—The Herald says the county of Baker will spend a small fortune in the trial of Alex. Widdowson and Ira J. Brown upon the charge of murdering Willard Moody. It is evident from the list of witnesses that have been subpoenaed by state and defense in the case that comes up for trial on Monday morning. No less than 37 witnesses have been subpoenaed for the state alone, while those wanted for the defense of Widdowson and Brown, make a total of 75 witnesses who will give evidence in the case.

Based upon the number of witnesses called, the expense of the case through each day of the trial cannot be, it is estimated, less than $175. There will be days, however, when the cost will run much higher than that sum.

Each of the 75 witnesses will receive $2.00 per day for his services while in attendance upon court. This in itself will cost the county about $150 per day, while a jury each day of the trial will add $24 to that sum, and two bailiffs necessary, each of whom receives $3.00 per day, will bring the daily cost, exclusive of the judge's salary, which goes on just the same, to $180.

Judge Smith estimates that the trial of Widdowson alone cannot be completed in less than five days, and the attorneys are doubtful if the case can be tried in a week. The Brown case will occupy from three to five days' time.

One the first day of each trial the costs will run heavy. There will be great difficulty in securing jurors who have not heard of the case or discussed it, and it is estimated that no less than 50 jurors will be examined before the final panel of 12 men will be completed. This means about $100 for jurors on the first day of each trial.

Mileage Will Be Heavy. The cost of mileage for the witnesses is bound to be heavy. Of the

Perfect Womanhood

The greatest menace to woman's permanent happiness in life is the suffering that comes from some derangement of the feminine organs. Many thousands of women have realized this too late to save their health, barely in time to save their lives.

To be a successful wife, to retain the love and admiration of her husband, should be a woman's constant study. If a woman finds that her energies are flagging, that she gets easily tired, dark shadows appear under her eyes, she has backache, headache, bearing-down sensations, nervousness, irregularities or the "blues," she should start at once to build up her system by a tonic with specific powers, such as the great woman's remedy for woman's ills, made only of roots and herbs. It cures Female Complaints, such as Dragging Sensations, Weak Back, Falling and Displacements, Inflammation and Ulceration, and all Organic Diseases, and is invaluable in the Change of Life. It dissolves and Expels Tumors at an early stage. Subdues Painfulness, Nervous Prostration, Exhaustion, and strengthens and tones the Stomach. Cures Headache, General Debility, Indigestion, and invigorates the whole female system. It is an excellent remedy for derangements of the Kidneys in either sex.

75 witnesses called almost all live in the Panhandle country. It is estimated that each witness will travel at least 60 miles to be present at the trial. Those few who live in or near Baker City are more than made up for by those who are living at Homestead, on the Snake river, or in Idaho. Each witness receives 10 cents per mile traveled in coming and going, and an estimate of $12 for each of the 75 witnesses as mileage costs, is not considered excessive. At this rate the mileage amounts to $900.

Miners' Union Official Charged.

Terre Haute, Ind., Jan. 18.—William Stinson, vice-president of the United Mine Workers, was brought up here today charged with misappropriating the union's funds to a considerable extent. He was arrested in Mount Vernon, N. Y., and extradited by Governor Hughes. Stinson is preparing his defense and states that the charges against him are all a misunderstanding and can be explained satisfactorily.
