RAISED SEED WHEAT.

Governor Chamberlain Successful in Getting Wheat for Destitute Chinese Farmers.

Governor Chamberlain, at the request of the National Society of the Red Cross, undertook to raise in Oregon 5000 bushels of seed wheat, to be used by the farmers in the famine districts of China, and this morning got a letter from Theodore B.
Wilcox, showing that his efforts had been entirely successful. The wheat was contributed as follows:

Balfour, Guthrie & Co., 500 bushels.

Kerr, Gifford & Co., 500 bushels.
Northwestern Warehouse Co., 500 bushels.

T. B. Wilcox, 1000 bushels.
J. C. Atsaworth and W. D. Wheelwright contributed and collected 2500 bushels.

The wheat will be held subject to the orders of the Red Cross Society, at Washington, D. C.

Running Risks

Despite the prevalence of robbery, a few continue to keep money about their homes.

In thus doing, they not only risk the loss of money, but also their lives. How much safer and better it would be if these people were to bring their money to the bank.
Are you running any such risks?

body are the professional lobbyists and their existence there ought to be made impossible, they should be driven out of the legislative halls as were the money changers from the temple, and the first steps in this direction is the enactment of a statute making it a felony to appear here for any purpose connected with pending legislation.

It is reported that another attempt will be made to get a bill through for a smaller appropriation. When it appears look out for the smiling

TAXPAYER.

One of the Plain Clothes Men.

Editor Journal:—As I fail of late years to see or talk with you, I read of you in The Capital Journal very gratifying to my views as a poor and observer of the good and the bad legislation that we have had these many years. My eyes have been opened every time I went to pay my taxes, and I haven't failed of getting my tax receipt in forty-three years and as near as I can figure that would be about $860.
A very small sum in comparison to the most of home builders of Marion county. It pleases me so much your open views of open rivers and harbors that it makes me feel that you really are a brother to all men rich or poor for in your broad views of bettering the conditions of the producers, the consumers are as well benefitted, in fact, everybody then gets a rake off and no body hurt. Its not like new state institutions, high salaried commissioners, Alex. La Follette is a true farmer. I remember well when in his first election to the Oregon legislature he made a grand effort to save these locks to the people of this Willamette valley.

He fought as hard as man could well fight with overwhelming opposition from one end of the river to the other. At that time the locks could have been saved to the people of the Willamette valley, and perhaps too, the $400,000 school land money that the children of Oregon have been robbed of. My views coincide with yours exactly. This country, Oregon I mean, is much better leaving out—well I will call it grafts, to be modest, than where I first found it and I am pleased to see you and others in the progressive army of building up instead of pulling down your brothers with the good work. There is more men of plain clothes behind you than you are aware of, but you must stick to the toe path which is the base line from the Columbia to the Siakye. Like the Liberty road, the people have made a boulevard where for miles men can walk and not muddy the uppers of their shoes.
Its easy to see what can be accomplished when men have true leaders, this is shown even in church work, in the army and in fact everywhere in life.

I will not praise you in your work to build up all Oregon. I will let you work that out hoping that will be satisfying enough for you. I would be glad that more of our leading men were not so reserved and would speak out in meeting and not wait till after election. Go right on Brother Hofer you are "on the road to Mandelay" and will get there on both feet some day.

Yours very truly

UNCLE JIM.

FEEBLE MINDED INSTITUTE

Committee Oppose $165,000 Appropriation—Gets Asylum
More Money

(Salem Special to Eugene Register.)

The ways and means committee wrestled with a big delegation yesterday afternoon that appeared before it supporting the proposed new institution for the feeble minded.
The delegation desired an appropriation of $165,000 for a site and building, and assured the committee that a considerable saving would be made the state through the patients of this class being taken from the penitentiary, insane asylum and reform school.

The committee threshed out the question rather carefully and discovered that this appropriation was only the start, that a large corps of attendants and physicians would have to be employed, and that the needs of the institution would probably require large appropriations every session indefinitely.

The committee did not return a definite answer to the delegation, but it will not favor the proposal.
The committee, since its visit to the insane asylum, has been impressed with the urgent need of more room for the patients and for those who will probably come in the future, and probably as great an appropriation will be needed for this purpose as is asked for the feeble minded institute. The committee will support a measure providing the $150,000 or so, asked by the management of the asylum, and will turn down the request for the feeble minded site and building fund.

The judicial committee held a short session and decided to report favorably on the Freeman bill, providing for compulsory passes for state and county officers. The measure has some unfortunate provisions, according to the same members who have investigated it, but it has some provisions that are endorsed by the majority of the house, and these features will probably carry the bill. What is especially indorsed is that section of the bill which makes it compulsory for the railroads of Oregon to carry state officials free, and cutting off all mileage graft. It is an open secret that for years the state officials have collected on an average of about $1,- 800 each for mileage per annum and have travelled on passes given by the Harriman lines, thus adding a clear profit of $1,800 to their salary. Present appropriation bills in the house provide for the same travelling expenses, but if the Freeman law passes these appropriations will not be available to the state officials even if the bills are passed for it will be illegal for any official to collect mileage under the new dispensation.

RAILROAD BILL IS A COMPROMISE

After another long hearing the committee on railroads of the house and senate concluded its examination of the different bills and concluded to report the Chapin bill with some minor amendments. The important change made in the bill is that, while the governor is to appoint the commission as soon as the law goes in to effect, at the first state election two members thereof are to be chosen by the people, and at the next election the third member is to be chosen. At no election are more than two members to be elected, and two of the members are always to belong to one party. The bill will be reported at the Friday morning session and the amendment as to the composition of the commission is considered a victory for the corporations. Representative Jones was satisfied with the bill, and will not bring in a minority report.

The Capital Journal's report that the committees had agreed to the governor appointing the commission, as published Wednesday, was premature, but was the sense of the committee, while they had taken no formal action. The committee meets again at 4 o'clock.

ELECTION SENATORS BY PEOPLE

tee on elections and privileges on senate bill 112, Bailey, to amend that part of the primary law relating to the election of senators by eliminating "statement Nos. 1 and 2," leaving the member of the legislature free to vote the choice of his party.
The majority of the committee recommended that the bill do pass. Senator M. A. Miller brought in a minority report that the bill do not pass.
A motion was made to substitute the minority for the majority report.

Senator Bailey was the first speaker. He attacked the primary law, and said it was unjust, unfair and not right. Smith of Umatilla said the people of the state, and especially the Republicans, had clamored for the election of senators by direct vote for 30 years, and now they had the right. He wished to sustain the election law.

Beach said he did not believe in voting for individuals, but for party.
Senator Bingham said there was something hidden in bills 112 and 113 that was not clear to all the senators, but that he swallowed statement No. 1, hook, line and sinker and he was glad of it. Had John M.
Garin been elected by the people, he would have voted for him. Turning to the Republicans, he said: "I warn you now that you are making a mistake. You are furnishing campaign material for the Democrats, and they will not be slow to use it. I think it my duty, as a Republican, and as a citizen, to stand by this primary law."

Senator Booth said that, while he was in favor of the direct primary law, he favored the majority report, and thought the people did not understand statement No. 1 when they signed it. He said that had Garin been elected by the people there might have been a different interpretation made on the meaning of the statement.

Senator Milt Miller asked the senator to repeat that sentence. He did, and virtually admitted that had Garin been elected last June some of the Republicans would have violated statement No. 1.

Dr. Smith of Umatilla asked the senator if he believed in a government by the people or by the party.
Booth replied that he believed in government by the people, through representatives.

Dr. Smith of Marion said he knew the people did not want statement No. 1 to stand, and they did not know what it meant.
Senator Bingham said he could not speak for the majority of the Republican senators, but, for one, he knew exactly what he was signing when he subscribed to statement No. 1.

The vote on the substitution of the minority report follows: Ayes—Bingham, Coldwell, Co-show, Hedges, Miller of Minn, Mult, Notttingham, Smith of Umatilla, Haynes.

Noes—Bailey, Beach, Booth, Cole, Coke, Hart, Johnson, Kay, Loughery, Laycock, McDaniel, Miller of Linn and Marion, Scofield, Sichel, Smith of Marion, and Wheelodon.

The question will come up in regular order and will doubtless evoke a spirited fight.
