Levees Cut to Pieces. Sacramento, Cal., Feb. 8.—A break in the Yolo side of the levee, three miles below here, at 6 o'clock this morning, 150 feet wide, is doing great damage. Thousands of acres of orchard and pasture land are already under water, and the streets of Broderick are inundated. The river is high, and the break cannot be stopped before the end of next week. The damage will amount to half a million. It is thought the levee was cut by people who want to get hold of land cheap.

COMBINE FINALLY FAILS

(Continued from page one.) to carry out the wishes of the people and had only favored two schools but he feared that the best that could be done was to compromise and have three.

At this juncture the entire normal school system came very nearly being killed. Senator Coke moved to amend by striking out all in the bill except the first section and inserting an enacting clause. This was lost by a vote of 11 to 15.

Senator Johnson moved to amend by allowing the board to select two or more schools. Senator Smith, of Marion, warned the senate that if appropriations were made for more than two schools we would not have any for the people would vote the appropriation down and he said that the ways and means committee would so segregate the appropriation bills that this can be done.

President Haynes moved that the committee arise and report unfavorably on the bill. This aroused a general protest and the discussion went on. The amendments were voted on and lost.

Then Senator Bailey moved to amend so as to leave the location of the two schools to the board of regents. This was adopted by a vote of 13 to 11.

It was then decided almost unanimously that the committee rise and report the bill as amended, favorably. This was done and the bill was placed on its final passage. Senator Bingham explained why he voted against Senator Miller's bill. He said he did not fully understand it and liked this measure best. He said this bill would pass. He said it was a disgrace to the state to have an educational lobby such as we have been seeing and it had got so that the word normal means job.

Senator Haynes explained his vote of aye as he said he did not believe the measure would pass the house and he still favored a compromise on three schools. The vote on the bill follows:—Ayes—Bailey, Beach, Bingham, Booth, Caldwell, Col., Coshaw, Hart, Hedges, Johnson, Kay, Laycock, Malarky, McDonald, Miller of Linn, Miller of Linn and Marion, Mullit, Nottingham, Sichel, Smith of Marion, Wright and Mr. President.

JEROME ATTACKS EVELYN

(Continued from page one.) her, and refute her testimony that he didn't abuse her in Europe. New York Captures Delmas. Delmas and McPike, Thaw's attorneys, announce that they will not return to San Francisco after the trial. They have leased offices in this city. Delmas' fee is said to be the largest ever paid in a criminal case in this state. The court has adjourned until 2 o'clock.

White Pursues Evelyn. Delmas asked Evelyn: "Did you at any time tell Thaw about the episode relating to White from the time of your arrival in New York, in November, 1903, until Christmas next?"

"He asked me why I had spoken to White again. I told him I was driving in the park, and saw White, who said: 'O, Evelyn,' with a surprised look on his face. The next day I received a telephone message from White, asking to see me. I told him I would not see him. He answered that it was a matter of life and death. He came to the Hotel Savoy, and tried to kiss me. I would not let him."

Dictated Her Confession. "He said Thaw was very bad, and that he had a case pending against Thaw, but the woman in the case was no good. Probably the case was no good. He showed me a woman's signature. He said that Thaw must be kept out of New York, even if he had to resort to strong methods. He called another man into the room and dictated to him. I was very nervous. Hummel told me not to interrupt him. He started off dictating by saying, 'I had been carried off to Europe by Thaw against my will.' I tried to stop him, but he shook his head."

"White spoke about Harry," continued Evelyn. "He said a great many actresses told him I was abroad with Thaw. He said Thaw was a morphine fiend. I told him I did not believe it. He insisted that Thaw took morphine. White said Thaw was a very bad man, and I should have nothing to do with him. After that he came to see me constantly. White made arrangements with me to see Abraham Hummel, to protect me from Thaw."

Told Her Thaw Was Bad. "White said Hummel was the slickest lawyer in New York, but that I must not be frightened at him, because he was a damned fool, with a large head and warts all over his face. I went to Hummel's office. White took me. Met Hummel. We talked about Harry Thaw. I told him of the trip abroad and the difficulties of my mother with Thaw. He asked me where I had been with Thaw. Hummel said I was a minor, and that fact made it very bad for Thaw. He told me many things about Thaw."

Advised to Sue Thaw. "He went on and said I had been kept away from my mother and ill-treated, which was not true. Hummel asked me if I had any letters from Thaw. I told him I had. I took them to Hummel. He said he would hold these letters over Thaw's head. He put the letters in a private safe. I saw Hummel again. He asked me why I did not sue Thaw for breach of promise. I told him it would be absurd. Hummel said that there was lots of money in it, and the advertising would be good for me."

Looked Like Blackmail. "I told him I didn't want that kind of advertising. He said lots of actresses did, but that it was nothing serious. He said an English duke had been sued by an actress."

Delmas intervened: Did Thaw ask you if you had signed any papers? "Yes, I told him I had not been asked to sign papers, and had not signed any. Thaw then said Hummel was a blackmailer, a shyster lawyer. Relating further meeting with Thaw, witness said: "Thaw said I should not speak to Stanford White. He said I was accused of improper relations with him. I said that's a lie. Thaw said people would think I was a blackmailer, because I went to Hummel's office. Thaw said it looked like blackmail to him."

Hummel Got Her Signature. "When did you see White again?" the attorney inquired. "One night he came rushing into my apartments at the Hotel Navarre, excited. He sat on a trunk and asked me: 'What did you tell Hummel about me?' I told him I had told Hummel nothing. White said something must be wrong. He said Hummel has just squeezed a thousand dollars out of me. There is no telling when he will squeeze another. Evelyn said Thaw again asked her if she had signed any papers for Hummel. She replied that she had not. Did recall signing a paper in Madison Square garden tower for White. Said she called White on the telephone and asked him about it. White put her off she said. He finally arranged that she see Hummel again. Witness said she was shown a paper with her signature on it, but the signature was all she could see."

PROFESSOR HAWLEY GOES EAST

What He Will Undertake to Accomplish in Congress

Congressman W. C. Hawley left this morning for Portland en route for Washington, D. C. A large crowd of students were at the depot to say goodbye and show their love and esteem for the man who has so long labored in the interests of "Old Willamette."

The congressman-elect has spent the past month getting into the harness for the work he has laid out for himself, having put in a great deal of the time meeting members of the legislature from different parts of his district, and learning from them what the people are most desirous of having accomplished.

Interview With Mr. Hawley. "I shall go to Washington direct," said the congressman-elect, and be on hand if there is a special session of congress. If not, I shall spend some time looking after public business that has already piled up in my hands, and which can be expedited through the departments. I shall do all in my power to secure free locks and an open Willamette. I regard that as the greatest need of Western Oregon. We want it with state aid if we can get, and without state aid if necessary. I believe the Jones bill will help us greatly in securing an appropriation for purchase by the federal government."

"I shall also work hard for the opening of the Coos Bay country and other harbors of the Pacific coast in Oregon. I consider the development of the Columbia river as merely the extension of the Willamette, in which we are equally interested with Eastern Oregon."

Some Special Interests. "I shall make special efforts to compel the railroads to fulfill their agreements and sell their land grants to the people at the prices fixed in the terms of the grant. I hope to go into the original documents at Washington and prove what those terms are and secure their ratification at the hands of the corporations. There are a large number of claims and patents withheld from settlers who have complied with the law that I shall try to secure titles for. I have already obtained issue of patents in some cases that had been held up for years. I shall support that bill providing better compensation for the rural mail carriers, increased pay for the railway mail clerks, and an increase in their numbers, as now there now are not enough men to work the mails on the trains and the pouches are carried back and forth without being distributed. I shall also support a uniform service pension bill, and, with all the work laid out for myself, I shall be kept quite busy. But I want to do my best of carry out the program with which the people have entrusted me, realizing the best a new member can do will be a disappointment."

Senate—Morning Session. On the opening of the senate this morning the committee on railroads reported Senator Hedges' S. B. No. 30, forbidding officials from accepting passes from railroads. It recommended that the bill pass with an amendment which makes it compulsory on railroads to furnish free transportation to all state officials. After filibustering for an hour, the amendment was accepted on a vote of 15 to 14.

The senate then took up the second reading of senate bills. S. B. 182, Hodson, declaring the Associated Press a common carrier, was referred to the committee on judiciary. Several other bills were read and referred to committees. It was decided that when the senate adjourns this afternoon, the adjournment shall be until Monday at 2 o'clock.

Under a suspension of the rules, the bill amending the charter of Pacific University was placed on its final passage and enacted. The senate then took up the third reading of bills. The following bills were disposed of: S. B. 44, Bingham, to condemn property for county roads. S. B. 18, Beach, providing for the use of voting machines. Enacted.
