

COLLEGE STUDENT BURGLAR

Had an Irresistible Desire To Rob.

March 5.—A youth of 20, whose name is Richard O. Hoopes, son of Ira G. Hoopes, a lawyer of Kokomo, Indiana, was charged with burglary of the homes of millionaires, including the Chatfield Taylors. The boy was arrested weeks ago when dismissed from his scholarship student at the University, was a member of the Sigma Phi Sigma fraternity and lived at the fraternity from which the police recovered his trunk, holding nearly 500 pieces of fine jewelry. The police estimated the value of the property at $10,000. The prisoner says he was compelled by an impulse to rob the homes. He said the impulse was irresistible and came upon him after he had entered the Taylor home by sawing a panel from the door. He did not know the names of the other houses. The police claim he confessed to the robbing.

New York, March 5.—Not one of the multi-millionaire directors of the New York Central railroad obeyed the order of the coroner to appear before him today in connection with the investigation of the wreck of the White Plains special, February 16th, in which 16 were killed. The coroner this afternoon intimated that he would have warrants sworn out against the men he declares responsible. At any rate he will ask the grand jury to take evidence and indict the magnates. The coroner charges criminal negligence.

CLOSING ASYLUM DOORS

Thaw Cannot Be Railroaded Into Insanity

He is Protected at Several Points On the Road to Mattewan

Delmas Scores on Jerome.

Jerome and Wagner argued as to the logical sequence of an insane person's actions. Wagner said it was impossible to lay down a rule as to whether it was generally local or otherwise. Jerome asked if Thaw suffered from paranoic form of adolescent insanity, as Eyns described it.

"I do not know. I cannot read Evans," said Wagner.

"Neither can I," said Jerome, "although I tried three days."

"Did you notice any signs of logorrhea?" added the prosecutor.

"Yes, he talked freely, and his flow of words was frequently abnormal."

The testimony developed that Thaw did not have paresis. The picturesqueness of the examination as to hallucinations and delusions of sense was well lost sight of in a jumble of technicalities. At noon Delmas scored over Jerome, securing the court's decision sustaining defense's objections to Wagner repeating conversations with Thaw in jail. Another of Jerome's gates to Mattewan insane asylum was apparently closed by the statement that Thaw did not have epilepsy.

Dr. Wagner was recalled on the Thaw trial this morning. Jerome continued the examination of Wagner along the lines indicating the prosecutor intends to prove that the killing of White was deliberate. Wagner persisted that outward appearance was no indication of mental condition.

"Is it usual in brain storms for the subject to display no agitation in approaching the person he intends to harm?" asked Jerome.

Wagner said no rule could be laid down. He could cite no instance where a person in a brain storm walked calmly toward his victim.

Jerome asked Wagner several times if anything in Thaw's action on the night of the tragedy indicated epilepsy. Wagner refused a direct answer until Jerome said:

"You know what I mean, and you are ducking."

He finally said: "No." The court then took a recess.

THE EDDY LAWSUIT.

Being Skillfully Managed by Able Men Who Seek to Drag Mrs. Eddy Into Court.

Concord, N. H., March 5.—Lawyers on both sides of the Eddy controversy conferred today. Stroter refused to accept service for all the defendants named. Petitioner's attorney said if he persists he will serve Mrs. Eddy personally, and compel her to appear in court. The laws of New Hampshire permit this. It is only necessary to leave papers at the front door.

Glover Not Bought Off.

Deadwood, S. D., March 5.—Regarding the report that Mrs. Eddy, in an effort to stop Glover's suit, has sent Rev. I. C. Tomlinson with an offer of $250,000 if he will stop the suit and make no objection to any will his mother may make, Mr. Glover says:

"I have received no such offer, and would not consider such an offer if it were made."

Have Not Yet Served Papers.

Concord, N. H., March 5.—John W. Kelly, of Portsmouth, one of the counsel for the relatives of Mrs. Mary Baker G. Eddy, who brought suit in her behalf against leading members of the Christian Science church last week, was in consultation here with his colleague, ex-Mayor Nathaniel E. Martin. After their conference they said they had received no communication from General F. A. Stroeter, personal counsel for Mrs. Eddy, although they had some expectation apparently of hearing from him in connection with the service of the papers in the suit. They added they expect to call on Mr. Stroeter and learn from him whether or not he will accept service for the defendants as their legal representative. In case he refuses, they said, they will proceed at once to make service upon the individual defendants. The defendants will then have 30 days in which to reply to the allegations contained in the bill in equity.

General Stroeter declined to say whether or not he will accept service for the defendants, but announced that he would be ready tomorrow to receive a visit from the counsel for the plaintiff.

RUSSIAN PARLIAMENT CONVENED

Capable of Government as the Salem City Council.

St. Petersburg, March 5.—Stormy scenes attended the opening of the duma this morning, and indicate that the body will have a stormy future. Troops barricaded the public from the palace. Great crowds of workmen gathered about the deputies' entrance, and greeted favorites with wild enthusiasm. The troops rode down the crowds and scores were injured.

The government has decided within four years to have a squadron including two battleships of 21,000 tons each, and a speed of 21 knots, and ten 12-inch guns each in the Far East. Naval officials recommend that they build the ships in the United States. The duma was formally opened at noon. Golvin was chosen president.

The czar's proclamation calling the duma was read. It was cheered by a hundred members, while about three hundred sat silent.

Only a Suggestion.

If the railroad commission would command the respect of the business men and shippers of the state, it should select for a secretary a competent and experienced railroad man, trained up in the practical side of the freight and rate business, and who understands the details of rate sheets and traffic business from both sides. Any attempt to fill that place to favor some locality or to reward some one from a political standpoint will tend to bring the commission and its work into contempt.

ANOTHER INSURANCE ORDINANCE

Is Being Prepared and Will Be Introduced at Next Session.

Alderman Radcliff is preparing another insurance license ordinance, and says he will have the same ready to introduce at the next session of the city council. It will make a lower rate for the plate glass, accident and surety companies, but the figure will remain at $50 per year in the case of fire companies. He says the mayor and all those opposed to the former ordinance admit the insurance companies should pay a higher rate, and he says he will give them an opportunity to make good their words. The business men generally favor raising more revenue by indirect taxes of all kinds.

One of the prominent business men of the city council said he was willing to stay with the attempt to get this tax established. He was aware that it subjected him to criticism in certain quarters, but that was always the case when an effort was made to tax those who paid little. One of the insurance men was seen this morning, and said he believed the insurance companies would carry the ordinance into the courts if it was enacted.

WANTS RATES RAISED

Falls City and Dallas Line Makes Appeal to Railroad Commission

The Falls City & Dallas railroad has made formal application to the railroad commission for a general raise in rates on logs and lumber of about 25 per cent.

On fir logs from all points to Dallas the increase asked is $1.00 to $1.25 per thousand. All points to Newberg $2.00 to $2.25. On rough lumber at $1.00 per thousand; sized, 90 cents, and kiln dried, 75 cents, all to be raised to $1.00 per thousand. Single carloads to be raised from $8 to $9, and twin loads from $16.50 to $18. It is understood this raise was made January 1st, and the commission is asked to legalize the same.

SEARS-DUNBAR CASE.

Defendant Files a Motion to Gain Time.

The summons served on ex-Secretary of State Dunbar to appear before County Clerk Allen and answer by deposition, was met with an answer.

The answer is in the form of a motion, protesting at an examination in the manner proposed. He also claims that notice to take depositions was served upon his attorneys, as required by statute, and that the complaint does not state facts sufficient to constitute a cause of suit. Clerk Allen refused to pass on this, and put it up to the court, Judge Galway holding court tomorrow.

Guardian appointed.

County Judge Scott yesterday appointed Dr. J. N. Smith guardian of the person and estate of Lois A. Jory, a minor child, the appointment being made of the little girl's father, E. H. Jory. The minor's estate is valued at about $400, and her guardian furnished a bond in double that amount, which was approved by the court.

A good test of a public official is how he keeps up his own home, his sidewalks and streets.
