

The Great Restorative Non-Alcoholic TONIC

of the day, made entirely of native medicinal roots and without a drop of alcohol in its composition, is known as
DR. PIERCE'S GOLDEN MEDICAL DISCOVERY.

There are no secrets about its composition--all its ingredients being printed on the bottle-wrappers.

The "Golden Medical Discovery" not only builds up the strength of the feeble, debilitated, languid, nervous and easily fatigued, whether young or aged, but it enriches and purifies the blood, thus making the improvement lasting.

It corrects and overcomes indigestion, dyspepsia, biliousness, torpid liver, chronic diarrhea and other derangements of the stomach, liver and bowels.

Bronchial, throat and laryngeal affections, attended with hoarseness, persistent cough, and all manner of pulmonary affections are cured by the "Golden Medical Discovery."

In Chronic Nasal Catarrh, it is used to cleanse the nasal passages freely with Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy fluid while taking the "Golden Medical Discovery" as a constitutional treatment. Old obstinate cases of catarrh yield to this thorough course of treatment.

Through enriching and purifying the blood, the "Discovery" cures various affections, also blotches, pimples, eruptions, and other ugly affections of the skin. Old, open, running sores, or ulcers, are healed by taking the "Golden Medical Discovery" internally and applying Dr. Pierce's All-Healing Salve as a local dressing. The Salve can be had of druggists, or will be sent by return mail on receipt of 50 cents in stamps. Address Doctor Pierce as below for it.

In short "Golden Medical Discovery" regulates, purifies and invigorates the whole system and thus cures a very large range of diseases. The reason why it cures such a varied list of diseases is made clear in a little booklet of extracts from the leading medical authorities, compiled by Dr. R. V. Pierce, of Buffalo, N. Y., and which he will be pleased to send post-paid and entirely free to any who send him their names and addresses.

You can't afford to accept a substitute of unknown composition for this non-secret MEDICINE OF KNOWN COMPOSITION.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets cure constipation. Constipation is the cause of many diseases. Cure the cause and you cure the disease. One "Pellet" is a gentle laxative, and two a mild cathartic. Druggists sell them, and nothing is "just as good." They are the original Little Liver Pills first put up by old Dr. Pierce over 40 years ago. Much imitated, but never equalled. They are tiny sugar-coated granules—easy to take as candy.

Dr. Pierce's Medical Adviser (1000 pages) is sent free on receipt of 21 one-cent stamps (to cover cost of mailing) for paper-covered, or 31 stamps for cloth-bound copy. Address Dr. Pierce as above.

Oregon, on the witness stand in his own defense. For almost half a century this rugged, earnest and honest old man has been identified with the development of Oregon. For almost 30 years he has been a prominent figure in the political arena of the state, and during that time has formed a personal acquaintance with almost every man of political consequence, from Curry county to Malheur, from the Snake river to the mouth of the Columbia, and of all these, who have known him intimately for years, not one could be found who would not vouch for his plain and rugged honesty. His traducers have for the most part been self convicted violators of the law. In his private life Mr. Hermann has been clean. No taint of shame nor breath of scandal has ever touched him during the two score of years in which he has been before the people of Oregon in an official capacity. Thousands of old timers are indebted to him for aid extended when it could be secured from no other source. And none, however humble ever applied to him in vain. No letter, however obscure its writer, ever failed a reply. How often he burned the midnight oil poring over problems of no consequence to himself, but of vital interest to the applicants for his aid, and he made it a rule to reply personally to every letter addressed to him. How pathetic the picture of this old man, whose locks have grown grey in the service of his friends, and whose honesty and virtue have never been questioned by those who know him best, defending himself against the aspersions of such people as Puter, et al Mr. Hermann has loyal friends on the thousand hills and in every vale throughout the state of Oregon who have the utmost faith in his innocence and confidence in his assurance of acquittal."

Double Pointed Pin.

"A pin with two points!" exclaimed the incredulous lady companion. "That must be a novelty, and I don't see the utility."

A smile on the face of the elderly lady who had made the remark caused her to reflect on some quizzical interpretation of the statement.

"I suppose it is one of your quaint observations," she said resignedly, "but I don't observe your point—the second point, I mean, for that one exists in your imagination only, I fear! What is it?"

"That hat pin offers scope for artistic arrangement of itself," returned the elderly lady, "but there are a good many people who do not realize it. They permit the pin to stick a long way out on the other side of the small crown of the hat, not noticing that such an arrangement is not only inelegant but also dangerous. They let everybody see the point of that pin, but they fail to see the artistic point of the whole thing, and that is why I should like to draw their attention to it by a remark that seemed astounding to you."

"The other day I saw a lady with two extremely long pins in her hat. She had tried to do something to make them appear less ugly; she had stuck them into hat is reverse directions, so there were a knob and a point on each side. Now, a shorter pin would have secured the headgear just as well, and she would have been able to keep both points hidden."

"The other day I saw that a gentleman had complained that while in the theater he had had a hat pin stuck into his back by a lady behind him; she had taken off her hat and fastened it to the back of his seat by a long pin, which did its work too well. Has it ever occurred to the wearers of the pins that they may receive a very serious injury themselves from their own pins, even while stuck in the hat?"

"I imagine that a lady fancies that she feels something near the back of her head. She hastily and without thinking jerks one hand upwards to her hat. The protruding point scratches it and tears open the flesh. Blood poisoning has resulted from such a small happening on more than one occasion!"

"Quite true!" assented the companion.

"It would not be altogether impossible for another person to be severely scratched in the face by that protruding point. I have seen a lady drop something, and both she and a gallant gentleman have stooped to pick it up, with the result that the gentleman has struck his face against the hat, owing to the lady herself having been the quicker to stoop. The point of a pin would mark his face for life, and perhaps injure his eye."

"Yes, my dear, that is the point, invisible to many, which I wish you to observe!"

Just Because

Your cough is only in the throat and does not trouble you now, don't think that it needs no attention. When it has not had much of a start is the time to check it. The slightest cough easily leads to Pneumonia, Bronchitis and Consumption. A bottle of Ballard's Horehound Syrup will cure that cough. The price puts it within reach of all. Sold by D. J. Fry.

When You Are Being Introduced.

"When a lady is being presented to an older woman, she should rise, but keeps her seat when a younger woman or man is presented to her. A hostess, however, always rises and offers her hand to all her guests. Upon receiving an introduction, it is not necessary to say anything at all, such as 'how do you do,' please to meet you,' etc. A woman may smile and bow her acknowledgment, unless she wishes to show special friendliness, when she extends her hand. Men usually shake hands with each other. It is a mistake to embarrass a lady by leading her about a room

Most people know that if they have been sick they need Scott's Emulsion to bring back health and strength.

But the strongest point about Scott's Emulsion is that you don't have to be sick to get results from it.

It keeps up the athlete's strength, puts fat on thin people, makes a fretful baby happy, brings color to a pale girl's cheeks, and prevents coughs, colds and consumption.

Food in concentrated form for sick and well, young and old, rich and poor.

And it contains no drugs and no alcohol.

and presenting her thus to a roomful of people. If there be a small group of people, the hostess then may say, after greeting her, 'Miss Black, let me present Miss Brown, Miss Elsie Brown, Captain White and Dr. Green. Men should always be taken to a lady to be introduced. In her own home a hostess may introduce as she pleases, everyone to everyone else, but it is always well to remember at other places, such as large balls, receptions or other indiscriminate gatherings of any kind, that we must consult the wishes of others before giving introductions. As the introducer is always responsible for the person presented, much care should be taken in this respect, and the possibility of thrusting upon another an unwelcome acquaintance, avoided. A lady's permission must always be asked before introducing to her a man who wishes to make her acquaintance. Of course there are exceptions to all rules and at small, informal dances among young people who know each other well girls and boys freely introduce their friends without asking permission."

Pills and Piles.

A prolific cause of Piles is the use of cathartics and pills of a drastic-violent nature, always followed by a reaction on account of the retentive, drying properties they contain.

There are other causes, but no matter what the cause or what the kind of Piles, Dr. Leonhardt's Hem-Roid can be relied upon to cure—to stay cured.

It's an internal remedy that removes the causes of Itching, Bleed, Bleeding or Suppurating Piles.

Society Women in Mining Town.

You'd be astonished at the number of fashionable women in Goldfield," said one recently returned from the Nevada town to a reporter of the New York Press. "Easterners think of the place only as a mining camp, but it's no more like the traditional camp than New York is like Tombstone, Ariz. In the first place, almost everybody there seems to be wealthy. There are 15,000 inhabitants, and it's safe to say a large proportion of them are rich, though the great majority went there poor. Many of the men who have made money have taken their wives, daughters, mothers, sisters, cousins and aunts to the town, and Goldfield means a bright society all its own. Fashionable affairs are of daily routine, everything from an afternoon tea to a dinner dance being popular. They had a garden there a few months ago. One thing is noticeable in Goldfield society. All the women are well posted on mines as their husbands or other men folk, and in the drawing rooms of the cozy cottages they chatter freely of pay dirt, levels, shafts, assaying and all the other technique of the gold digger's craft. 'Well, I'm going back next week, and I'm going to take my wife, too. She can't be lonely for want of women here. There must be a round of dancing matrons and maids in the little city who not only know all the different forks at sight, but can appreciate the artistic dressing of a table for a dinner as well as their own dress."

Cured Rheumatism.

Mr. Wm. Henry of Chattanooga, Tenn., had rheumatism in his left arm. "The strength seemed to have gone out of the muscles so that it was useless for work," he says. "I applied Chamberlain's Pain Balm and wrapped the arm in flannel at night, and to my relief I found that the pain gradually left me and the strength returned. In three weeks the rheumatism had disappeared and was never returned." If troubled with rheumatism try a few applications of Pain Balm. You are certain to be pleased with the relief it affords. For sale at Dr. Williams' drug store.

The Craftsman for April.

In the midst of our twentieth century pride it is an excellent idea to stop every now and again and take notice of the growth and accomplishment of other civilizations. A collection of old bronzes recently brought from China for the New York natural history museum, by Dr. B. R. H. Laufer, gives decidedly the impression that craftsmanship in China some 3000 years ago had attained a beauty and creative power that we can well afford to study into. Dr. Laufer has written about these bronzes for the April Craftsman and illustrates his most readable article with photographs of the rarest of these ancient works of art.—America is waking up to the importance of the Indian as a picturesque element of our civilization, and to his wanton destruction by our government. Frederick Mosen knows the Indian of the southwest well. In the April number of The Craftsman he puts in another plea for their preservation as a national asset. This article "The Pueblos of the Painted Desert," is illustrated by photographs which Mr. Mosen took while living among the Indians.—There is a growing feeling in America that the church should be useful as well as ornamental. In an article called "The Socialized Church," Mary Rankin Cranston describes the useful churches in our cities and towns.—The April Craftsman is issued just at house renovating time. A significant article for this season describes eight Craftsman fireplaces which can be used in the doing over of rooms as a keynote for interest and color scheme.—And college girls will find an unusual article about commencement frocks in the Home Department.

How the People Esteem Hermann.

Under the title of "The Pathetic Side," the Medford Daily Tribune pays a tribute to the life of Blinger Hermann which is voiced by very many of Oregon's best people. It is a tribute to a man whose trial, now in progress for alleged violation of the laws of the land he has given the best years of his life in serving, has so far failed to show him guilty. We quote as follows:

"There is a touch of pathos in the attitude of Blinger Hermann, the veteran politician, and loyal son of
