Sporting Summary.

The scoring of a forfeited game for the Giants on the first game because the crowd invaded the field, is considered by many as unjust, inasmuch as the New York police afforded no protection, and in that case it is argued that the Giants were practically helpless. But the police say they had no business to be helpless, as they should have organized a police force for themselves. This will have to be done, and it is considered right, as there is plenty of money in the games and the club can well afford to spend money for protection. It would be easy enough to get it out of the public, as there would be a liberal subscription on the part of the public, if straight, orderly games could thus be secured.

When Barney Dreyfus heard that Johnny Kling was hopelessly at loggerheads with Charley Murphy, he immediately wired Murphy to put a price on the rebellious catcher. Murphy's answer threw Dreyfus into a spasm. It read: "Wagner and $80,000."

The batch of youngsters that Hanlon has in Cincinnati are a trusting lot. Their battery used signals so openly in their game with Cleveland that the Blues got wise in a few innings.

Tossing the javeline, that good old Greek game, is still being kept alive in the west, with Jawn McGraw as the target. But Jawn has had the javelin tossed into him so much that he gets fat on it.

Barney Dreyfus has been flirting with the ponies for years past, and has finally gone into the game strong. He is now partner in a racing stable.

The Cubans have invented a good way to bet on ball games. They form a pool of eighteen, and each man draws the name of one of the eighteen players in the game. The man who holds the name of the player making the last run cops the whole lot.

Conversational Charley Murphy says that his new southpaw, Blaine Durbin, has the head of Clark Griffith, the cunning of a Ramsey, the courage of a Brown and the versatility of a Matthewson. Yes, and now watch Durbin's finish.

Most of the experts in St. Louis figure that the Browns will finish farther up in their league than the Cardinals will in theirs. Mr. McCloskey of the Cardinals, can't see that dope, especially after trimming the Browns in the spring series.

With the offer made by some New York alumni of the naval academy to present the funds for the expenses of the trip and the prospects of obtaining official sanction exceedingly bright, it is now practically assured that the midshipmen's eight-oared shell crew will compete in the annual Poughkeepsie regatta, to be held on the Hudson river, June 26, next.

Discontent in the American Kennel club is reaching a critical stage. President Belmont has been petitioned by seven club delegates to call a special meeting to set things right and form a complete reorganization, or force a lawsuit. In the interest of harmony President Belmont had suggested that the directors resign in a body, and that the club elect another board at the May meeting. The committee denies the validity of the incorporation.

The schooner yacht Marjorie has been sold by Frank St. John to John F. Baudonine. The yacht is at Jacob's shipyard, City Island, having a 25-horse power gasoline engine installed. She is 85 feet over all, and was built in 1905.

The schooner yacht Agatha has been sold to William C. Towne, vice commodore of the Brooklyn Yacht club, by Harry Tobey. The yacht's name will be changed to Tammany, and as such she will be one of the competitors notably so, in the ocean race to Bermuda in June. She is a flush deck, keel vessel, 72 feet over all, and built in 1902.

T. Bache Bleeker has bought the fast class sloop yacht Jig Step from F. J. Havens. The yacht was built last year from plans by Mr. Gielow and won the championship of her class on Gravesend bay and during the Larchmont week. She will be raced on Long Island sound during the coming season, her home being Oyster bay.

EUREKA!

Yes, I Have Found It at Last. Found what? Why that Chamberlain's Salve cures eczema and all manner of itching of the skin. I have been afflicted for many years with skin diseases. I had to get up three or four times every night and wash with cold water to allay the terrible itching, but since using this salve in December, 1905, the itching has stopped and has not troubled me.—Elder John T. Ongley, Rootville, Pa. For sale at Dr. Stone's drug store.
