HOOSING COUNTRY PARSONS

Old Ways in the New England Villages

Choosing a new parson in a New England village is a difficult and serious business. When the faithful old parson at Riverboro Center, described as Mrs. Wiggins' "New Chronicle" (Houghton, Mifflin & Co.), died after 30 years' preaching, they were the candidates which were tried and found wanting:

The Rev. Mr. Davis, for example, a spirited preacher, but persistent in keeping two horses in the parsonage stable, and in exchanging whenever he could get faster than a parochial visitor he was comparable, dashing from house to house with such speed that he could cover the parish in a single afternoon. This sporting tendency, which would never have been tolerated in a British parson, was owned upon in a New England village, and Deacon Mulliken told Mr. Davis when giving him what he called as his "walking papers," "they didn't want the Edgewood church run by horse power!"

The next candidate pleased Edgewood, where morning preaching was held, but the other parish, which after afternoon service, declined to accept him because he wore a wig, a well-matched, crookedly applied number three was eloquent but given to gesticulation, and Mrs. Jere Frank, the president of the Dorcas Society, who sat in a front pew, said she couldn't bear to see a preacher ramble round the pulpit hot Sunday.

Number four, a genial, handsome man, gifted in prayer, was found to be a Democrat. The congregation, overwhelmingly Republican in politics, and perceived something serious, if not positively blasphemous, in a Democrat preaching the Gospel. ("Ananias and Bezzebub" candidates here, first thing we know!" exclaimed the outraged Republican nominee for district attorney.)

Number five had a feeble-minded wife, which the hiring committee apprehended would always be standing in the parsonage front yard making talk for the other denominations.

Number six was the Rev. Judson, the present incumbent; and was voted to be as near perfect as a minister can be in this finite world. His young wife had a small income of her own, a distinct and unusual advantage, and the subscription committee hoped that they might not be eternally driving over the country to get somebody's 50 cents that had been overdue for eight months, but might take their onerous duties more easily.

"It does seem as if our ministers were the poorest lot!" complained Mrs. Robinson. "If their salary is two months behindhand they begin to be nervous! Seems as though they might lay up a little before they come here, and not live from hand to mouth so! The Baxters seem quite different, and I only hope they won't get wasteful and run into debt. They say she keeps the parlor blinds open 'bout half the time, and the room is lit up so often evenin's that the neighbors think her and Mr. Baxter must set in there. It don't seem hardly as if it could be so, but Mrs. Buzzell says 't is, and she says we might as well say good-by to the parlor carpet, which is church property, for the Baxters are living all over it!"

This criticism was the only discordant note in the chorus of praise, and the people gradually grew accustomed to the open blinds and the over-used carpet, which was just completing its twenty-fifth year of honest service.

Don't Put Off

For tomorrow what you can do today. If you put off buying a bottle of Ballard's Snow Liniment, when that pain comes you won't have any, buy a bottle today. A positive cure for Rheumatism, Burns, Cuts, Sprains, Contracted Muscles, etc. T. S. Graham, Prairie Grove, Ark., writes: "I wish to thank you for the good results I received from Snow Liniment. It positively cured me of Rheumatism after others had failed." Sold by D. J. Fry.

Small Runaway

The team hitched to Buren & Hamilton's delivery wagon became frightened while standing in front of the furniture store yesterday afternoon and ran down Commercial street at a rapid pace but fortunately did not strike any of the vehicles that were passing. The infuriated animals turned east on Chemeketa street and landed in a pole near the rear of the Barnes store. The wagon was broken in a few places, but no other damage resulted.

Sterns, druggist, Shullsburg, Wis., writes, May 20, 1902: "I have been selling Ballard's Horehound Syrup for two years, and have never had a preparation that has given better satisfaction. I notice that when I sell a bottle they come back for more. I can honestly recommend it." 25c, 50c and $1.00. Sold by D. J. Fry.

A Lazy Liver

May be only a tired liver, or a starved liver. It would be a stupid as well as a savage thing to beat a weary or starved man because he lagged in his work. So in treating the lagging, torpid liver it is a great mistake to lash it with strong drastic drugs. A torpid liver is but an indication of an ill-nourished, enfeebled body whose organs are weary with overwork. Start with the stomach and allied organs of digestion and nutrition. Put them in working order and see how quickly your liver will become active. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery has made many marvelous cures of "liver trouble" by its wonderful control of the organs of digestion and nutrition. It restores the normal activity of the stomach, increases the secretions of the blood-making glands, cleanses the system from poisonous accumulations, and so relieves the liver of the burdens imposed upon it by the defection of other organs.

If you have bitter or bad taste in the morning, poor or variable appetite, coated tongue, foul breath, constipated or irregular bowels, feel weak, easily tired, despondent, frequent headaches, pain or distress in "small of back," gnawing or distressed feeling in stomach, perhaps nausea, and "rising" in throat after eating, and kindred symptoms of weak stomach and torpid liver, no medicine will relieve you more promptly or so effectively as Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. Perhaps only a part of the above symptoms will be present at one time and yet point to torpid liver or biliousness and weak stomach. Avoid all hot bread and biscuits, griddle cakes and other indigestible food and take the "Golden Medical Discovery" regularly and stick to it until you are vigorous and strong.

The "Discovery" is non-secret, non-alcoholic, is a glyceric extract of native medicinal roots with a full list of its ingredients printed on each bottle-wrapper and attested under oath. Its ingredients are endorsed and extolled by the most eminent medical writers of the age and are recommended to cure the diseases for which it is advised.

Don't accept a substitute of unknown composition for this non-secret MEDICINE OF KNOWN COMPOSITION.

PURE FOOD LAW

How many people are there among you who know what it means? If an article is pure, the manufacturers are more than pleased to say it on the labels of their goods and in their advertising. If they were adulterated, they will say nothing until forced to by law. Again, many dealers will order the adulterated goods because they can make more profit on them than is possible to do on wholesome, pure foods. So, if you get pure food, you will have to select the brand and insist on getting it from your dealer or send to the manufacturer for your supply.
