Sumpter GETS ON ITS DIGNITY

es to Travel Down to Baker City to Gaze at Portland Bunch proposed visit of Portland men to the Inland Empire stirred up considerable of a ruckus at Baker City and Sumpter. It will be seen from the following written by a Sumpter merchant to the Baker City Democrat, in answer to the Portland people's intimation to Sumpterites to be at City to meet them:

Sumpter, Or., April 30, 1907. The Editor: In this morning's paper appears an editorial on the visit of the Portland merchants, entitled "Sumpter Disgraced." I have not at hand at the moment a Webster's Unabridged, but the above editorial is, and the editorial itself is, so full of errors and misstatements as to imply that the business men of Sumpter are sulking in their tents at provocation. In your editorial you suggest that there must be some mistake about this matter on the part of the Sumpter merchants. I am sorry to say that there has been no mistake made by the people of Sumpter, nor have they any apology to make, nor do they desire that any citizen of Sumpter should be disgraced or any citizen of Baker business men of Sumpter had given to understand that the visit of the Portland merchants was what these words imply, "visit from the citizens of Sumpter, or any other city, to the men of Portland at Baker City elsewhere."

Therefore, when these Portland men decided that they could visit Sumpter, but requested the merchants of Sumpter to come to the City and meet them there, the main object of the proposed excursion from Portland was lost sight of nevertheless the Sumpter men acceded to the proposition.

When it was further proposed that the merchants of Sumpter come to the Junction City, and spend several hours wandering about like lost sheep before they would be honored by being allowed to call upon the men and business men, forbearance was a virtue. A Portland man is certainly not such a subject of curiosity, awe or veneration.

tion, as to arouse the enthusiasm of a wide-awake Sumpter merchant to such an extent that he jumps at an opportunity to travel 60 miles, at great inconvenience, to be presented to a resident of Webfoot, asked to partake of a toothpick and a glass of water, and then be kicked off the cars.

No, Mr. Editor, there has been no mistake about this matter. When the Portland merchants find time to visit Sumpter they will be accorded a royal welcome, but life is too short and time too fleeting for the average Sumpter business man to travel 60 miles that he may gaze for a few rapid moments at a Portland merchant. Very truly yours,

CHARLES H. CHANCE.

INTERSTATE TRAVEL IN AUTOMOBILES

Everybody who tours in a motorcar will be glad to know that the national government may soon take charge of interstate travel in automobiles. A bill providing for federal control has been introduced in the lower house by Representative Cocks, of Long Island, and it is now in the hands of the committee on the judiciary.

As soon as congress reconvenes the measure will be pressed as rapidly as possible toward enactment, and motorists may reasonably hope to see an end of the petty and vexatious annoyances due to the varying laws among the states through which they journey. Meanwhile the judiciary committee has had the bill printed, and the authors, although they believe its provisions are as reasonable and effective as human experience can dictate, would be very glad to receive suggestions as to their betterment.

As to the urgent need of federal regulation of interstate automobile traffic there cannot be two opinions. Devoted as we all are to the rights of our sovereign states, inalienable and never to be abridged, yet we cannot avoid the conclusion that nothing less than control by the federal government will rid us of the incumbrances that obstruct us on every extended trip.

For example, suppose you start some fine morning on a run from New York to Washington—a most delightful trip in this early spring weather, when every prospect pleases and only man is vile—to the motorist. Your car is properly registered in New York, and you have your number displayed as the law directs. You roll comfortably off the ferryboat in Jersey city, but you have not gone half a mile from the landing when a keen-eyed policeman halts you.

"You're shy there on the number," he explains, politely.

"But there is my number," you tell him with a feeling of triumph. "No," says he. "Nothin' doing on a New York number in Jersey." Now it is exceedingly likely that you have promised yourself a pleasant luncheon in Philadelphia, the true habitat of the cordon bleu; but if you are wise you will immediately say good-bye to that luncheon. Indeed, you will be lucky if you get to Philadelphia in time for dinner. For it will be necessary to send to a distant local office to obtain a license to operate your automobile in the state of New Jersey, together with a registration number to hang on your machine. It is hardly possible that you will receive it the same day.

But even then your troubles have just begun. For when you cross the line from New Jersey into Pennsylvania you will be similarly held up until you procure a Pennsylvania license and registration and number board. And the same sort of delay will be waiting for you in Delaware and in Maryland, and in the District of Columbia. The return trip to New York will be made in less than one-third of the time that you used going south, because your various state numbers will pass you instantly by the guardians of the law—unless they happen to be confused by the great number of signs and tags hanging on your car, and stop you for examination.

One experience like this is enough to convince any man of the great advantage of federal control and registration of automobiles.—Charles T. Terry, in Harper's.

Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy.

There is probably no medicine made that is relied upon with more implicit confidence than Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. During the third of a century in which it has been used, people have learned that it is the one remedy that never fails. When reduced with water and sweetened it is pleasant to take. For sale by Dr. Stone's drug store.

Not a Candidate.

Editor McManus takes a whirl at Editor Geer in the following language:

The editor of the Pendleton Tribune devotes a good deal of his time and the space of his paper in defending himself against the hostile attacks of the press of the state. The latest and most serious accusation that has so far been made is that the editor of the Tribune is a possible candidate for Senator Fulton's place. Of course, these amphibious editors of the Willamette valley, who are unacquainted with the pleasures of life in a land of sunshine and flowers, and the princely income as editor of a daily newspaper in a country town are to be excused if they made the mistake that Editor Geer or even the editor of the Pilot Rock Record would exchange jobs with the man from the town on the banks of the sounding sea.

Growing Aches and Pains.

Mrs. Josie Sumner, Bremont, Tex. writes, April 15, 1902: "I have used Ballard's Snow Liniment in my family for three years. I would not be without it in the house. I have used it on my little girl for growing pains and aches in her knees. I have also used it for frost bitten feet, with good success. It is the best liniment I ever used." 25c, 50c and $1.00. Sold by D. J. Fry.

John Brown—an Epoch Maker.

I have called John Brown a fanatic. If we view him in the light of a slave auctioneer where father and mother and children are all under the hammer, their pleading eyes on a brutalizing audience, he appears with the halo of amartyr; if we estimate him by the feasibility of the means he employed to carry out his scheme, he appears an unmitigated crank; if we dismiss both reason and sentiment and direct our view across the plain of history, he rises into the blazing company of those who have marked the epochs of the world.—Gen. Morris Schaff, in the May Atlantic.

Women as Well as Men Are Made Miserable by Kidney and Bladder Trouble.

Kidney trouble preys upon the mind, discourages and lessens ambition; beauty, vigor and cheerfulness soon disappear when the kidneys are out of order or diseased.

Kidney trouble has become so prevalent that it is not uncommon for a child to be born afflicted with weak kidneys. If the child urinates too often, if the urine scalds the flesh, or if, when the child reaches an age when it should be able to control the passage, it is yet afflicted with bed-wetting, depend upon it, the cause of the difficulty is kidney trouble, and the first step should be towards the treatment of these important organs. This unpleasant trouble is due to a diseased condition of the kidneys and bladder and not to a habit as most people suppose.

Women as well as men are made miserable with kidney and bladder trouble, and both need the same great remedy. The mild and the immediate effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It is sold by druggists, in fifty-cent and one-dollar size bottles. You may have a sample bottle by mail free, also a Home of Swamp-Root pamphlet telling all about Swamp-Root, including many of the thousands of testimonial letters received from sufferers cured. In writing Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., be sure and mention this paper. Don't make any mistake, but remember the name, Swamp-Root, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and the address, Binghamton, N. Y., on every bottle.

PURE FOOD LAW

How many people are there among you who know what it means? If an article is pure, the manufacturers are more than pleased to say it on the labels of their goods and in their advertising. If they were adulterated, they will say nothing until forced to by law. Again, many dealers will order the adulterated goods because they can make more profit on them than is possible to do on wholesome, pure foods. So, if you get pure food, you will have to select the brand and insist on getting it from your dealer or send to the manufacturer for your supply.
