OIL FOR SALEM'S STREETS

THE FIRST CARLOAD HAS ARRIVED

Call Up the Street Commissioner and Tell Him How Much You Need

The oil is here. Everybody sing. We shall soon have the streets free from dust. The first carload of oil has arrived, and full preparations have been made for putting it on the streets. At the meeting of the city council last evening the matter was referred to the street committee to direct the street commissioner in the matter of applying it. Mayor Rodgers reports that full arrangements have been made to place it on the streets in the most approved manner, and all who want the dust laid, either about their premises or places of business should call up the street commissioner at once. The cost will be from 10 to 20 cents per foot, according to the local conditions, but it will be so slight that none can afford to do without it. The street commissioner will figure out just what it will cost to pay for the oil, with freight and cost of sprinkling added, and consumers will get the whole thing at actual cost. Let the good work go on, and it is hoped that many more cars will be required to meet the demand.

Buy Salem Property

Rev. B. C. Black, who recently arrived in this city with his family from Hamilton, Montana, has purchased the J. J. Morelock property in South Salem, and will make this city his home. Mr. Morelock will soon leave for California, where he will visit for his health.

Adjudged Insane

To Collect Note

The Elgin City Banking Company has begun proceedings in the Marion county circuit court against Louis Baumann and George W. Case, to collect a certain note set forth as having been made and delivered to the plaintiff by the defendant. The principle of the note, unpaid, is $30, bearing interest at 6 per cent, and was executed in March, 1905. George Bingham appears as attorney for the plaintiff.

Suffers a Paralytic Stroke

W. F. Boothby, of this city, suffered a slight stroke of paralysis yesterday. He is reported to be much improved this afternoon.

An "Unmarring" Case to Marion

Almina D. Chamness vs. Joseph Chamness is the title of a divorce suit commenced in the Clackamas county circuit court in which a change of venue has been granted from the Clackamas court to the Marion circuit court. The grounds upon which the change of venue was asked are that the parties involved in the suit were both residents of the county, and the Marion county court would be the proper place for the said suit. The parties were married in Oregon City in 1905. The complaint asks for a decree of divorce and that the plaintiff be permitted to resume her maiden name; also $40 per month is asked during the pendency of the suit, together with $500 for costs and disbursements of suit and $5000 permanent alimony.

Strawberry Crop Damaged

The strawberries of the Chemawa neighborhood were badly damaged on Monday night, April 29. The crop is almost a total loss to all the growers who did not start a heavy smoke of wet straw over their patch from 4 to 6 o'clock. The Ritchey patch is the only one that escaped with but very little damage. The loss is a severe one to the growers, as the crop prospects were better this season than in many years.

Seventy-five Portland merchants are visiting Eastern Oregon to establish friendly relations with the residents of the sagebrush. It is a good move, but has been delayed so many years that the people up that way have discovered they can do business with the Sound Cities, Spokane and Salt Lake, and be treated well, too.

Almost Wrecked House

New York, May 7.—The "Silent" Smith's lady in the church for funeral services this afternoon barely escaped with a collision with a runaway team of Fifth avenue and Fifty-third street. The runaway shaved the horse and missed the carriage bearing the widow by three inches. The widow attended the services at St. Bartholomew's, but was too ill to go to the cemetery. It is expected the widow will be read following the return of the relatives from Woodlawn, if the widow is strong enough, and probably will be.

Mrs. Gallagher, who returned from a trip to Portland this morning, had the misfortune to make a mis-stop when getting off the street car at the corner of State and Commercial streets, sustaining a severe fall, which caused her to lose consciousness for several minutes. She was picked up by the passengers on the car and soon revived. Mrs. Gallagher did not wait for the car to stop, a foolish thing for a woman to do, and for a woman generally disastrous.
