

The Cough of Consumption

Your doctor will tell you that fresh air and good food are the real cures for consumption. But often the cough is very hard. Hence, we suggest that you ask your doctor about Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. We publish the formulae of all our preparations. Lowell, Mass.

NEW YORK AUTOMOBILE DISCUSSIONS

A. B. Tucker, 31 East 42d St. New York.

Charles Schmidt, the engineer of Peerless Motor Car company, has been abroad for his health matters connected with business, and on Saturday last on "Laurel." Mr. Schmidt states that aside from studying and contracting for material for the Peerless company, he has investigated new ideas in automobile making abroad only in a general way.

He did not have time to visit any of the large factories," said Mr. Schmidt, "but have reserved such invitations for a visit which I will make later, shortly before show." From general observations, however, I think I am safe in saying that there will not be as radical a line of novelties in next year's French cars as has been the case heretofore. There, as here, automobiles are becoming standard and there is less inclination shown along experimental lines.

The most interesting situation in the car proposition. It is rather likely (in the opinion of everyone with whom I talked) that gasoline cars will do away with the horse driven car in the inside of two years. I think an expect similar condition of things in this country. This will be a good deal to do with the general trade, particularly in closed cars, and I think we can look for a great deal of similar character in all large American cities.

Mr. Schmidt was asked if he was going to make public any of his plans for next year's Peerless model, and he replied that there was very little he could say at this time. He stated that there would be no radical changes from this year's type, which he has made good in every way and has proved to be thoroughly satisfactory to him.

"I met in Paris," said Mr. Schmidt, "one of our customers, W. J. Belder of Colorado Springs and he is the Peerless car which I took with me last year and sold to Batchelder on July 1, 1906. He told me that he had been using the car continuously ever since it was delivered to him in Paris last summer, and that he had had no trouble whatever during the time. His mileage had been enormous and the car had been subjected to hard usage, but seemed to be as well last week in Paris as it was the day it was delivered to Mr.

Batchelder. I was very glad to personally inspect this car and to see that a number of my theories with regard to construction had worked out so well."

Mr. Schmidt left on Sunday night for Cleveland, where he will take up his work on the 1908 models for the Peerless company.

C. W. Kelsey, the moving spirit of the new American Cab & Delivery company, has removed to Philadelphia where he is employed in completing final arrangements with regard to the organization and incorporation of the company. In the meantime work is steadily progressing on the first batch of taximeter cabs which the company is to place in commission. These will probably be the first American-built taximeters to be permanently put at work in American streets. At present it is doubtful whether these will be seen first in New York or Philadelphia.

That a good reputation among the owners is a valuable asset for a car to have, is the opinion of C. G. Wridgeway, who handles Peerless cars in New York City. The dealer selling a well recommended make of car is being bothered less and less nowadays by the "joy demonstration" nuisance. "The people who used to work the little joke of obtaining a long 'demonstration' ride, upon the pretext of being intending purchasers are becoming scarcer every day," said Mr. Wridgeway, recently. "It is of course often difficult to tell the real from the imitation, but people who really want to buy good cars are not over-anxious to get demonstrations from the maker before purchasing. The majority of cars like the Peerless, are sold to persons whose friends recommend them."

"Of the last eighty-two cars, sold through my agency, demonstrations were given to purchasers in twenty cases only, which is pretty good proof that the public has confidence in a standard high grade car. The very fact that I am and other Peerless agents are now booking orders for 1908 models, when none of us have 1908 demonstrating cars, shows that the people really have the money and who want cars do not crave to be "shown." Nearly all the grafters want long Sunday demonstrations, as they are 'busy' during the week. People who are so industrious, that they cannot afford any other time than Sunday to look at a motor car, will scarcely have the time to drive a car after buying one. Perhaps the fact that ride grafters are becoming less numerous, is due in a measure to public morals, becoming more elevated."

Of all the fruits that are in the land that grow on bush or tree, I would give up the choicest ones for Rocky Mountain Tea.
