"TIFF" FOR KOREAN IDOLS.

Formerly Worthless Product of Missouri Mines May Become Valuable.

Another use has been found for the products of the Missouri-Kansas lead and zinc mining district. J. Kavanaugh will use a byproduct—tiff—in making idols for the worship of the Koreans, says a special dispatch from Joplin, Mo., to the St. Louis Globe Democrat.

Kavanaugh is now in Joplin securing a carload of the stuff that has been the bane of mine operators for many years. Tiff is a mica-like formation, shaly and somewhat inclined to splinter and, its specific gravity making it difficult to separate from ores has worried operators greatly. How Kavanaugh came to Joplin carries with it a pretty satire. He was directed to this field by a woman missionary in Korea. Herself teaching the Koreans to desert the worship of hand-made gods, she unwittingly told Kavanaugh where he could find the material he sought for the purpose of commercializing the god making business on an elaborate scale.

This missionary is Miss Mary Oglesby, formerly of Kansas City, Mo., and whose brother is a roommate of Charles Perry employed in the Fred Harvey house at the Kansas City union depot. She gave Kavanaugh a letter of introduction to her brother, who is also employed by Harvey, but Kavanaugh met Perry, who sent him to Judson Jones at Web City, and on Jones' advice he went to Joplin, learning that tiff is more plentiful in Joplin and Galena (Kan.) mines than in Web City.

Kavanaugh was located in Pingyang, Korea, as the manager of some coal mines for the nikado. He saw the great demand for idols and seals among the natives and concluded it would be a good thing to establish an idol factory there. He learned that the Koreans required gods and seals to guard against ill luck that were bright and glittering, snappy and capable of withstanding hard usage, as the Korean carries his god and lucky seal around with him.

Kavanaugh knew that tiff was found in California, but that it was too brittle to stand grinding and shaping. The Missouri product, he learned, was amenable to such treatment, and he went directly to Joplin. He proposes to ship a carload of the stuff to Pingyang, open an idol factory there in competition with the native god makers and give the people idols and seals more durable and less costly than the article to which they are accustomed. Should the venture prove successful financially, and Kavanaugh believes it will, he expects to make the shipment of tiff from Joplin to his Korean factory a regular thing in the future and thereby establish a market for the now worthless byproduct of the mines.

WEST SALEM SCHOOL CLOSES.

Raised New Flag by Moonlight and Wind Up With Lunch.

The entertainment given last evening which closed the West Salem school for this school year was a complete success.

Mrs. H. Patton of this city presented the school with a fine American flag and a most interesting feature of the program was that it was raised by moonlight.

The little folks did justice to themselves and to their teacher in the way they acted their parts.

At the closing of the program short speeches were made by Mr. E. Hofer and Supt. Starr. The last "number" of the program was a basket social which was enjoyed by all.

Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy.

There is probably no medicine made that is relied upon with more implicit confidence than Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. During the third of a century in which it has been used, people have learned that it is the one remedy that never fails. When reduced with water and sweetened it is pleasant to take. For sale by Dr. Stone's drug store.

Zena School Closes.

The Zena public school closed yesterday with a very interesting and carefully arranged program. The exercises were given in the oak grove near the Zena church. There were a great many friends and patrons present and the day was all that could be wished.

Professor W. J. Crawford spoke in behalf of the boards of directors praising their teacher's, Miss Peebles, work.

Mr. Shepard spoke in behalf of the patrons of the school, and Prof. Geo. A. Peebles in behalf of the visiting friends. The last thing of the day was a fine dinner which was spread out under the oak trees and sampled by everybody.

Growing Aches and Pains.

Mrs. Joste Sumner, Bremond, Tex. writes, April 15, 1902: "I have used Ballard's Snow Liniment in my family for three years. I would not be without it in the house. I have used it on my little girl for growing pains and aches in her knees. I have also used it for frost bitten feet, with good success. It is the best liniment I ever used." 25c, 50c and $1.00. Sold by D. J. Fry.

A Forger Caught.

The Scio News tells of a man calling himself George Edwards, forging three checks last week on the Brown & Stamp Lumber Co., operating on the North Santiam in this county. The Dalles Chronicle of Thursday has a story of forgery committed in that city by a man giving his name as Walter Edwards. The methods employed in both cases were similar, and with the name, indicate the same writing-master committed both acts. It may be some satisfaction to the Scio victims to know that Edwards was caught at The Dalles and having confessed will go to the pen.

WHEELING ENTHUSIASM AWAKENING

Various Motorcycle Clubs Hold Meets and Plan Runs

New York, May 25.—The awakening of wheeling enthusiasm has caused a simultaneous stirring up in police circles, as riders everywhere seem to forget that iron-clad laws against riding on sidewalks, and without bells or lamps are still on the statute books of every state and municipality. In New York state riders of side paths must have badges, and offenders in that respect are receiving attention. Ogden, Utah, has a strict law requiring bicyclists to keep to the right, and a nasty collision of two riders last week has started the police after the lawless ones. A Mishakawa, Indiana, wheelman writes to a paper of a bad fall he got while trying to avoid a child on a road, and says that if a wheelman must keep off the sidewalks, children should be kept off the streets—which seems quite reasonable.

A Compressive Motor Cycle Program

One of the most enthusiastic and ambitious motor cycle clubs in the country is in the Genesee of Rochester. Runs have been planned for every Wednesday and Sunday from May 1st to the end of September. The Wednesday runs are city affairs, which are scheduled for 7:30 in the evening, but each of the Sunday trips which will show the motor cyclists a new objective points for each week. Many of these will be all day affairs. In addition to the schedule, a run will be made to Buffalo on July 4th, leaving Rochester at 5 in the morning.

To keep the interest at heat, contests such as hill climbs and road races will be held on Saturday afternoons, with an attractive collection of cups and medals for the winners. These contests will be carried on throughout June, July and August.

F. A. M. Meet Goes to Province.

Province, R. I., is waking up to the importance of the annual meeting of the Federation of American Motor cyclists, which will be held in that city late in July or early in August. At least if the town can be enthused by energetic work, the efforts of the Providence Motorcycle Club will surely turn the trick. At this writing it would seem that the meeting will be held during Old Home Week, the exact date of which has not yet been determined. This of itself will greatly augment the number of spectators. All of the crack machines from all over the country will be on hand for the national championships to be settled at that time, and it is expected that the men will, in themselves, form a mighty gathering of motorcyclists. The Providence club has laid out a series of runs, with a club race also, which will be in the nature of a preparation for the big events.

Armory Ball.

The military ball given last night in the armory hall by the boys of Company "M." was the largest attended and most enjoyable of any given this season. Excellent music was furnished throughout the evening by the Military band. About 250 persons were present, and all were sorry when the strains of "Home Sweet Home" were played. Punch was served by the company boys and everyone present declared them royal entertainers. This ball closed the season of these popular affairs.

The Passing of a Delusion.

Word comes from London that the recent death of an old soldier from heart failure was the cause of a post-mortem clinic in which the physicians decided that the collapse was due "to the pernicious habit of puffing out the chest." As a result, the British army has abolished the puffed-out chest, which has, for over 100 years, been the vogue. Since long before Waterloo, "chest out stomachs in" has been the order on the British drill grounds. America followed suit; every major-domo in the athletic clubs, every teacher of calisthenics and dramatic art has promulgated the same idea. Well-trained ladies and gentlemen, smiling in spite of all, have walked the streets and boulevards at the angle of the leaning tower of Pisa, tortured, but determined to be correct. An old officer, discussing the system of drill so long prevalent, said:

"The puffed-out chest is a delusion which has succumbed to scientific knowledge of the human body. It came into existence purely for show reasons or from false analogy. It was seen that men deep in the chest were strong men, and the old drill sergeants probably imagined that by making men throw out their chests they would make them strong, as well as make them look strong, which is a complete mistake. Instead of strengthening a man, puffing his chest tends to weaken him, as it thrown a strain upon the heart. We now tell men to be sure and not puff out their chests. If you puff out your chest and do dumbbell exercise you are to hold the breath. That strains the heart. Any exercise that prevents breathing freely is bad. Knotted muscles are also wrong. You see a man with immense chest, muscles and perhaps you think he is really an ideally trained man, but such muscles simply bind the chest and tie the heart down."—Reader.

CONVICT LABOR ALL RIGHT.

Committee Finds They Do Not Injure Free Labor in This Case at Least.

The committee appointed by the Salem board of trade yesterday visited the fair grounds in company with representatives of the Carpenters' union, to make inquiry into the matter of the employment of convicts at skilled labor, and what they found was not at all detrimental to the state authorities nor to the cause of the union. There are some convicts employed at common labor, such as clearing up the land, tearing down old buildings and excavating for the foundations of the new structures. Two are also employed at removing nails from old lumber taken out of the sheds torn down, and a couple are sawing this old stuff into lengths fit for use. This is work which the regular carpenters would not care to do if it were offered, and Foreman McFadden says that no convicts are employed on new material. The board is busy at the delightful task of using old nails by his employees. The situation seems to be that convicts are making it possible to on with the building operation, without this aid of their labor. The grounds could not be put in use for the mechanics, as it is almost impossible to secure labor at a price. The union has some members who on general principle object to the employment of convicts at any kind of work, except roads, but even these men are in favor of the employment of convicts in this case the work of the convicts help make work possible for the carpenters.

Of all the fruits that are in the world, that grow on bush or tree, I would give you the choicest for Rocky Mountain Tea. —Sold at Dr. Stone's store.
