THE JOURNAL STANDS FOR PROGRESS, DEVELOPMENT, GOOD GOVERNMENT, AND NO DEGRADED LABOR.WANDERLUST.

The road—a ribbon of white unfurled,
That winds away to the distant world;
A leave of care and a song to sing,
A staff and crust in my wandering.
No clanging bells, no traffic's din,
Nor city gates to hold me in.
I hear it calling, soft and low,
And I must answer—I must go.

Over the slopes, the hills and leas,
To the glittering waste of summer seas;
Rocked to rest by the ocean's tune,
As a baby is lulled by its mother's croon.
Far away from the factories' frown,
And the restless throb of the noisy town,
The sea stars call, the Cross hangs low,
And I must answer—I must go.

The road—it waits, and I hear the song
Of a rover sung in the city's throng.
I'll barter all I have earned in strife
For a crust and staff, and rover's life.
I'll heed no voice that calls me back,
For my heart is true to the rover's track.
The road is calling, calling low,
And I must answer—I must go!

—Will F. Griffin in Milwaukee Sentinel.

ANOTHER MILLIONAIRE DISCOVERED.

The richest man in Wisconsin has been discovered by the accident of becoming United States Senator from that state. His name is Isaac Stephenson. He was a poor boy. He came to the United States as an immigrant from Canada at the age of 11, and a year later found work on a Wisconsin farm. In his case there was no chance for schooling, and such book knowledge as he gained was picked up at odd times by force of a restless disposition.

From the farm he went at lake navigation. HE SAVED MONEY AND SPECULATED IN TIMBER. FROM A SMALL SUCCESS HE PROSPERED. Of late years banking has occupied his time and employed his money.

He is now 77 years old. He is not a national character, although he served three terms in the lower house of congress. He is a typical American millionaire of the busy—not the Pittsburg—type.

The St. Louis Globe-Democrat sees in this discovery a new chapter in the romance of the poor boy who gets rich. It is James J. Hill all over again—except that Hill built railroads and Stephenson built saw mills. It is a great tribute to American opportunity and to individual enterprise. The Globe-Democrat says:

"A large majority of American millionaires were originally poor boys, and the only sure way to cut down the list is to place limitations on American opportunities and enterprise. A POOR BOY NECESSARILY STARTS INTO BUSINESS AT THE BOTTOM and comprehends at the start the power of self-reliance, backed by industry and sound observation. He learns to make the most of a little, and how, by the exercise of judgment and energy he can take the next step forward.

"A basis is thus laid that can be obtained in no other way. Having mastered the art of depending on his own work and qualities, he acquires a capacity for larger combinations. Learning on nobody, and knowing the possibilities of what he can do for himself, an individuality it developed that deals with actual facts, avoids mistakes and commands confidence. Money begets money. Nothing is easier than for a multi-millionaire to add to his riches. Rates of interest work unceasingly and a silent increment is certain in a growing country like this.

"HOW FAR AN INTENSE PURSUIT OF WEALTH IS WORTH WHILE IS ANOTHER QUESTION.

It is not unknown to the other parts of the world by any means, but proceeds elsewhere under far greater difficulties.

Low birth and iron fortune are no bar to advancement in the United States, where many poor boys grow into the circle of great wealth and industrial responsibility.

They have the immense advantage of knowing how the world is made for those who start at bottom.

They are familiar with the elements of poverty, but the poverty that is hopeful and ambitious."

WINE MAKER'S TROUBLES.

The government of France is for the moment diverted from the church question, the strife of labor organizations in Paris and kindred manifestations in order to center its attention upon the important movement in the south of France, where the agitation of the wine growers is threatening turmoil to the authorities.

THEIR BUSINESS IS BEING RUINED BY THE MAKERS OF CHEAP AND ADULTERATED WINES.

When one hundred thousand of the populace can be concentrated in a determined meeting of public protest, it means something. France has been noted for its good wines, but a late report says that the country now imports more than it exports. And now ADULTERATION WITH INJURIOUS INGREDIENTS HAS ENTERED INTO THE PRODUCT TO SUCH AN EXTENT THAT THE VINEYARDISTS ARE THREATENED WITH IMPOVERISHMENT AND THE CONSUMER WITH DIRE CONSEQUENCES. There is something radically wrong in the laws or the administration thereof when such large numbers of the population are affected to the point of riot when the state permits one of the country's most noted industries to be so destroyed by injurious methods. The disaffected people of the south of France have said that they will give the government until June 10 to enact legislation to relieve the situation, and they speak with an imperiousness and a determination that betoken preparedness for action.

"A GREAT NEWSPAPER."

Chicago boasts of a large number of good newspapers and three most excellent ones. Indeed, the followers of Mr. Hearst would say of five most excellent ones.

The newspaper that has the largest circulation in Chicago is undoubtedly Hearst's Chicago American—reaching 350,000 copies in the afternoon and more than half a million on Sunday morning.

But of the old solid newspapers of Chicago The Daily News, The Daily Tribune and the Record-Herald are all regarded as among THE VERY LARGEST NEWSPAPERS IN CIRCULATION—AND THE VERY BEST AS TO QUALITY.

The News undoubtedly leads to a very great degree both of the others—having 315,000 circulation as against 150,000 for The Tribune and about 140,000 for The Record-Herald.

As the Daily News has no Sunday edition it must be compared with the daily issues of all the other publications—even though The Tribune has 200,000 circulation on the Sabbath, and The Record-Herald 185,000 circulation.

It is probably true that The Chicago Sunday Tribune, with its 200,000 circulation, commands about the same price for advertising that The Daily News gets—or $4.38 an inch.

But by and large The Chicago Daily News holds the world's record in the largest amount of advertising carried for one firm and the largest amount of money received therefor.

In a circular just issued by Mr. Victor F. Lawson, the owner of The Daily News, "THE FAIR," THE NAME OF A GREAT APARTMENT STORE OF THE WINDY CITY, PAID THE DAILY NEWS $117,777 FOR ADVERTISING DURING THE TWELVE MONTHS PRIOR TO MARCH 31, 1907.

The Daily News claims that that was the largest amount of money ever paid by any one advertiser in one year to any single newspaper.

We continued this medicine until several bottles were used, when our boy was completely cured." Best of all blood medicines and body building health tonics. Guaranteed at J. C.
