SUPREME COURT.

Six Decisions Handed Down Tuesday.

Six decisions were handed down by the supreme court Tuesday, as follows:

Lena H. Sturgis and J. S. McLeod, plaintiffs and respondents, vs. N. E. Despain, et al., defendants and appellants; appeal from Umatilla county. Trial judge, W. R. Ellis; reversed. This action grew out of the failure of Wade, a banker at Pendleton.

The opinion by Commissioner King holds that plaintiffs having recognized Wade as their agent in holding the assigned mortgages and the Teal note to secure them, and having the security in his possession when paid, and otherwise acted for them in collecting the money as paid on the notes, with knowledge and consent of the payers, the payment to him under the circumstances released the defendants, and holds that all notes and mortgages connected with the transaction be cancelled and appellants released.

The Borling Lumber Company, appellant, vs. J. R. Root, respondent; appeal from Multnomah county; J. B. Cleland, judge; affirmed.

ABRAHAM H. HUMMEL.

New York criminal lawyer who drew Evelyn Nesbit's affidavit accusing Harry Thaw of beating her and who is serving a sentence in prison for crooked work in connection with the Dodge-Morse divorce case.

Sumpter Valley Railway Company, respondent, vs. Charles H. and Alice Gardner, appellants; decree of lower court modified, giving respondent use of right of way over appellants' lands until December 18, 1910; op by Justice Moore.

James T. Harvey, respondent, vs. the Deep River Logging Company, appellants; appeal from Multnomah county; A. L. Frazer, judge; affirmed. Opinion by Chief Justice Bean.

Thomas C. Laudwick, appellant, vs. Harry Lane, et al., respondents; appeal from Multnomah county; A. L. Frazer, judge; reversed. Opinion by Justice Moore.

A. L. Latourette, trustees, respondent, vs. Henry Meldrum and H. H. Johnson, appellants; appeal from Clackamas county; T. H. McBride, judge; reversed. Opinion per curiam.

WHAT IS MORE BEAUTIFUL THAN MOTHER LOVE?

A mother's worries are many. She sometimes forgets her own bodily discomforts because of her overpowering love for the child. She becomes broken down, sleepless, nervous, irritable and feels tired from morning until night. Many mothers of experience can tell you that at such a time they have been relieved, benefited and strengthened and put into proper health by taking a prescription which their mothers had told them was the only woman's tonic to be taken at such times. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription has enjoyed an enviable reputation for over a third of a century. In all that time it has sold more largely in the United States than any other tonic for woman's needs, and today its sales are greater than ever.

In favor of Dr. Pierce's medicine is the frank, confiding, open, honest statement of their full composition, giving every ingredient in plain English, without fear of successful criticism and with confidence that the good sense of the afflicted will lead them to appreciate this honorable manner of confiding to them what they are taking into their stomachs when making use of these medicines.

ALCOHOLIC TONICS.

A great many women feeling the need of a tonic take a cocktail, whiskey, or what is just as bad, some widely advertised compound, containing a large percentage of alcohol. Doctor Pierce's medicines are guaranteed to be entirely free from alcohol or narcotics—made of roots which cannot harm the most delicate system but have a wholesome, life-giving, tonic effect upon the system. Tonics made largely of alcohol interfere with the digestion of certain foods, and as does increase the alcohol absorbed gets into the blood and shrinks the red blood corpuscles. As the blood feeds the nerves the nerves get improper nourishment and the mother becomes nervous. As the nerves suffer so does the skin.

Better stick to a health-giving tonic that has in the past third of a century sold more widely than any other.

OPEN AS THE DAY.

What Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is made of. Its ingredients are: Golden Seal root, Lady's Slipper root, Black Cohosh root, Unicorn root, Blue Cohosh root, Chemically Pure Glycerine, Hobart's Bitter, M. D. University of Pa., says of Golden Seal—"Good in all catarrhal conditions, as uterine catarrh, leucorrhoea, etc." Prof. John King in the American Dispensary says of Black Cohosh root—"another important ingredient in 'Favorite Prescription.' By its special affinity for the female organs, it is an efficient agent in suppression, in dysmenorrhoea it is surpassed by no other drug, being of greatest utility in irritative and congestive conditions of the appendages, characterized by dragging pains, etc." Prof. King says of Unicorn root, "have found this plant to possess a decidedly beneficial influence in cases of lassitude with weakness or dull pain in the renal or lumbosacral (small of the back) region. It is one of our most valuable agents acting as a uterine tonic, and gradually removing abnormal conditions, while at the same time it imparts tone and vigor to the reproductive organs. Hence, it is much used in leucorrhoea, amenorrhoea, dysmenorrhoea.

A PARTICULAR PLEASURE

removed by it is the irritability and despondency that often attends these troubles. In those cases in which there is pelvical fullness, the aching, bearing-down organs feel as if they would fall out of the body. Its action here is very decided."

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets cure biliousness, sick and bilious headache, dizziness, costiveness, or constipation of the bowels, loss of appetite, coated tongue, sour stomach, windy belchings, "heartburn," pain and distress after eating, and kindred derangements of the liver, stomach and bowels.

Persons subjected to any of these troubles should never be without a vial of the "Pleasant Pellets" at hand. In proof of their superior excellence it can truthfully be said that they are always adopted as a household remedy after the first trial.

One little "Pellet" is a laxative, two are cathartic. They regulate, invigorate and cleanse the liver, stomach and bowels. As a "dinner pill," to promote digestion, take one each day. To relieve the distress arising from overeating, nothing equis to these little "Pellets." They're tiny, sugar-coated, anti-bilious granules, scarcely larger than mustard seeds.

Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser will be sent free, paper bound, for 21 one-cent stamps, or cloth-bound for 41 stamps. Over 1000 pages and illustrated. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

X-RAYS

"Oh, what is so rare as a day in June," quotes the Brooklyn Times, the 29th of February. Ask something hard.

Orchard admits he has been an unmitigated liar all his life, but says he is telling the truth now. "Can the Ethiopian change his skin, or the leopard his spots?"

Mrs. Ida Toney, the woman whom Orchard married at Cripple Creek, is a Pinkerton detective. This rounds out and completes his full list of crimes.

The Kaiser today slapped Prince Henry and tore the decorations from him. Our President will now have to get a move on, or he will be out-classed for strenuousness.

It may be evidence of a plebeian appetite, but we are of the opinion that it is pretty hard to beat a hot, mealy baked potato, dressed with a liberal supply of Jersey cream. It knocks ice cream and angels' food all hollow.

Concentration of one's effort along a single line will tend to insure a measure of satisfaction and financial success that cannot possibly be obtained if one spreads himself out in an attempt to follow half a dozen lines. In many fields concentration is just a synonym for success.

WILLIE IN SEARCH.

Of an Omaha Man Tries to Locate One in the Pictures.

Under the above title Tuesday's Telegram has the following exceedingly clever skit, that trims up the edges of truth and illustrates Tom Richardson style of boomlet true to life:

Willie was born in Omaha, and came to Portland with his father a year or two ago, so that lad was greatly interested when the party of Nebraskans, headed by Governor Sheldon, was in town yesterday.

He got hold of the morning paper and saw the big picture clear across the bottom of the first page. Planting himself in front of "dad's" chair, he began looking over the mass of faces.

"Papa, who's this little man right in front here?"

"Willie, that's Caspar Hodson."

"Who's Hodson?"

"My boy, he runs the Portland Commercial Club."

"Papa's who's this little round fat man next to him?"

"Let's see. That's Governor Chamberlain."

"He ain't from Nebraska, is he?"

"No, my son."

"Oh, papa, who's the little boy next to Chamberlain in front?"

"Why that's Mose Mossesohn."

"What is he in Omaha?"

"He's not from Omaha; he's assistant secretary of the Portland Chamber of Commerce."

"Well, papa, who's this tall, sad-looking man next to Caspar What-did-you-call-him? He must be the governor of Omaha?"

"Oh, no, that's Ed. Giltner. He's secretary of the Portland Chamber of Commerce."

Long silence.

"Please papa, who is this nice looking man right up here in front? I have seen this picture before somewhere?"

"My son, that man whose picture you have seen before is Tom Richardson. I'm ashamed of you for asking such foolish questions."

"Well, but papa, the paper says this is the picture of people from Omaha. Ain't they in the picture?"

"Yes, lad, they are in the picture, and if you look far enough back you will find 'em. Now, don't bother me any more, I'm busy."

The Western Clay Company, of Portland, which owns some of the valuable kaolin deposits east of Ashland, on the Dead Indian road, are getting ready to utilize a large quantity of the clay this season. They gave a Portland truckman the contract to keep two teams busy all the present season, and the latter has been purchasing wagons and teams at Ashland the past few days.

Gored by Jersey Bull.

David Zehner, a farmer residing eight miles west of Eugene, on the Elmira road, came near being killed Monday by a vicious Jersey bull, and, but for the timely arrival of Frank Goodpasture, who conducts the Willamette market in that city, he might not now be alive.

Mr. Zehner is about 60 years of age, and went out in the pasture to look after his cows. Among the herd was a Jersey bull that objected to his presence, and attacked him, knocked him down, and but for the fact that he had no horns, would probably have killed him before help arrived.

Frank Goodpasture, who was quite a distance away, on horseback, noticed a commotion among the cattle, but did not think much of it at first, but as he drew nearer discovered that the bull had something down, and was pounding it with his head. Frank tied his horse to the fence and with his trusty dog by his side ran out in the pasture to find that Mr. Zehner had been struggling for some time with the animal, the ground being beaten for some distance around. Mr. Zehner was almost unconscious, but was holding onto the ring in the bull's nose with a death grip. With the aid of his dog the brute was finally driven away and Mr. Zehner helped to his feet. About this time the Elmira stage arrived, on route to Eugene, and, with the aid of the passengers, the injured man was taken home and cared for. His right arm and breast and side were badly bruised, but it is thought he will be alright again in a few days.

A telephone message received from the home of Mr. Goodpasture stated that the old gentleman was resting easy.—Eugene Register.

Marshfield Growing.

One of the best indications of the well-nigh miraculous growth which Marshfield is experiencing is a glance at the postal receipts of the local office. In 1898, when W. B. Curtis, the present postmaster, took charge, the receipts for the fiscal year were $3348.49. Nine years later for the fiscal year of 1907 the postal receipts were $8103.75, an increase of $4755.25, or over double what it was when Mr. Curtis took charge.

When Mr. Curtis took charge of the postoffice the salary attached was $1400, which was later raised to $1800. He has now received notice of another raise of $200 in salary, which will take effect with the beginning of the fiscal year in July. This will place Mr. Curtis' salary at $2000.—Coos Bay Times.

Robert Morris, formerly of this city, but now of Palo Alto, Cal., arrived in the city last evening.
