CITY NEWS

A Collection of Important Paragraphs for Your Consideration

Capital City Steam Laundry—Will open July 15, under new management. Satisfaction guaranteed in all work. All orders promptly called for and delivered. Phone 165. Reese & Strang, props. 7-9-1f

The London Assurance Corporation—Paid $7,600,000 (gross) losses arising from the San Francisco disaster. This is a much greater amount than paid by any other company, operating under a single name, in this or any other conflagration, and stands without a parallel in the history of insurance. Incorporated A. D. 1720. In active business 187 years. Derby & Willson, resident agent, Salem, Oregon. 6-8-4tSat.

Sold Salem Home—Mrs. S. C. Dyer yesterday sold her home on the corner of Oak and Commercial streets to Jacob Moyer, and left this morning for Portland, where she will spend the summer with her son, Connell.

Mr. Derby Gets a Fall—F. N. Derby, the well-known real estate man, while out driving last evening with Superintendent Jones, of the blind school, was thrown from the buggy by the horse becoming frightened and whirling suddenly; and sustained a bad fracture of his left ankle. Both gentlemen were thrown out, but Mr. Jones escaped without injury. Mr. Derby was taken to his home on South High street, where his injuries were attended to by Drs. R. E. L. Steiner and Carlton Smith. He will probably be in bed for a couple of weeks.

5-Pound Pail—Steuiloff lard, 65c, or 10-pound pail for $1.30 is cheap enough at Roth & Graber's.

Summer Chairs—For porches. Buren & Hamilton.

Anything in Woodwork—You can get it at the sash and door factory of A. M. Hanson, Church and Mill streets.

Buren & Hamilton—For tents.

It is Appropriate—During this berry season, it is good to know that you can always buy sweet cream, in any quantity, of the Townsend Creamery Co., 137 Commercial street.

Quick-Tie Hammock Ropes—Just the thing for holding up your hammock. No slipping of knots. Buren & Hamilton.

Small Hams—A shipment of those fancy mistletoe hams just in. They are great. Try one. Roth & Graber.

Refrigerators—That refrigerate at Buren & Hamilton's.

Home Cakes and Buns—Bread, baked beans, salads, boiled hams, veal loaf, prepared good enough for a king. Roth & Graber.

Buy Home Lard—You can buy 5-pound tin Home Lard for 65c; 10-pounds for $1.30. Roth & Graber.

Sweet Cream Always—For sale by the Townsend Creamery Co., 137 Commercial street.

Baseball Sunday—The Fairmount grounds, corner of Liberty and Mission streets, South Salem, will be a lively place tomorrow afternoon, when the Fairmount baseball nine and the Clear Lake nine cross bats for the purpose of ascertaining which is the best bunch. Last Sunday the Fairmount nine made the Brooks team a visit, and were cornered to the tune of 5 to 0, in favor of Brooks, and tomorrow is the day when they are determined to even up scores. The Clear Lake nine is composed of some of the best material in the north end of the county, and they have a good reputation. The Fairmounts are now in the best of condition, and having put in the evenings all this week with the stick, they should be capable of showing up to good advantage tomorrow. The game will be called at 2:30 p. m.

Small Blaze—The fire department was called out this morning shortly before noon to extinguish a fire which had caught in some tall grass near the Bonham property, on North Liberty street. It was soon controlled.

Priscilla Club Picnic—The Priscilla Embroidery Club held its last regular meeting yesterday afternoon at "Bright View," on South High street, the beautiful home of Mrs. D. J. Fry, vice-president of the club. After all the business had been attended to, a delightful picnic dinner was served on the lawn to the members and their families, who were invited. The affair was in honor of little Priscilla Fry, after whom the club was named, the day being the celebration of her first birthday. Besides receiving many pretty gifts, the little miss was presented with a silver loving cup by the members of the club.

The time was spent in conversation and music. As many of the members will take vacations in the mountains and at the sea shore, there will be no meetings until the first Thursday in September.

First Unitarian—Corner of Cottage and Chemeketa streets. Services began at 11 a. m. Sermon by Rev. Paul S. Handy. All are welcome. No evening service. Sunday school at 10 o'clock a. m.

Gospel Chapel—Fifteenth and Mill streets. Sunday school at 10 a. m. Preaching at 11 a. m. and 8 p. m. Testimony and praise service at 7 p. m. Regular meeting Friday evening.

St. Paul's Episcopal—Chemeketa and Church streets. Rev. Barr G. Lee, rector. Seventh Sunday after Trinity. Services at 7:30 a. m. and 11 a. m. Sunday school at 10 a. m. No evening services until September. All cordially welcome.

To Dam the McKenzie—Russell Welch, manager of the local office of the Willamette Valley Company, today filed in the county clerk's office a notice of appropriation of the waters of the McKenzie river and a power site, presumably for the purpose of furnishing power for the generation of electricity for the operation of the proposed electric railway which the Eugene & Eastern Railway Company recently incorporated, is contemplating building up the McKenzie valley.

The site selected by Mr. Welch is a splendid one for power purposes.

They Defend the Forts—The Oregon militia is having a strenuous time of it keeping the Japs or some other enemy from capturing Seattle and running their fleets by the fortifications at the mouth of the Columbia river. So far they have repelled the enemy with dauntless courage and a telescope, and are keeping keen watch on the maneuvers of the crafty enemy. Incidentally the boys are having a good outing, are learning much of the art of war, and will return home better soldiers and in fine shape for their usual employments from their outing.

THE DANGERS OF ASIATIC EMIGRATION

The worst of it is that there is often an economic necessity for the presence of the Asiatic. It is not always that he is forcing himself into places where he is merely superfluous and a nuisance. Labor is so badly wanted in all the colonies, the white laborer is so scarce and dear, and sometimes so handicapped by climate, that the Asiatic, in the beginning, is generally welcome. Mr. Neome points out that he has seldom come uninvited in the first instance. On the contrary, direct efforts were made to bring him to places where the labor supply is short of the demand, as was the case not only with the Chinese in the Transvaal, but with the Indians in British Guiana, the West Indies, and East Africa, with the Arabs in Natal, and with the Malays at the Cape. When the Asiatic comes he is too apt to stay; and when he stays he rises in the social and economic scale. His very virtues are against him. If he were like the negro and could be kept permanently to unskilled manual labor, he would be less objectionable. Unhappily, he is not a savage, but a highly astute and capable person, who works pretty nearly as well as the white man at a fraction of the cost. Result—the Asiatic comes to drive the European out of all the handicraft trades and minor mercantile avocations. The history of Natal is a startling and painful illustration of this statement. Fifty years ago Natal, suffering badly from the shortage of labor, obtained permission to import coolies. They came—and conquered. The expression is really not too strong. Natal, the Garden Colony, which is eminently fitted to be the home of a fairly numerous British population, has now more Asiatics than Europeans. The Indians increase much faster than the whites, they are still coming in, and the bulk of them do not go back. By the time their indentures are out they have generally saved a little money, and with that they start farming, cultivate market gardens, or set up small shops. Thrifty, industrious, skillful, and able to live on an income on which white men would starve, they do well; so well that they are gradually getting the business of the colony into their own hands. In East Africa they are already the inant element, owning much of the best land and carrying on most of the retail trade.

This is the real reason why in Transvaal and Australia far-sighted people want to limit Asiatic immigration if it cannot be entirely prohibited. A country like the vaal needs a strong bourgeoisie, prosperous trading middle class. The Europeans are capitalists, landowners, and farmers; if Asiatic is allowed free ingress may begin as a coolie, but he eventually drift to the towns and most of the shopkeeping and of the work for which skilled artisans and clerks are required. The social balance, out of which a sound community may be constructed, will be disturbed; the European middle class will never be built if the Asiatic can settle freely, more than in India itself. The detoured Chinese, under the reparations caluse, is no danger in this respect; but the Indian government will not allow Asiatics to be brought in under these conditions, nor the Japanese government consent such terms for their emigrants. Australia. So the colonial governments adopt registration or a stringent illiteracy test as a means of controlling the inflow.—Sidney in London Standard.
