EIGHT DAYS WITHOUT FOOD

Nine Days Without Water—Dreamed
His Wife Had Brought Him
Bread—Waking, He Found
He Had Eaten His Mittens.

Louis Vallot of the French fishing schooner La Mimosa of St. Malo, who was rescued at sea by the Cunard liner Carmania after he had been adrift in an open dory fourteen days—eight days without food—thus relates his awful experience:

"My dory mate and I left the Mimosa at 4 o'clock on the morning of May 27. The weather was thick, and we could not pick up the first buoy. Finally a snow flurry came on, and as I felt that the boat was drifting I threw out a sea anchor. Then the sea suddenly rose, and I thought we had better get back to the schooner. So I cut away the sea anchor, and my mate started to row in the direction of our boat, but we could make no headway.

"Suddenly a big sea swept both of us overboard. I could swim, and in spite of my heavy boots I got back into the dory, but my poor mate, Pacifique Melin, was swept away. With him were carried away four out of five oars we had in the boat.

"When I got back into the dory I found that she was half full of water.

"As the day wore on I frantically tried to row back to the schooner. I cut one of the thwart of the boat with my big fish knife and made a rough oar out of it, but I could get scarcely any way on the boat. As night began to fall I went to the locker where our stock of provisions was stored. I found that when the seas had washed over our boat the provisions had become wet.

"I supposed, though, I must have dozed off now and then, but the first night seemed to me the longest I have ever passed. I thought of my poor mate. I thought of my wife and children in France, and I prayed the Blessed Virgin to save me.

"At last morning broke. I searched the sea for some sign of the Mimosa or some other ship, but I could see nothing. The first morning I cut a notch in the side of the boat to show that a day had passed, and this I did every day regularly after that.

"The next night was worse than the first; the weather was frightful; the sea seemed to be running mountains high. The boat was swamped over and over again, and I made up my mind I was going to be drowned.

"Finally I took stock of my provisions. I found at the end of the fifth day that the water had given out, and I only had food for one day more. After I had eaten my last biscuit I grew so thirsty that I took a small drink of salt water to wash it down.

"The next day I had no food, but toward night it began to rain, and I caught some of the water and drank it. Then I think I must have got light headed. The dory seemed to me to be full of people, and my wife came and gave me bread. I found in the morning that I had eaten half of one of my mittens.

"I had long ago lost all reckoning of where I was. The last night before I was picked up was frightful. I heard voices, voices, everywhere whispering to me, calling me. Then I grew frightened; the horrible loneliness appalled me.

"When morning broke I saw a ship. It was a long, long way off, but I blew my horn and shouted as long as I could. The men on the ship did not hear me, and she steamed away. I prayed, and then I saw another ship. God must have heard my prayer, for I saw her alter her course and come nearer to me, and I knew I was going to be saved. All my little remaining strength seemed to leave me once I was safe on the deck."

She Got Wise.

A Laramie woman went to the theater the other night with some friends, but when they were seated she was separated from her friends by a man and woman who seemed to pay no attention to each other. The woman figured out that if the two people would sit over a seat she would sit with her friends. Bracing up her nerve, she said sweetly to the man, "Beg pardon, are you here alone?" The man stared at the curtain as if he were drawing a salary for it. "I beg pardon," the woman said a little louder, "are you alone?" "Get wise," whispered the man hoarsely through the extreme corner of his mouth: "this is my wife."—Laramie Boomerang.

Your Liver

is out of order. You go to bed in a bad humor and get up with a bad taste in your mouth. You want something to stimulate your liver. Just try Herbine, the liver regulator. A positive cure for Constipation, Dyspepsia and all liver complaints. Mrs. F., Ft. Worth, Texas, writes: "Have used Herbine in my family for years. Words can't express what I think about it. Everbody in my household are happy and well, and we owe it to Herbine. Sold by D. J. Fry.

Rev. H. F. Tracy, vicar of St. Saviour's, Dartmouth, England, declares that in a few years curates will be as extinct as the dodo because the chance of earning a fair living after passing into middle age is a very remote.

Bad Burn Quickly Healed.

"I am so delighted with what Chamberlain's Salve has done for me that I feel bound to write and tell you so," says Mrs. Robert Mytton, 457 John St., Hamilton, Ontario. "My little daughter had a bad burn on her knee. I applied Chamberlain's Salve and it healed beautifully." This salve allays the pain of a burn almost instantly. It is for sale by Dr. Stone's Drug Store.

Bobby Remembered.

Binks after inviting his friend Jinks, who has just returned from abroad, to dinner is telling him what a fine memory his little son Bobby has.

"And do you suppose he will remember me?" said Jinks.

"Remember you! Why, he remembers every face that he ever saw."

An hour later they enter the house, and after Jinks has shaken hands with Mrs. Binks he calls Bobby over to him.

"And do you remember me, my little man?"

"Course I do! You're the same feller that pa brought home last summer and ma wuz so mad about it that she didn't speak to pa for a whole week."—Galveston News.

A Lazy Liver

May be only a tired liver, or a starved liver. It would be a stupid as well as a savage thing to beat a weary or starved man because he lagged in his work. So in treating the lagging, torpid liver it is a great mistake to lash it with strong drastic drugs. A torpid liver is but an indication of an ill-nourished, enfeebled body whose organs are weary with overwork. Start with the stomach and allied organs of digestion and nutrition. Put them in working order and see how quickly your liver will become active. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery has made many marvelous cures of "liver trouble" by its wonderful control of the organs of digestion and nutrition. It restores the normal activity of the stomach, increases the secretions of the blood-making glands, cleanses the system from poisonous accumulations, and so relieves the liver of the burdens imposed upon it by the deflection of other organs.

If you have bitter or bad taste in the morning, poor or variable appetite, coated tongue, foul breath, constipated or irregular bowels, feel weak, easily tired, dependent, frequent headaches, pain or distress "small of back," gnawing or distressed feeling in stomach, perhaps nausea, "rising" in throat after eating, and kindred symptoms of weak stomach and torpid liver, no medicine will relieve you more promptly or so effectively as Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. Perhaps only a part of the above symptoms will be present at one time and yet point to torpid liver or biliousness and weak stomach. Avoid all hot bread and biscuits, griddle cakes and other indigestible food and take the "Golden Medical Discovery" regularly and stick to it until you are vigorous and strong.

The "Discovery" is non-secret, non-alcoholic, is a glyceric extract of native medicinal roots with a full list of its ingredients printed on each bottle-wrapper and attested under oath. Its ingredients are endorsed and attested by the most eminent medical writers of the age and are recommended by cures of the diseases for which it is advised.

Don't accept a substitute of unknown composition for this non-secret medicine of known composition.
