DAYS' OUTING

Spring of ice cold water and conveniences at one time used by the owner. Farrell was one of the most popular men that ever lived in this region and he is remembered for kindnesses and generous in days gone by. There are beautiful nature pictures along the trail formed by the majestic and the beautiful Santiam and tumbling tributaries. Monday we spent in our blankets spring near the confluence of the river. We slept under the sentinels of firs and cedars up one, two and three hundred feet. Tuesday morning we had an enjoyable breakfast, and before six o'clock for the day's ride. The cabin at Mud Lake was the main cabin before reaching Wm. Lake on Pamela creek. The tramp from the latter to Pamela Lake, and the member of the party from Warner and the Tenderfoot to the two colts and the dog, were than glad to see it's children. Here the first persons to see were Mr. and Mrs. Culver had prepared for us a rare brook trout with its accompaniments, closing with a desert berry sauce and superior the older heads made camp. The colts started for the lake and their fishing rods and soon returned with 36 beauties. We had canvas cot bottoms and that enjoyed comfortable beds, in the open air. This was decided until it began to rain on Tuesday evening. Then we were to be in tents, and after the cleared up we made first-class feather beds of fir boughs as a bed for our blankets. We found several other camps, including a Portland minister's family, young people named Wright, Prof. Birdwell of the agricultural college. Prof. Lake had just returned home. The two had been fishing and bug-hunting for several weeks.

Week Judge Waldo and his family, composed of himself, Geo. S. Downing of Salem, Clinton and Frank Croner of H. M. Esterly and J. C. Banford of Portland. They brought them eight horses and an ant camp supply, including special camp inventions of the Judge's. They will remain about two weeks and then go to Marion Lake for a season returning. Judge Waldo is known as the sage of Oregon. He has about every spot of interest discovered many of the noted and passes. He is as much at home in the mountains as a fish in the water. Geo. Downing is considered a prize story teller and fisherman. The party, but it seems he will get two occupations mixed at times. It is also suspected at other that he doesn't quite know the one leaves off and the begins.

spend Sunday the 12th taking camp to Hunt's cove and beyond the "saddle" of the mountain. We swung around onto the east of Jefferson, but didn't try to reach the pinnacle. We could see the Fingert Jack, The Pyramids, the Canyon, and the Three Sisters.

It was too cloudy to see Mt. Shasta, but we could get a good view of the eastern Oregon wheat fields in the Matolas country. The party here amused themselves rolling mammoth rocks down into Black Canyon. They would go down a distance of nearly a mile and at the bottom as they rolled off over the snow beds they looked like tiny rabbits running across the drifts. Hunt's Cove is a beautiful chain of lakes lying in secluded spots of beautiful green surrounded by mammoth fir forests, mountain peaks and glaciers. Each bench seems to form an oasis in the mountain, and the connecting streams of pure snow water came roaring down the steep inclines in great beauty. These streams combine into what is known as Pamela creek and run down into the lake of the same name several thousand feet below.

This lake and stream were named after Miss Pamela Berry, of Fox Valley, who with her parents came out to cook for the surveying party that located the trail in 1874. One day she fell into the stream, and thereafter it was given her name. The lake is about a mile long by half a mile wide; it is from 20 to 30 feet deep, but is very low at present. The outlet is entirely underground as Pamela creek again comes to the surface about a quarter of a mile below bubbling out of the rocks, cold as ice.

Jerry and George have been our faithful and efficient camp cooks, but they took several valuable lessons from our ornithologist, while the two colts washed the dishes and supplied most of the fish. The tenderfoot kept up the camp fires and cooked the coffee, besides doing a little eating, fishing, visiting and reconnoitering on the side. Sheriff Culver is a true woodsman, and we could all depend upon him to see us out of unforeseen difficulties. He is a good hunter, but so far has been unable to locate any buck. Does and fawn are plentiful, but men of the woods fully respect the laws and humane impulses so that none of these ever suffer.

The packing business is all done by parties at Detroit, who send horses all through these mountains. A good packer is a camper's delight, but an incompetent one is one of the worst drawbacks that pleasure seekers can have, as most of them know little about such things. For this reason all in the mountains are anxious to know who their packer is going to be. The young man who took the stuff to our camp is tender in years, but without doubt as tough as they make them from some other standpoint. He could swear like a prince, a pirate, a trooper, or, if you please like a full-fledged packer. This young man was telling the crowd of campers one evening about the many good qualities of his concern, stating that they had only the best horses, the best alfalfa, the best packs and the best packers on earth. Each one of his statements was surrounded and reinforced with the most elegant samples of dynamic expressions that it would be possible to frame into the English language by even more pretentious persons. He not only disgusted the crowd by his superb ignorance, but his mastery of epithets as well. One of his auditors seemed to approve his statements about the superiority of the outfit, and ventured to suggest that he also had a very fine vocabulary. This delighted the young man, and in his ecstasy he responded: "You bet your life. My boss don't send a thing out but the best."

Swedish Prince to Jamestown Fair.

Norfolk, Va., Aug. 17.—A reception befitting his royal blood will be tendered his royal highness, Prince Wilhelm, grandson of King Oscar of Sweden, who is due to arrive here Monday on board the armored cruiser Fylgia of the Swedish navy. Diplomats, exposition officials, army and navy officers and society leaders will vie with each other in entertaining the young prince during his stay of three days in Norfolk. The United States navy will join in the reception and the battleships in Hampton Roads will boom out a royal salute upon the arrival of the Swedish cruiser with the prince on board.

Monday will be spent by Prince Wilhelm in paying and receiving calls. In the evening the prince will be the guest of honor at a dinner at the Hotel Chamberlain, given by Minister Lagerstrom, Sweden's diplomatic representative in Washington. Henning Fernstrom, Swedish vice consul, will entertain the prince at dinner on Tuesday evening, the banquet to be held at the Virginia club. On the same night the sixty Swedish naval cadets accompanying the sailor prince will be given a grand ball in the exposition convention hall.

From Norfolk the prince will go to Oyster Bay, where he will have an audience with President Roosevelt. At Newport, where the prince will arrive next Thursday, the social features incident to his American visit will reach their height. When he reaches the Rhode Island resort the usual salutes will be fired and he will receive a few callers on board the cruiser. In the evening he will dine with Mrs. Stuyvesant Fish, and will meet all of the most prominent members of the summer colony, numbering more than 100. From Mrs. Fish's dinner he will go to a ball to be given in his honor by Mrs. E. J. Berwind at her Newport villa, the Elms. The second day at Newport will be devoted to sightseeing about the city. In the evening Mrs. Ogden Mills, who entertained Prince Henry, of Prussia, on his visit to America, will give a dinner in his honor.

AN UGLY STAYTON RUMOR

A Review correspondent writes from Stayton that there has been quiet an exodus of male society leaders from that city of saloons and churches, caused by rumors of prosecutions for debauching two orphan girls of tender years. Among the departed are sons of very prominent business men and politicians of the town and vicinity. It is said that one prosecution was commenced against a stranger who butted in, but it was quickly smothered, as such a proceeding would involve a number of Stayton's social buds.—Jefferson Review.

What Ails You?
Do you feel weak, tired, despondent, have frequent headaches, coated tongue, bitter or bad taste in morning, "heartburn," belching of gas, acid risings in throat after eating, stomach gnaw or burn, foul breath, dizzy spells, poor or variable appetite, nausea at times and kindred symptoms?

If you have any considerable number of the above symptoms you are suffering from biliousness, rapid liver with indigestion, and Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery is made up of the most valuable medicinal principles known to medical science for the permanent cure of such abnormal conditions. It is a most efficient liver invigorator, stomach tonic, bowel regulator and nerve strengthener.

The "Golden Medical Discovery" is not a patent medicine or secret nostrum, a full list of its ingredients being printed on its bottle-wrapper and attested under oath. A glance at its formula will show that it contains no alcohol, or harmful habit-forming drugs. It is a fluid extract made with pure, triple-refined glycerine, of proper strength, from the roots of the following native American forest plants, viz., Golden Seal root, Stone root, Black Cherry bark, Queen's root, Bloodroot, and Mandrake root.

The following leading medical authorities, among a host of others, extol the foregoing roots for the cure of just such ailments as the above symptoms indicate: Prof. R. Bartholow, M. D., of Jefferson Med. College, Phila.; Prof. H. C. Wood, M. D., of Univ. of Pa.; Prof. Edwin M. Hale, M. D., of Hahnemann Med. College, Chicago; Prof. John King, M. D., Author of "American Dispensatory"; Prof. J. M. Scudder, M. D., Author of "Specific Medicines"; Prof. Lawrence Johnson, M. D., Med. Dept. Univ. of N. Y.; Prof. Finley Ellingwood, M. D., Author of "Materia Medica and Prof. in Bennett Medical College, Chicago." Send name and address on Postal Card to Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y., and receive free booklet giving extracts from writings of all the above medical authorities and many others endorsing in the strongest possible terms, each and every ingredient of which "Golden Medical Discovery" is composed.
