

JAPAN WANTS NO WAR

There are those who believe that time will come when America and Japan must fight for the mastery of the Pacific, but even if that time is many years away.

Neither country wants to fight. Neither country has any excuse for fighting. While the mastery of the Pacific may some day cause the countries to appeal to arms, neither of them today has the slightest desire for war, and neither has the slightest thing to gain from it.

Japan has her hands full in Korea, Manchuria, and America is not awake to the fact that her fingers are in the Pacific. That talk of war is silly because evident if one makes even a cursory examination of the facts.

In the first place, no one believes that the American government would initiate war, but there are many who believe that the Japanese government intends to do so. One states that it is as foolish as the other. Japan has no idea of making war on the United States, and even if she attempted to do so it would be impossible for many reasons.

Some one once said that in order to carry on a war a country needed things. The first was determination, the second men, the third equipment, and the other seven money. Admitting that the Japanese government possessed the first of these, determination to fight the United States, what of the other requirements?

First, money. Japan's lack of money, if nothing else, would serve to prevent war at this time. In 1902 the Japanese national debt amounted to $215,000,000, of which only $60,000,000 was held abroad. To the national debt is approximately $900,000,000, two-thirds of which is foreign. In 1902 the total revenue of the government was about $147,000,000, and the expenditures were about $144,000,000. The estimated revenue for 1907 was 120,000,000, and the estimated expenditures $506,000,000. This difference was to be made up by the floating of another loan of $100,000,000. On the foreign loans which Japan floated for the purpose of paying the expenses of the war with Russia interest is being paid at from 4 to 6 per cent, and on her internal loans the interest runs from 5 to 7 per cent. Efforts are now being made to withdraw the 6 per cent bonds and replace them with bonds drawing only 4½ per cent.

To secure her enormous foreign loans, made at a time when Japan was fighting for her very existence, the Japanese were forced to pledge most of their national income, their customs receipts and the receipts of the tobacco and other monopolies.

With this financial showing, where could Japan obtain the money required for a very long and very costly war? The money that defeated Russia came from America and England.

In a war with the United States what country is there that would take the chance of loaning Japan such an enormous sum? No matter how much sentiment there might be in Japan's favor—and there is at least one great power that would without doubt welcome such a conflict—sentiment has never been a failing of the great European bankers, and it is from them, in the end, that the money must come.—William H. Brill in Leslie's Weekly.

Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy Better Than Three Doctors.

"Three years ago we had three doctors with our little boy and everything that they could do seemed in vain. At last when all hope seemed to be gone we began using Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy and in a few hours he began to improve. Today is as healthy a child as parents could wish for."—Mrs. B. J. Johnston, Linton, Miss. For sale at Dr. Stone's drug store.

The Limit of Life.

The most eminent medical scientists are unanimous in the conclusion that the generally accepted limitation of human life is many years below the attainment possible with the advanced knowledge of which the race is now possessed. The critical period, that determines its duration, seems to be between 50 and 60; the proper care of the body during this decade cannot be too strongly urged; carelessness then being fatal to longevity. Nature's best helper after 50 is Electric Bitters, the scientific tonic medicine that revitalizes every organ of the body. Guaranteed by J. C. Perry, druggist. 50c.
