Draft Resolutions—

The members of the Marion County Bar Association met in special session last evening, at 7 o'clock in the court house, for the purpose of drafting resolutions th ematter of the death of the late Judge J. B. Waldo, who was one of the pioneer members of the association. A committee, of which L. H. McMahon was named as chairman, was appointed and empowered to draft a set of resolutions. After a short meeting the association adjourned to meet today at 1 o'clock at the court house, from which place they proceeded in a body to the Waldo funeral.

Wilson Paid $5—

D. M. Wilson, the timber land dealer, who was arrested upon a warrant sworn out by his wife, charging assault and battery, was yesterday arraigned before Justice Webster. The prisoner pleaded not guilty, but after a witness, who had heard the quarrel, had testified, the defendant was fined $5. The assault, as set forth in the complaint, took place Sunday night.

Desertion Is Charged—

Mrs. Elizabeth C. Carpenter has begun divorce proceedings in department No. 2 of the Marion county circuit court against Alfred O. Carpenter, charging desertion, which is set forth as having taken place on August 1, 1905. The parties were married in Oswego, Kansas, in February, 1902, and to the union was born a daughter, who is now 15 months of age. Besides a decree of divorce, Mrs. Carpenter asks the custody of the child. A. O. Condit appears as attorney for the plaintiff.

JUDGE WALDO'S FUNERAL.

Held at Grange Hall in Macleay and Largely Attended.

The funeral services of the late Judge John B. Waldo were held this forenoon at Grange Hall in Macleay, Rev. P. S. Knight officiating. Mrs. Hallie Parrish-Hinges sang for the occasion, and the attendance is said to have been the largest ever known at a funeral in that neighborhood. After the simplest, yet most impressive service, and after the friends had viewed the remains, the concourse proceeded to Salem, where the last that was mortal of this, one of Oregon's most notable and noble citizens, was laid to rest beside the grave of his father. Nearly the entire membership of the bar of this city, and many from other portions of the state, were in attendance.

FUNERAL THIS AFTERNOON.

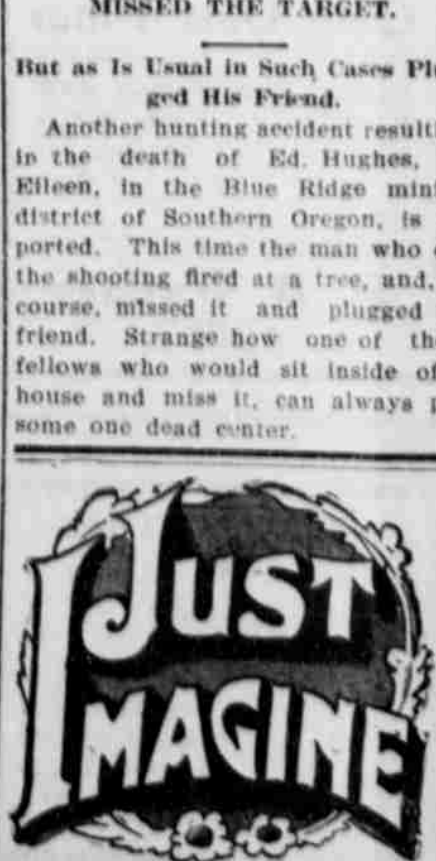

Many Pay Last Tribute to Departed Friend, and Heap the Mound Above Her With Flowers.

The body of the late Mrs. J. G. Wright arrived from Seattle on the 11 o'clock local train today, accompanied by Mrs. Ella Rosenberg and her daughter, Mrs. Greta Freleigh. They were met at the station by many relatives and old-time friends of the family, and the remains were taken to the Clough undertaking parlors. The funeral was held from there at 2:30 o'clock, having been delayed several hours by the fact that Rev. P. S. Knight was called to the Waldo funeral in the earlier part of the day. The pallbearers were ex-Governor Moody, Hon. Edwin Hirsch, C. B. Moores, J. W. Roland, R. B. Goodin and D. T. Brown. A large concourse of friends, in carriages and otherwise, accompanied the remains to Rural cemetery, where they were laid away in the family lot. Rev. P. S. Knight, who had been a lifelong friend of deceased, performed a short service and paid a high tribute to the departed at the grave. Mrs. Hinges, who has been a great favorite with the deceased from childhood, sang the beautiful numbers, "Remembered for What She Has Done" and "Nearer My God to Thee." There was a wealth of floral remembrances from very many of her friends, not only from Salem, but from Seattle, Portland, McMinnville and other points, where Mrs. Wright was known. Senator and Mrs. George S. Wright and others, of McMinnville, came over to pay their last tribute of respect.

MISSED THE TARGET.

But as Is Usual in Such Cases Plugged His Friend.

Another hunting accident resulting in the death of Ed. Hughes, of Elleen, in the Blue Ridge mining district of Southern Oregon, is reported. This time the man who did the shooting fired at a tree, and, of course, missed it and plugged his friend. Strange how one of these fellows who would sit inside of a house and miss it, can always pop some one dead center.
