with the intolerant, must be the rule."

Other American members oppose Mrs. Besant because of the new dogma promulgated by her that the affairs of the society are governed and her nomination and election made possible by invisible "masters" of the "spirit world." This infusion of the discredited doctrines of decaying spiritualism is a bitter pill for many Theosophists to swallow, and it is possible that they may spew it out, and the world's leader along with it.

An effort will be made to commit the convention to a moral code and to some expression of opinion that will prevent the society becoming a spiritualistic side show, with a "Little Bright Eyes," Indian guides, trance artists, mediums and slate writers. Smitten with the American idea that morality and decency are necessary requisites to high thinking and right living, the American members will attempt to adopt a provision that will prevent the society from becoming a refuge for moral perverts.

It is pointed out that Mrs. Besant, when prominent throughout the world as an atheist and a co-worker with Charles Bradlaugh, Robert Ingersoll and other famous freethinkers, preached a moral doctrine to which none could take exception, and that it only since she has become a quasi-believer in spiritualism that she has ceased to emphasize the necessity of right living.

What ever action may be taken, it is evident that the congress here will be an important one in the history of the Theosophical movement. Mildewed theories which flourished in Asia thousands of years ago will be rebashed and ventilated by gifted "initiates."

Occult and esoteric mysteries promulgated by the sages and wise men of India will be considered in the light of their modern applications and the interrogation points of the ages will meet with ready answers. Many prominent speakers are on the program, and the number of delegates already here gives promise of the most largely attended convention in the history of the American society.

The Theosophical society was organized in 1875 by Madam Helen P. Blavatsky and Colonel Henry Steele Olcott, the latter a veteran of the civil war and once a well known newspaper man. Its headquarters are in Adyar, India, where Mrs. Besant makes her home, and it is represented by bodies of followers in nearly every nation. Its lodges are self-governing and the individual members are required to subscribe to no fixed creed. Its purposes, in addition to forming a universal brotherhood, are to promote the study of comparative religion, philosophy and science and to investigate the unexplained laws of nature and the powers latent in man.

The Renewal Strain.

Vacation is over. Again the school bell rings at morning and at noon, again with tens of thousands the hardest kind of work has begun, the renewal of which is a mental and physical strain to all except the most rugged. The little girl that a few days ago had roses in her cheeks, and the little boy whose lips were then so red you would have insisted that they had been "kissed by strawberries," have already lost something of the appearance of health. Now is a time when many children should be given a tonic which may avert much serious trouble, and we know of no other so highly to be recommended as Hood's Sarsaparilla, which strengthens the nerves, perfects digestion and assimilation, and aids mental development by building up the whole system.

Illinois Has Strong Team.

Urbana, Ill., Sept. 14.—Spurred on by dreams of coming victories on the gridiron, with the championship of the west as the goal, the Illinois university team will begin its practice season Monday. Many of the players are on hand and others will arrive tomorrow. Tradition has it that the wearers of the orange and blue develop into a strong team every three years—and this is the third year. Not since 1904 has a crack eleven gone forth to uphold the football honors of the Illini.

Former Captain Artie Hall, the old halfback and end, is the head coach who is expected to produce a team able to wipe out the memory of the overwhelming defeat that the Illini suffered at the hands of the Chicago Maroons last year. Hall assisted in turning out the strong 1901 and 1904 teams, and the rooters believe he can more than repeat the performance now that he is chief coach. Hall will be assisted by Jus Lindgren, last year's coach, and by many football stars of the Illini of former years. Ikey Baum, who coached at Illinois nine or ten years ago, will come from New Mexico to give advice and assistance in whipping the team into shape. Several other former coaches and players have volunteered their aid in producing a winning team for their alma mater, among them Fred Lowenthal, Harvey Sconce, Jimmie Cook and Jake Stahl.

For the first time in a decade, the Illini will this year meet the Chicago Maroons on the home gridiron, the dates having been set for October 19. Purdue will also be played at home, while Wisconsin, Iowa and Indiana will be played away.

Attack of Diarrhoea Cured by One Dose of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy.

I was so weak from an attack of diarrhoea that I could scarcely attend to my duties, when I took a dose of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. It cured me entirely and I had been taking other medicine for nine days without relief. I heartily recommend this remedy as being the best to my knowledge for bowel complaints.—R. G. Stewart, of the firm of Stewart & Bro., Greenville, Ala. For sale at Dr. Stone's drug store.

Sam Jones Conference.

Carterville, Ga., Sept. 14.—Some of the most noted divines of the country will take part in the Sam Jones Bible conference, which opens tomorrow in the tabernacle here and will extend to September 22.

The sessions take the place of the annual meetings conducted in Carterville each year by the late Rev. Sam Jones. The opening sermon will be preached tomorrow by the Rev. W. Holcomb, director of the conference. Other prominent ministers who are expected to speak during the coming week include Dr. A. C. Dixon of Chicago, the Rev. W. E.

CAPITOL BAKERY, Phone 389. C. Ulson, Prop.

Beiderwolf of Monticello, Ind., the Rev. French E. Oliver of Chicago, the Rev. Melvin Trotter of Grand Rapids, Dr. and Mrs. Hamill of Nashville, the Rev. J. A. Bowen of Winona, Miss., and Rev. Charles N. Crittenton of New Jersey. The musical program is in charge of Evangelists Smoot and Rhodeheaver.

At the close of the tabernacle meetings last September, prior to leaving on his fatal journey to Oklahoma City, the Rev. Sam Jones interested a number of prominent citizens of this city in the formation of the Sam Jones Tabernacle association, the purpose of which was to perpetuate the work of the famous evangelist. His plan was to combine a Bible conference with evangelistic meetings, and this will be strictly adhered to in the program of the coming session.

BESANT AGAIN

Into the Limelight At Theosophical Meeting Today

Sept. 14.—Hundreds of delegates from all sections of the States and foreign lands, together "to form a nucleus of the Universal Brotherhood of Humanity without distinction of race, sex or color," are assembled in Windy City today to participate in the sessions of the twentieth convention of the American Theosophical Society, which opens tomorrow at the Waldorf Astor Hotel.

Preaching the gospel of a "new life" that is as wide and deep as humanity with a capital H—this is the prospect that the conveners may develop corners such as are not unusual to those who live on the "spiritual plane."

The possibility is due to the presence of Mrs. Annie Besant, of India, who was recently elected world president of the Theosophical Society in the late month of October. The opposition to her presence at the convention has been exceedingly strong, and it is freely expected that her presence at the convention will result in another "split" in the Theosophical Society.

Madame Fullerton of New York, who is general secretary of the Theosophical Society in America, has been one of Mrs. Besant's most strenuous opponents.

The American opposition to the presence of Mrs. Besant—even her enrollment as a member of the society—has been largely on ethical grounds, and the question of spiritualism enters. The more conservative elements among the Theosophists believe that Mrs. Besant will bring with her a "new gospel" that is therefore unwarranted.

It is the right to exclude his "new life" declares the feminine element. "None can claim for his thought or mode of life a fuller expression than he claims for that of another. Tolerance, even
