

MILLINERY AT THE REASONABLE PRICED STORE

We were unable to supply the demands for new hats for a few days after fair week, caused by the exceptionally heavy sales in this department during fair week, and the week preceeding.

Our Prices Are Right and All Work Is Guaranteed to Give Satisfaction

240 Commercial St. ROSTEIN & GREENBAUM 246 Commercial St.

SEATTLE HUSBAND'S TANGLE

(Continued from page one.)

Realizing that his surprise party was a failure, Jones cast about for other methods of entertainment for a lonely evening. The club did not look attractive, as he hankered for female society.

Surprise That Didn't Fail. Soon after he had been shown to his seats and had fairly started on the reminiscence program, he was startled and annoyed to see the supposedly absent Mrs. Jones enter this tent and take seats a few rows below him and the "former flame."

His change of mind soon became apparent to the "former flame," but as he had neglected to inform her of his plunge into the matrimonial sea he could not tell her why he had so suddenly lost his cheerful manner that had been a prophecy of a long, pleasant evening.

During the latter part of the show he was amazed to see Mrs. Jones turn and look squarely in his face without the slightest sign of recognition, and then continue her cheerful attention to her cavalier.

Then came the most thrilling part of the evening. Having selected the most quiet cafe in the city, Jones went in with his "F. F." to get the order over. He was further amazed to see his wife sitting at a table at the farther end of the same room, still chatting gaily away as though no such things as husbands existed.

What Shall the Poor Fellow Do? Letting himself into the flat, Jones went to his room to have the terrible affair over and done with. To his surprise he found Mrs. Jones slumbering sweetly. Upon being awakened she denied all of the things he accused her of in scathing anger and said that she had been spending the evening with friends and had framed up the out-of-town story for the benefit of other persons with whom she had desired to break a former engagement.

Going back to the room, he was amazed to find that Mrs. Jones had once more gone sweetly to sleep, as though no such thing as irate husbands existed.

And now Jones is in a terrible stew as to his proper course. He is still looking for the man with whom he saw his wife. But even should he find him, he is in a quandary as to what to do.

Meanwhile Mrs. Jones is saying nothing and sawing wood, while Jones is losing his appetite and on the verge of nervous prostration.

What the girl who was with Jones thinks nobody knows.

The happy young couple left Sunday evening on the late train for Lodi, California, where the groom has a home prepared for his bride. He will enter business with his father who is a resident of that city.

Marries Fair Oregonian.

Miss Lillian Quiner, a well known Eugene girl, was married Thursday at the home of her uncle, Mr. A. A. Hill in Clatskanie, to Mr. Earl Bidwell of Olympia.

Y. M. C. A. Social.

The first social event of the school year of the Y. M. C. A. will take place Saturday evening, when the varsity Y. M. C. A. will give a stag social in the gym.

Go to Newport.

Mrs. Augusta Eaton and daughter, Miss Harriett, left today for Newport, where they will spend the winter, Miss Eaton having been engaged as teacher in the primary department of the Newport school.

SOCIAL GOSSIP

Purvine-Bowerman Wedding.

The wedding of Ellis Purvine, of Arlington, Oregon, to Miss Mary Bowerman of this city will take place Sunday at the home of the bride's mother, near this city.

Randell-Pollard Wedding.

A wedding of interest to many Salem people is that of Miss Agusta Randell and Mr. William Pollard, which took place at the home of the bride's parents in Oregon City on Wednesday.

Buck-Beatty Wedding.

A pretty wedding took place last Sunday at the home of the bride's parents on Winter street, when Miss Lena Buck became the wife of Mr. George Beatty.

THE CHURCHES

Center and Liberty streets, F. E. Dell, pastor. All Sunday services as usual, with preaching by the pastor at 10:30 a. m. and 7:30 p. m.

Corner of High and Center streets. The pastor will review the work of the year, this being the close of his fourth year of service. Rev. Jesse P. Myers of Portland will occupy the pulpit at the evening service.

Corner Cottage and Chemeketa streets. Services at 11 a. m. Preaching by the past, Rev. Paul S. Handy. No evening service.

Church street near Chemeketa. Rev. Henry T. Babcock, pastor. Morning service at 10:30 a. m. Theme: "The Laborer is Worthy of His Hire."

Corner Cottage and Chemeketa streets. Services at 11 a. m. Preaching by the past, Rev. Paul S. Handy. No evening service.

Fifteenth and Mill streets. Sunday school at 10 a. m. Preaching at 11 a. m. and 7:30 p. m. Testimony and praise at 6:30 p. m. Friday evening prayer meeting.

On Cottage street between Center and Marion streets. Services tomorrow as follows: Sunday school at 10 a. m. K. L. of C. E. at 6:30 p. m.

On Cottage street between Center and Marion streets. Services tomorrow as follows: Sunday school at 10 a. m. K. L. of C. E. at 6:30 p. m.

DALLAS SCHOOL FAIR

Second Annual Polk County Exhibition Opened Yesterday

The second annual school fair given by the public school students of Polk county opened yesterday for a two-days' session in the old mill building near the college in Dallas.

At 3:15 more than 300 students of the Dallas public school, headed by the Summit band, marched from the school building to the pavilion, where music was enjoyed and exhibits viewed. The display of farm and garden products was extensive, there being a large quantity of each variety.

There was about 75 bread and cake exhibits, and the needlework and butter departments showed that the public school girls of that vicinity are being well trained to some day be ideal mistresses of the home.

The Evening Program.

The Summit band opened the evening program with a short concert, and at 8 o'clock Superintendent H. C. Seymour, of Polk county, acting as chairman, introduced Professor Reynolds of the reform school, who brought out the fact that there was good in all the children, and if they only had the proper training would make desirable and valuable citizens.

Professor Cole, of the Oregon Agricultural College, presented the necessity of getting the children interested in the farm and its products. The professor is a forcible speaker, and handled his subject in a manner that held the interest of his large audience.

State School Superintendent Ackerman then addressed the audience on general school training. The professor presented his subject in a manner that immediately appealed to the children, as well as the older people present.

The idea of the annual school fair was brought to a realization last year by County Superintendent Starr, and the work has been successfully carried on by his successor, Superintendent Seymour.

Miss Schnell, of the Oregon Agricultural College; Miss Hutchins, of the Portland Y. M. C. A.; Professors Cole, of Corvallis, and R. Scott, of Milwaukie, will award the premiums to the exhibitors today.

"For Mother's Sake."

The advance agent of "For Mother's Sake" which will be seen at the Grand opera house on next Monday night, when questioned about his attraction modestly replied: "The public must know we give a highly satisfactory product."

A Bold Step.

To overcome the well-grounded and reasonable objections of the more intelligent to the use of secret medicinal compounds, Dr. R. V. Pierce, of Buffalo, N. Y., some time ago, decided to make a bold departure from the usual course pursued by the makers of put-up medicines for domestic use, and so has published broadcast and openly to the whole world, a full and complete list of all the ingredients entering into the composition of his widely celebrated medicines.

By this bold step Dr. Pierce has shown that his formulas are of such excellence that he is not afraid to subject them to the closest scrutiny.

Not only does the wrapper of every bottle of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, the famous medicine for weak stomach, torpid liver or biliousness and all catarrhal diseases wherever located, have printed upon it, in plain English, a full and complete list of all the ingredients composing it, but a small book has been compiled from numerous standard medical works, of all the different schools of practice, containing very numerous extracts from the writings of leading practitioners of medicine, endorsing in the strongest possible terms, each and every ingredient contained in Dr. Pierce's medicines.

Advertisement for Scott's Emulsion, featuring an illustration of a woman and child, and text describing its benefits for health and strength.

Advertisement for Chamberlain's Salve, including a testimonial from a man who has used it for rheumatism and other ailments.

Real estate advertisement listing various properties for sale, including homes and commercial lots in Salem, Oregon.

Advertisement for Dr. King's New Life Pills, promoting its benefits for digestive health and overall vitality.

Advertisement for the Oregon State Bank, highlighting its capital of $25,000 and its commitment to providing excellent banking services.

Advertisement for Beecham's Pills, describing their benefits for sleep, digestion, and overall health, and promoting Beecham's Balm for Sleep.