SOCIAL GOSSIP

The season of gaiety will soon be on and many prominent social events are scheduled by the Salem society people. The Steiwer-Connell wedding was the leading social event of the past week and called forth many Salem people and a large number of guests from out of town.

Steiwer-Connell Wedding.

The marriage of Miss Helen Steiwer and Mr. Elmer T. Connell, which was solemnized Wednesday evening at 7:30, at the Steiwer residence in this city, was of great interest, not only locally but throughout the valley. Rev. P. S. Knight performed the ceremony in the presence of about 80 guests.

Mrs. Ernest W. Reed of Portland was matron of honor, and wore her wedding gown of cream material and carried yellow chrysanthemums. She was formerly Miss Birgene Witche, a college mate of Mrs. Connell. Misses Hannah Connell and Mary Steiwer were bridesmaids and were charming in white lingerie frocks, carrying arm bouquets of yellow chrysanthemums.

Mr. Percy Blanchard attended the groom. Misses Ruby and Lyle Steiwer, sisters of the bride, played the wedding march, Lohengrin.

The bride was beautiful in her wedding gown of cream satin striped crepe de chine. She wore the veil and her flowers were the large fluffy white chrysanthemums. She is the oldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Steiwer, an old and prominent family and is one of Oregon's most beautiful women, being of the stately blonde type, of charming personality and winsome manners--traits that have won for her friends wherever she is known. She attended school at Corvallis and is well known in the college circles of the state.

Mr. Connell is the son of Mrs. Thos. Connell of Portland, and was a member of the last legislature from Columbia county, being one of the youngest members thereof. He is a graduate of Amherst college, of the class of 1902. During his short stay in Salem last winter he made many friends, whose best wishes follow him and his fair bride.

The decorations of the home were simple, but the more artistic for that reason. In the room where the ceremony took place white and green was the color scheme, smilax and illusion being the principal materials used. The bridal couple stood beneath a large lover's knot of illusion, through which was vined dainty strands of smilax. Shasta daisies were also used in some of the other rooms. In the dining room, pale pink carnations were very effective. Autumn foliage was also used.

The guests were received at the door by Mrs. Ray Gilbert and Mrs. Lester Saterlee.

Mr. and Mrs. Connell left on the night train for Portland. They will be at home at Deer Island, after November 15. The bride's going away dress was of navy blue cloth, tailored, with hat to match.

Among the guests from out of town were the groom's mother, Mrs. Thos. Connell, Miss Hannah Connell, Miss Lavilla Connell, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Connell, Mr. and Mrs. Fraser, Mr. and Mrs. Barlow, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Olds, Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Bennett, Miss Muriel Williams, Ethel Honeyman, Katie Fay, Carlotta Parker, Mrs. E. W. Cornell, Mrs. Harriett McArthur, Mrs. Edward J. Felling, Dr. and Mrs. Allen Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Reed, C. N. McArthur, T. S. McGrath, Robert Kinney, Percy Blanchard, all of Portland; the bride's mother, Mrs. W. M. Steel, of Turner; Miss Mary Steiwer, of Fossil; Mrs. Lester Saterlee, of Tacoma; Miss Lulu Renshaw, of Eugene; Chas. C. Patrick, of Independence, Thomas Nolan, Misses Carrie Danneman and Mabel Withycombe, of Corvallis; Miss Florence Tongue, of Hillsboro; Mr. and Mrs. Marion Looney, Mrs. D. H. Looney, Dr. and Mrs. Allen, of Jefferson, Mr. and Mrs. N. H. Looney and daughter, Miss Mildred Looney, of the reform school.

Entertain Pupils.

Miss Iris Hannah, teacher of shorthand in the Capital Business College of this city, entertained the young ladies of her classes last Saturday afternoon from two to five at her home on State street. The whole affair was very informal and was given that the young ladies might become better acquainted with each other, making the school relations more pleasant. Music and a guessing contest in which Miss Mabel Broyles captured the prize were the amusements of the afternoon. Miss Maud Hill also played several piano numbers.

Among the students are Misses May Vercler, Myrtle Duncan, Mary Yantis, Ruth Stanley, Mabel Broyles, Katherine Van Dyn, Marguerite Klein, Ada Jones, Hedvig Carlson, Emma Schweizer, Jennie Best, May Vercler, Versilla Grimes and Carrie Magness. Misses Maud Hill, Irene and Margaret Howard and Marguerite Putman, former students, were also present.

Elks Dancing Party.

The Elks and their ladies enjoyed the first club dancing party of the season at the club house Thursday evening. Excellent music was furnished and needless to say it was an enjoyable occasion. They give these affairs once every month.

The musical program included a song by Miss Lulu Renshaw, of Eugene; a solo by Prof. McElroy on the cornet; a tenor solo by Mr. Williams; a baritone solo by Mr. Dekebach; a solo by Miss Gladys Rulofson, of San Francisco. Prof. von Jessen was the pianist. It is the intention to have these social gatherings each month.

Former Salem Girl Weds.

Announcements have been received in this city of the marriage of Miss Una Georgia Baker to Mr. Walter Inch, which took place Sunday, October 6, at the Baker home in Portland.

Miss Baker will be remembered by her many friends in this city. She is a daughter of Prof. L. H. Baker, a former principal in the Salem public schools, and is a very charming and accomplished young woman. Mr. Inch is a Portland man.

Delightful Newport.

Newport, Or., Oct. 10, 1907.

A trip to Newport at this season of the year is well worth the taking. The mountains are covered with a dozen colors, all blending into one beautiful whole, the brilliant tints of the vining maple mingling with the sombre shades of the fir.

We noticed the abundance and fine quality of the apples growing over in this section. They seem to be free from worms or disease, and if shipped to Eastern markets would bring a small fortune to their owners.

On account of the extremely high tides just now they say the salmon are not running in the bay, and the enthusiastic fishermen from Salem and other towns are leaving for Waldport, Alsea and other places, where the fishing seems to be better.

The weather is simply delightful now--there is none of the wind which July and August visitors find so disagreeable, and the sunshine is bright and warm--in fact, simply ideal "lazy" weather, and one is not surprised that the inhabitants here take life easy. The store keepers shut up shop and go fishing, and no one thinks anything of it.

That people are appreciating the beauty of Newport in October is shown by the fact that there are more people here this year than ever before.

There are a number of Salem people here now. Col. L. K. Page and Dr. W. A. Cusick have been spending a few days at Waldport, and report catching some large fish.

Mr. and Mrs. George Pearce are at Alsea fishing.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Downing came over Monday, and are at the Abbey House.

Mr. and Mrs. Jephtha Hunt and Mrs. Henry Downing, of Shaw, are spending a week here.

Col. Olmsted came over from Waldport Wednesday, and is fishing on the bay.

Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Averill are spending their honeymoon at Nye Creek.

Miss Elthel Frizzell is at her cottage, "Pine Ridge," for a several weeks' outing.

Reception at Kimball College.

Dean and Mrs. H. D. Kimball, of the College of Theology, gave a reception to the new students and their wives on Friday evening. The large auditorium on the second floor was tastefully decorated for the occasion. After prayer by Rev. Dr. W. H. Selleck, addresses were made by President J. H. Coleman, of the University; Dean Kimball, Professor Sherwood, Professor Washburn, Professor Reynolds and Students Goudge and Marquam. Refreshments were served and a delightful social time enjoyed. The good dean and wife showed themselves to be royal entertainers.

Artisans Entertain.

The United Artisans held the regular monthly open meeting last night in the opera house block and royally entertained about 200 of the members and friends. These social events of the Artisans are always enjoyable, and that last night probably surpassed any given by that live order for some time. An orchestra of seven pieces furnished music, the excellence of which can be expressed by saying that the following musicians composed the band: Mrs. D. F. Carnes, piano; Charles Kurth and Miss Lillian Stege, violins; H. N. Stoudenmeyer, cornet; Edward Capper, cello; Ivan G. Martin, bass, and William Best, trombone.

At 8:30 o'clock the spacious hall was aglow with light, and filled with the loyal members of Capital Assembly and their invited guests, and, after a few introductory remarks by Master Artisan Martin and a selection by the orchestra, the daughter of "Hule," the well-known Chinese merchant, sang "America" in a manner that greatly pleased the audience. Mr. Edward Capper rendered a cello solo, "My Rosary," in a way that showed him to be a proficient performer on that rich-toned and difficult instrument. The reading given by Miss June Patty, "The Courtin'" was given hearty encore. Miss Patty is a excellent reader carrying her audience into the spirit of the author and retaining her expressed picture in manner that is far above the average amateur.

It is not necessary to connect the vocal solos rendered by Herliette. It is sufficient to say the audience gave him encore after encore. The doctor's number was always appreciated.

Mr. Chester Catlow captivated audience with his story of his successful proposal. Many of the young ladies in the audience sigh of relief when his lady was the story married another. Mr. Catlow, as well as Miss Patty, is a pupil of Mrs. Savage, dean of the College of Oratory of Wilamette University.

After several more selections the orchestra the happy throng paired to the dining hall where cream and cake were served. The social hour was spent in many games as "fruit basket," drop handkerchief, etc., which brought out the spirit of the young people and caused the senior guests to turn again in memory to the days of their childhood.
