A Live Sunday School—The Sunday school of the First Christian church last Sunday added $300 to the annual pledge for the salary of the pastor. Sunday before last the school pledged $200 for the building fund, in addition to what it had already paid, and took up $100 in cash as a free will offering for the fund. Dr. H. C. Epley is the superintendent of the school, which is growing in numbers and in the spirit of giving in proportion to the size of its leader.

THE TWO CONVENTIONS.

Both Baptists and Congregationalists Hold Busy Sessions.

The Congregational Association elected Rev. Oakley, of Oregon City, moderator, and Rev. Body, of Forest Grove, scribe. Rev. P. S. Knight, of Salem, gave an important historical address. Wednesday forenoon the regular program was carried out, with a leading feature by R. J. Hendricks, of the Statesman. He discussed child labor, and thought there should be state as well as national regulation. He made an eloquent plea for the freedom of the child, its right to rational development along lines of playful activities, and, above all, that it should be robbed of no essential element or experience of its childhood. He was heartily applauded. Tonight Rev. Luther R. Dyott, of Portland, delivered his maiden address at Salem.

What Baptists Did. The Baptist state convention heard the annual report by the treasurer, James F. Failing, who, instead of the traditional deficit, disclosed about $400 surplus. A great feature was the introduction of 16 new ministers, some men of national prominence, who were given a knock-down to the convention. General missionary for Oregon, W. B. Pope, of McMinnville, submitted his annual report, showing great strength and vitality to the church movement along Baptist lines.

Smith-Palmer—A marriage license was issued this morning to Charles M. Smith, of Jefferson, aged 36, and Fay Palmer, of Marion, aged 25, W. T. Rigdon witness.

Want Oregon Lands—Secretary of State Benson is in receipt of a letter today from parties in South Africa, asking for information about Oregon public lands, saying they are American-born and desire to locate in the land of God and Big Red Apples.

Happy in Oregon—Jos. H. Albert, of the Capital National bank, and wife returned from a ten-days' trip to the Lewiston, Idaho, Interstate fair, where he met his partner, Roy Goodhue, who is in the creamery business, and the firm is making about half the butter in Idaho. They also went to Spokane, where they met Herbert Wilson, an old Salemite. They spent a few days at Toppenish, where they visited a large colony of the Oregon Nursery Company. It is called the Washington Nursery Company, but it is manned with Oregon men, run by Oregon brains and with Oregon capital. Fr. J. Wiggins is mayor of the Oregon contingent. Mr. Albert says, with a little better farming methods, this valley has everything on the Pacific coast skinned and tanned by a thousand miles at least. He says it would improve all the orchards here to put a little water on them—would increase the size and quality and color of our fruit.

Wonder what the governor of South Carolina said to the governor of Oregon?

DRAWN LARGE AUDIENCE.

Strong Addresses Fill the Church With Interested Listeners.

Mr. Dorris was greeted last night by another splendid and appreciative audience. "The Attitude of Christ to the Church" was the topic, and those who were fortunate enough to hear it were treated to a most thorough analysis of the subject. The evangelist is growing in the hearts of the people, and many are deeply interested. A number are inquiring concerning these great problems that confront the church today, and Mr. Dorris is provoking thought along some old lines that many have ceased to regard with much emphasis. The living issue is sometimes dead to the multitude, and the evangelist is rousing the interest in these things that should have been held as prominent and paramount in the religious world. "Christ's Attitude to the Church" is a theme that needed a reinvestigation, and the audience gave attention, and were feasted. Tonight the subject will be "The World's Savior on His Knees." Thursday evening, "What Is Baptism?" The question box is at the disposal of those who are anxious to know the way out of difficulties.
