FINANCIAL SITUATION IN SALEM

New York are not available, and in view of the further fact that the series of holidays axowed for the purpose of giving time for the Portland banks to ship coin in makes it unsafe to undertake to open for business on a normal basis. The course of Portland was necessitated by the attitude of the reserve cities south and east refusing to ship western banks balances due them. I believe the real cause for depletion of bank balances at Portland was the ambition of Portland banks to transact the entire business attending the moving of crops in the whole northwest which includes heavy Puget Sound cargoes. For instance, exporters of Seattle and Tacoma, instead of receiving the proceeds of their sterling drafts from New York by shipment of their balances direct to them, sent their sterling drafts of exchange to Portland banks for collection, and immediately calling upon them for the balances thus created. Had the Portland banks confined their transactions of this character to the proceeds of the crops of Oregon and that part of Washington which ships out of the Columbia river, I believe the necessity would not have arisen for a holiday proclamation. Do not lose sight of the fact that the immediate and direct cause was the refusal first, of the New York banks, and second of the other reserve city banks, to ship either coin or currency to correspondents having balances with them.

The Salem State bank is the youngest bank in the city and I have been connected with it from the beginning. The bank has always opened up at the usual hour and paid all checks upon demand, and expects to continue to do so. We sympathize with the Portland banks in their dire distress. We have had no withdrawals of any consequence—five in all to date amount to less than $1000. They were four women and one man. Our deposits are $25,000 larger than a week ago, our cash is almost the same. We have money on the way from New York and from the San Francisco mint.—J. P. Rogers, president Salem State bank.

"The people are trustful and are withdrawing no money in this part of the country. We have taken in as much as we have sent out the past week. In the past two weeks we have sent $5000 to Portland and had at the beginning of this trouble $101,000 in cash on hand and with correspondents. Conditions here very favorable and the people are making no unusual demands whatever. The governor has done the right thing in extending the holidays until all have adjusted themselves to the better conditions that will surely come about with a fuller understanding. Take the money we have on hand and which we hold in Portland, Chicago, New York and San Francisco banks. It cannot be stolen it cannot be eaten. All the banks cannot break. It must return to its natural channels and every dollar of it belongs to the people who have no other place to go with their money but the banks. This scare will teach us all some valuable lessons and the whole country will be stronger and all banks will be safer for it. Some big concerns may suffer, but the result will be beneficial.—J. M. Poorman, Bank of Woodburn.

A dispatch from Aurora this morning says: The Aurora State Bank opened up for business today after the holiday proclamation was issued by the governor, and has been doing business right along. They only closed one day. The bank has plenty of resources, was never in better condition, and financiers who are in a position to know, say it is one of the most solid banks in the state. There has been no run on the bank, and the depositors have the utmost faith in the soundness of the institution.

X-RAYS

If the paper trust keeps on raising prices, some of the New York stock certificates may yet become of actual value.

P. T. Barnum's widow was married recently for the fourth time. She evidently thinks as did her husband that the people like to be fooled.

An exchange says that persons taking out marriage licenses during the declared holidays "do so at their own risk," but what's the difference? That's what people always do on that occasion.

It is to be hoped the Warren Construction Company's work will not develop so many ugly holes as their State street paving contract.

A news correspondent says Taft is looked upon by the Japs as a "dove of peace." Yet "dovey" does not seem like the proper term of endearment for one of Taft's build.

Gladys Vanderbilt was given $12,000,000 in a minute by the probate court in New York recently. This is the preliminary step toward the Hungarian count whom she is to marry scattering it in Europe. Thus does the charming great grand daughter of the old American railroad pirate come to the aid of the effete descendants of her grand dad's prototypes, the robber barons of the Rhine and Rhone.

A Pussian newspaper predicts that there will be war between Japan and the United States when the Panama canal is completed, but that need not worry the present generation.

St. Louis should be able to secure the Democratic national convention, and perhaps the Republican. It has demonstrated its ability to furnish gas and send up balloons.

Mr. Bryan, in the Commoner, remarks that "any way copper stocks that are 97 per cent water are not so good as silver dollars with 50 cents worth of silver in them," and on this occasion every sensible man will agree with "the great commoner."

BUY AURORA HOPS.

Five Hundred Bales Bought for Shipment to London.

Aurora, Nov. 4.—There was some movement in the hop market in this section last week, and a number of sales made. Ed. C. Herren bought the following lots of hops for direct shipment to London: Frank Fish, 70 bales; Glen Carothers, 77 bales; Dave Kell, 89 bales; H. H. Smidt, 147 bales; Charles Cecke, 116 bales; in the Aurora district, Andrew Welshaar, 41 bales at Champeog, and 66 bales from Bernard Nys at Gervais. The price paid was between 8 and 9 cents. The scarcity of cars and storage room is working a hardship on the buyers as well as the growers. Every available storage place is filled with hops, and until they are moved no more can be bought. The hops bought by Ed. Herren were shipped to Portland by river, via Butteville. H. L. Bents, who is buying for direct London shipment, has had to turn down some good buys, owing to lack of cars and storage facilities, and all the other dealers are in the same fix.

Sheriff's Report.

Sheriff Culver has submitted his semi-annual statement for six months ending September 30, 1907, to the Marion county court. The report in part is as follows:
 Cash on hand April 1, 1907, collected on the 1906 tax roll $243,824.95
 Collected since that time up to October 1, 1907 31,557.90
 Total $275,382.85
 The tax roll for the year 1906, balanced up and including October 7, 1907, with the delinquent taxes extended in the proper columns, has been returned by the sheriff, and the following statement is compiled therefrom:

Total amount as extended on roll $344,837.08
 Assessments made by sheriff 2429.66
 Penalty and interest charged 1,685.38
 Total $346,952.13

Badly Mixed Up.

Abraham Brown, of Winterton, N. Y., had a very remarkable experience; he says: "Doctors got badly mixed up over me; one said heart disease; two called it kidney trouble; the fourth, blood poison, and the fifth stomach and liver trouble; but none of them helped me; so my wife advised trying Electric Bitters, which are restoring me to perfect health. One bottle did me more good than all the five doctors prescribed." Guaranteed to cure blood poison, weakness and all stomach, liver and kidney complaints, by J. C. Perry, druggist, 50c.

A pest of snails has been the means of stopping many of the water mains of the city of Chicago.

LINGERING COLD.

Withstood Other Treatment But Quickly Cured by Chamberlain's Cough Remedy.

"Last winter I caught a very severe cold which lingered for weeks," says J. Urquhart, of Zephyr, Ontario. "My cough was very dry and harsh. The local dealer recommended Chamberlain's Cough Remedy and guaranteed it, so I gave it a trial. One small bottle of it cured me. I believe Chamberlain's Cough Remedy to be the best I have ever used." This remedy is for sale at Dr. Stone's drug store.

Holland has 1,900,000 miles of canals and ditches for drainage and irrigation.

A Reliable Remedy for Croup. Mrs. S. Rosenthal, of Turner, Michigan, says: "We have used Chamberlain's Cough Medicine for ourselves and children for several years and like it very much. I think it is the only remedy for croup and can highly recommend it." For sale at Dr. Stone's drug store.
