Decency Wins a Great Victory in San Francisco

WRECK AT STEEL BRIDGE MAINS MEET IN FOG

WESTERN PACIFIC PASSENGER TRAINS INTO O. R. & N. LINES AT EAST END OF PORTLAND STEEL BRIDGE, KILLING SWITCHMAN.

(United Press Leased Wire.)

Portland, Nov. 6.—Eastbound O. R. & N. passenger train No. 8, Portland local collided with the incoming Southern Pacific passenger train No. 16, at the sharp curve in the fog just off the steel bridge at 10 o'clock this morning, killing Frank W. Glass, a railway switchman, and injuring three other men.

The fog was dense and the engines of both trains were unable to see yards ahead of their pilot.

The big passenger train lumbered over the bridge, it swung sharply in the "S" curve in the tracks at the end. As it did so the yellow light of the headlight on the switcher shined through the mist. The switcher and fireman escaped by jumping, but Glass, who was in the engine, was crushed to death. The injured men were able to take care of themselves, and left the scene of the wreck before their names could be secured.

According to the time schedule there should be ten minutes between the passing of the Pendleton local and the Southern Pacific limited from San Francisco. The fog had delayed the train and a five-minute wait on the bridge because of an open draw cut their time margin still further. When the engineer crossed the bridge he states that he saw the flagman from No. 16 run out of the fog and signal him to hold up. This he did, but No. 16, unable to see the flagman, came on and crashed into the local. Both engines were demolished and traffic delayed several hours.

Suicide Was Deliberate.

Visalia, Cal., Nov.—With arrangements for his funeral made four years ago, ohn Baughm, cashier at the Santa Fe depot, in this city, committed suicide this morning. After delivering an order to a train, returned to his desk, drew a revolver and shot himself through the heart. Before he expired he placed his pistol in a drawer of his desk. No cause for the suicide can be assigned except that he believed himself to be short $62 in his accounts. Investigation of his books showed his accounts to be straight.

Old Men Will Go Back.

Chicago, Nov. 6.—Superintendent Cooke, of the Western Union, said today that if the strike is called off tonight the old men will be put back to work without prejudice. Forty-six returned yesterday and 26 the day before, and many applications were received today. The strike-breakers who are competent will be retained.

ELECTION A PEOPLE'S VICTORY TAYLOR IS ELECTED

WILL HAVE MAJORITY OF 9000—LANGDON RE-ELECTED DISTRICT ATTORNEY BY 12,000—GOOD GOVERNMENT SUPERVISORS ARE PROBABLY ALL ELECTED.

(United Press Leased Wire.)

San Francisco, Nov. 6.—The count of the ballots cast yesterday continued slowly through the night, but up to 8 o'clock this morning it had proceeded far enough to partly confirm last night's estimate that Taylor leads his opponent by at least 10,000, and that Langdon defeats McGowan by at least 20,000.

It is more than likely that the remainder of the Good Government ticket is elected.

The rejoicing in the city over the result is unrestrained, the most jubilant being the workingmen themselves. On their way to work this morning groups of toilers would stop before the bill boards showing pictures of Taylor, and give three cheers for the successful candidate.

San Francisco, Nov. 6.—The Call and Chronicle, who supported Taylor, are jubilant over the result of the election. The Examiner, which sneered at Taylor's candidacy, claiming that the Mayor of San Francisco should be something more than "a nice, clean old gentleman," refrains from saying whether or not it likes the result, contenting itself with giving the credit of Taylor's election to the Union Labor votes.

The Call says: "The triumph of good government stops the mouths of nearby carpers, like Los Angeles. It silences the malicious tongues of Puget Sound. It sets us right with the world. It is an invitation to capital, wherever it may be, backed by the strongest possible guaranty of safety, stability and a just and equal administration of the laws. It is conclusive evidence that our gigantic task of rehabilitation is not so big that we have lost sight of municipal morals; it signifies convincingly that here material rehabilitation goes hand in hand with civic regeneration a vivid forecast of the new, clean, prosperous, progressive city that is already well advanced in the making."

"This signal victory closes the infamous chapter in our history that began with Schmitz and Ruef in power and showed in its last pages Schmitz and Ruef in jail. Also it marks the passing of the period of class feeling and class hatred for those whose existence there was never any better reason in this community than the contemptible reasons of self-seeking politicians, whom Ruef educated in all civic villainess."

The Chronicle says: "Let peace once more reign in this city. Let us end the wretched agitation which for the past six years has been stirring up class hatred and industrial warfare. Let those who have not yet rehabilitated themselves thank God, take courage and proceed with their plans."

"Yesterday was a great day for San Francisco. It was the turn of the tide. It was the beginning of the ascent to nobler ideals and better days. The passion of the conflict will soon die away. With an honest government assured capital will not shun us, but seek us."

The Examiner says: "The final count will show that Taylor has been elected mayor by Labor Union votes. "No such majority would be possible without them, and it is a creditable refutation of the slander that workingmen care only for their class and have no regard for government that they did pile up a big majority for Dr. Taylor."

"It does not matter that Union labor did not accept our advice and center on Ryan instead of Taylor. They are as free to reject advice as we to give it; but it does matter vastly to this republic that they centered on the man they thought most likely to beat McCarthy."

San Francisco, Nov. 6.—Mayor Taylor, speaking of the result of the election, said:

"The victory is all for San Francisco. It was no man's fight, and no man's victory. All the candidates whom the people have elected to office with the head of the ticket stood for good government. With the whole world looking at us, we could not fall down. San Francisco has redeemed herself in the sight of the world. The people were aroused, and when the people assert themselves they are found on the right side. As for myself, I thank the people from the bottom of my heart for the confidence they have shown in me. I am elected to the office without having made a single promise, and without having spent a cent in campaigning. My sons got out a picture card, I believe, but even that was not my fault. I am just as free to obey my best judgment as when I first took the office."

"Only one promise was asked of me during the campaign, and that was by the liquor men. I told them I would make no pre-election promises. I have not."

William H. Langdon said: "The victory is most gratifying to me, as it means the approval of the official course of the district attorney during the last term, and a command to continue the work before the courts until those who have been guilty of crimes against the government have been brought to justice. The splendid support given my candidacy by the labor people shows that the issue was clearly understood by them, and they voted for honesty and decency in governmental affairs. San Francisco has been redeemed."

San Francisco, Nov. 6.—At 11:30 this morning the indications were that the count would not be completed until late tonight or early tomorrow, only 23,452 votes out of an estimated total of 50,000 having been counted up to that hour.

The vote stood as follows: Taylor, 10,885; McCarthy, 7386; Langdon, 14,027; McGowan 9001. Based on the same per centage, and the estimated total vote of 56,000, these figures would indicate the following results: Ryan, 9000; McCarthy, 19,000; Taylor, 28,000; Langdon, 34,000; McGowan, 22,000.

The fight is close between Mulcrey, Union Labor, and McCabe, Good Government, for the city clerkship, with the chances favoring Mulcrey. Koster, Good Government, for auditor, has a slight lead over Horton, Union Labor.

The count of the votes cast for supervisors has not proceeded for enough to make an accurate estimate. There is little doubt, however, that the Good Government people are in the majority.

Taylor Claims 17,000.

San Francisco, Nov. 6.—In a bulletin posted at the Good Government headquarters this afternoon it is claimed that Mayor Taylor polled more votes than Ryan and McCarthy combined, and that his estimated plurality is 17,000.

Pennsylvania Is Republican.

Pittsburg, Pa., Nov. 6.—Complete returns give Sheatz, Republican, for state treasurer, a plurality of 175,000.

Big Vote in Massachusetts.

Boston, Mass., Nov. 6.—Anti-corporation sentiment and a split in the Democratic party enabled Governor Guild to win a re-election by one of the largest Republican pluralities ever polled in Massachusetts. His plurality, as shown by revised totals, is 102,000.

Barton Still Running.

Cleveland, O., Nov. 6.—Burton, the defeated candidate for mayor, says he will continue the fight against the "machine government," as he calls the Johnson administration, and says he will be a candidate for re-election to congress next fall.

GENERAL ELECTION RESULTS JOHNSON WINS OUT

KENTUCKY ELECTS REPUBLICAN GOVERNOR—RHODE ISLAND A DEMOCRAT—NEW JERSEY IN DOUBT—MORMONS BEATEN IN SALT LAKE CITY MAYORALTY FIGHT.

(United Press Leased Wire.)

San Francisco, Nov. 6.—Governors were elected in six states yesterday, with the following results:

- Maryland, (Dem.), probable, Austin L. Crothers.
- Mississippi, (Dem.) E. F. Noel.
- Rhode Island, (Dem.) James H. Higgins.
- Massachusetts, (Rep.) C. J. Guild, Jr.
- New Jersey, (Dem.), probable, Frank S. Katzenbach, Jr.
- Kentucky, (Rep.) August E. Wilson.

In New York City and county, where the interest centered on the fight between the Independence League-Republican forces and Tammany, the latter won by a majority in the neighborhood of 25,000.

Tom Johnson was re-elected mayor of Cleveland by a plurality of 3000 or 4000. It looks like the 3-cent fare would be accepted without contest by the traction people.

Big Republican gains were shown in Kentucky, where the Republican ticket was elected, and Louisville elected a Republican mayor.

In Massachusetts Curtis Guild, Jr., Republican, was re-elected governor by 75,000 plurality over Henry M. Whitney, Democrat, with Thomas L. Higgen, Independence League, a close third. John B. Moran, Independence League, was re-elected district attorney of Suffolk county by 20,000 plurality.

At Salt Lake City the anti-Mormon party elected John S. Bransford for mayor.

Pennsylvania Republicans rolled up a plurality of 175,000 for J. O. Sheatz, who headed their ticket for state treasurer.

In Nebraska the Republicans elected Reese to the supreme court over Loomis, Democrat, by about 25,000.

Ex-Boss Cox came back into his own in Cincinnati, and elected his man, Leopold Markbreit, mayor, and in Toledo Brand Whitlock held the mayoralty, in spite of the pulpit onslaughts made upon him.

In Rhode Island James H. Higgins was re-elected governor, with the entire Democratic ticket.

The Democrats carried Brooklyn, electing the McCarren ticket by a small plurality.

In New York state, Edward T. and Willard Bartlett, joint nominees of the Democrats and Republicans, are elected, and the legislature remains strongly Republican.

In New Jersey the election is close, with indications pointing strongly to the election of Katzenbach, Democrat, by a small majority. The Maryland contest for the governorship is in doubt, owing to the lateness of returns. Chairman Van Diver, of the Democratic state committee, claims the state by 12,000, and conservative estimates give the Democrats victory.

Higgins, Democrat, Elected.

Providence, R. I., Nov. 6.—Governor Higgins, on the complete returns, is re-elected by a plurality of 2480. The rest of the state officials are Republicans.

Close Call in Ohio.

Columbus, O., Nov. 6.—The Ohio legislature still shows a Republican majority of two, the Independent Democrats holding the balance of power in the senate, and the Republicans having three to the good in the house.

More Dry Illinois Counties.
Chicago, Nov. 6.—Complete returns show that five new counties have been added to the "dry" territory in Illinois. They are Hardin, Union, Pope, Massa and Williamson.

Hearst Shows Strength.

New York, Nov. 6.—Though Tammany has a clear plurality of 26,000 for its sheriff and judges, it failed to bury Hearst, as it said it would do. Tammany had hoped for a 65,000 plurality, and this would have proved that Hearst is no longer a political factor in New York, and that Tammany is all powerful. The latest figures show that the Hearst vote in Greater New York is 70,000.

Kentucky Very Close.

Louisville Ky., Nov. 6.—Returns from the mountain counties will not be in for several days, but, on the face of the returns thus far received, the Republicans carried the state by a slight majority. The Democrats, however, will not admit defeat, and claim that complete returns will show them to be the victors.

Sacramento, Cal., Nov. 6.—The recall carried by one vote. The balance of the ticket ran as follows:

Mayor—Clinton L. White, Republican, 3134; M. R. Beard, Democrat, 3019.

For auditor and assessor—Fred W. Carey, Republican, 3753; W. D. Comstock, Democrat, 2379.

City collector—L. H. Spaulding, Democrat, 3672; Peter Runau, Republican, 2443.

City attorney—S. Luke Howe, Republican, 3356; D. L. Donnelly, Democrat, 2662.

City treasurer—C. M. Prodder, Republican, 3327; —, Democrat, 2810.

Teamster Teaches Governor.

(United Press Leased Wire.)

San Francisco, Nov. 6.—An automobile in which Governor Gillette, with his wife and son, were riding Tuesday afternoon struck a small boy as the latter jumped from a Turk street car near Octavia. The boy, Robert Byrne, was taken to the Emergency hospital for treatment.

Byrne, who is a 15-year-old errand boy, says he was "hijacking" a ride on the car, when the conductor threatened him. The boy jumped in front of the machine.

The chauffeur was unable to stop the auto, and it struck the youth, throwing him heavily to the pavement. A crowd quickly gathered, and some one picked the boy up and was going to put him in the auto with the governor.

The state's chief executive, seeing the boy was not seriously injured, demurred until a teamster from a passing wagon got off and threatened to do some damage if the suffering boy was not taken in the machine post-haste to the hospital. The boy was then taken in the auto and hurried to the hospital.

Raymond Hitchcock Surrenders.

New York, Nov. 6.—Raymond Hitchcock surrendered to the police this morning.

Hitchcock was accompanied to Jerome's office by his wife and two attorneys. He was ordered released on $7500 bail by Judge Whitman, and the bond was immediately furnished by Martin Engle, the former Tammany leader.

The comedian was pale and haggard, and a mere shadow of his former self when he staggered into the district attorney's office. He was immediately arraigned under the six indictments against him. He pleaded not guilty on one of the counts, and bond was at once fixed, the court paroling him on the remaining five counts. He will remain in the nominal custody of his attorneys until called for trial.

Hitchcock's jocular, debonaire air is completely gone, and he appears to be suffering intensely.

It is reported that the comedian will appear in his old role in "The Yankee Tourist" tonight. His attorneys claim to have affidavits from the girls mentioned in the indictments declaring that they were not wronged by Hitchcock.

It is said that Hitchcock will tell where he was in a song. His attorneys promise to expose a sensational blackmailing and persecuting plot.
