The Gong Rings.
The meeting was called to order at 7:30 by Mayor Rodgers and the following aldermen noted present, Gesner, Greenbaum, Radcliff, Lowe, Stockton, Waldo, Stolz and Haas. Bayne, Jacobs, Downing and Frazer joined the ranks a little later in the proceedings.

Alderman Lowe submitted a letter from George E. Wagner of the fire alarm syndicate asking that his company be allowed to send an expert to put the fire alarm boxes in order so that they would be satisfactory to the city. Mr. Wagner claimed that Mr. DeVarney and other expert electricians of Portland say that the system installed is all right and if properly connected will work, and stated that if the city accepted the system he would furnish any extra boxes or requires at cost.

Alderman Greenbaum moved to allow the company 10 days in which to perfect the system to the satisfaction of the council and if this work proved a success to pay $1100, the price which was agreed upon between the company and the old council.

Downing Takes a Flier.
Councilman Downing considered that the old contract had been broken when the fire boxes which had been installed had failed to work within the thirty days allowed and with Mr. Stockton thought that the council should have a chance to testify fully render a part in the

PLOTTING AGAINST RUSSIA

PARLIAMENT TO GO

PLOT TO DESTROY ALL OF THE FAMILY OF THE CZAR IS THE SCHEME REVEALED BY CONSPIRACY OF SERVIAN REVOLUTIONISTS.

(United Press Leased Wire.)
Vienna, Nov. 20.—A conspiracy to blow up the national assembly and murder Prince Nicholas and all the members of his family, his ministers, to seize the government and form a union of all the Servian-speaking countries, was discovered today, according to dispatches received from Cattinje, the capital of Montenegro. A hundred arrests have been reported, including former Premier Radovic. Many of Montenegro's influential men and several relatives of the prince were in the plot. When Radovic was arrested the plot was revealed by one of its principals.

STAGE STRUCK

Hand of Millionaire Is Declined By a Los Angeles Millionaire

(United Press Leased Wire.)
Chicago, Nov. 20.—Stranded in Chicago with hundreds of other members of her profession, Miss Diane Ost, a handsome Memphis girl, has declined the hand and wealth of a Los Angeles millionaire, preferring the glare and glitter and incidental tribulations of a stage life to an existence of opulent ease.

YOUTH

CLAIM AGAIN REJECTED

(United Press Leased Wire.)
There is no foundation or truth in the story sent from Salem to a Portland morning paper that Governor Chamberlain kicked R. D. Hume, the Rogue river salmon king, out of his office Tuesday, after having some words over his claim for money spent in carrying on hatches for the state. Hume did go to the state fish commission vigorously and Governor Chamberlain did call him down, and told him not to make any threats as to what he would do to the commission, but if he had any remedy to go into the courts and establish his rights. The altercation was rather lively, as both men are noted for their not taking any bluffs and in this case the bluff of the salmon king was called by the doughty executive in no mild words. Hume left for San Francisco last night fully convinced that he need look for no relief from the state fish commission, but must go to the courts for whatever he will recover.

SENSATIONAL TESTIMONY IN MINING SUIT CAUSED WOMAN TO FAINT AND EVEN LAWYERS TO TURN PALE AT THE DEMONSTRATION.

(United Press Leased Wire.)
Tacoma, Wash., Nov. 20.—Twenty miners who have been employed by the Northwestern Improvement Co., in the Ravensdale mines, testified before Judge Hanford in the federal court that it is the custom of the mining corporation to keep the miners supplied with quantities of dynamite and caps, which would blow all to certain destruction were it to be exploded by a falling stone or a spark from a lamp.

Sterned against the Northwestern Improvement Co. for $20,000 damages alleged to be due the plaintiff because of the loss of an eye and ear in an explosion at the Ravensdale mines.

The plaintiff, when placed on the stand, removed a glass eye from an empty socket by way of illustrating the extent of his injuries. The effect of this action was startling, several women spectators fainted and even the attorneys in the suit turned pale.

Brown to her. She tried to hide her emotion while looking at the record of her old love. Samples of the letters were as follows:
"Beloved, I love you in the truest and best sense that a man loves woman, not alone for the passion between us, but in a higher, truer way I love to be with you, hear you, be close to you. This morning when I got up I wished that I could hear you sing a sweet song, that it might ring in my ears till I saw you again. Good-bye, dear wife, good-bye for a brief period. I will write every mail My life, my hope, my all is bound in you, and you only; be good to me, love me as I do you. As ever your own Arthur."

SWAMPED WITH SENTIMENT

THE BRADLEY TRIAL

SENSATIONALISM IS INTRODUCED AT EVERY TURN IN THE TRIAL OF WOMAN WHO KILLED AN EX-UNITED STATES SENATOR IN COLD BLOOD.

(United Press Leased Wire.)
Washington, Nov. 20.—Mrs. Bradley resumed the witness stand at 10 o'clock this morning.
A breakfastless curiosity made a crowd of women who were shivering at the doors of the court house at 6 o'clock this morning awaiting an opportunity to get seats. There was not a score of men in the crowd. The court again today told the spectators that they would be ejected if any demonstrations were made. Mrs. Bradley looked worried. Taking a seat she whispered to Judge Powers. A moment later on the stand she identified letters written

Brown Deserved Something.
One letter specifically acknowledged little Arthur as "our" child. It reads:
"My own dear wife, never so dear or near, I am all yours today. 'Cast thy bread upon the waters; it shall return to you after many days.' Your message came this morning, waiting love of my darling from the Pacific as a chinook wafts its balm over the land. Take good care of our little Arthur. Keep at him until he has the wit and brilliancy of his mother. Remember the quotation: 'Your blood, commingled with mine, yet shall mount the throne of kings.'"

ANTI-SALOON DECISIONS

Causes Campaign to Be Started Up in Illinois Against Property Owners

(United Press Leased Wire.)
Chicago Nov. 20.—A sweeping decision by the Illinois supreme court that owners of property rented for saloon purposes are liable for damages in case of the illegal sale of liquor by their tenants was made public yesterday. It proved a surprise to the organizations of citizens and clergymen that have been fighting the liquor traffic in Illinois. It was an equally great surprise to the officials and representatives of the liquor interests.

On the receipt of the opinion of the court the anti-liquor force held celebrations and at once laid plans for a new and extensive campaign in which both property owners and liquor dealers are to be made the target.

The court's ruling is more sweeping than in any similar case heretofore. It places property owners in danger of wholesale prosecutions, especially in cases where saloon keepers themselves have not much property on which to recover damages.

WALSH USED THE DOUBLE CROSS SCHEME

Revelations in His Frenzied Financiering Fast Being Made.

(United Press Leased Wire.)
Chicago, Nov. 20.—More amazing revelations of Walsh's banking methods were made public today by Bank Examiner Moxey. One day in January, 1905, Walsh deposited seven memorandum notes for $92,000 each, and drew out $644,000. The security was a lot of second-hand mortgage bonds of the Wisconsin-Michigan railway, said to 35 miles long, and with but little traffic. The government charges that they were worthless. The same day Walsh got $125,000 by selling at par to the Chicago National Bank 239 bonds of the Mount Olive & Stanton Coal Company. It is charged that these bonds have no market value.

Up to noon the evidence showed that Walsh withdrew from his three banks $3,395,389 of his depositors' funds, and that he used the names of clerks to get the money.
