AVE ATQUE VALE.

The last poem of Nora May French, written the day before she ended her young life at the Sterling bungalow at Carmel-by-the-Sea, near San Francisco. The poem throbs with a note of tragedy.

It gathers where the moody sky is bending,
 It stirs the air along familiar ways—
 A sigh for strange things dear forever ending,
 For beauty shrinking in these alien days.

Now nothing is the same; old visions move me.
 I wander silent through the waning land,
 And find, for youth and little leaves to love me,
 The old, old lichen crumbling in my hand.

What shifting films of distance fold you, blind you,
 This windy eve of dreams, I cannot tell;
 I know through some strange mist they grope to find you—
 These hands that give you Greeting and Farewell.

WANTS EUROPE TO SQUELCH MONTE CARLO.

Hall Caine is calling upon the powers of Europe to combine and close the Casino at Monte Carlo, which he calls "the thieves' kitchen of Europe. This is what he says:

"I think it atrocious that conditions which are put down in all the greater countries of Europe should constitute the only reason for the separate existence of the little kingdom of Monaco.

Everybody says that the prince of Monaco is an enlightened man, with no particular love of Monte Carlo and its Casino, and, of course, it is impossible to ask him voluntarily to surrender the chief source of his income.

But what would you say to us in the Isle of Man if for our own profit we established conditions which you prohibit in England, Ireland and Scotland?

You would say, as you did a hundred years ago when our people were smuggling, "STOP THAT, OR WE WILL STOP YOU."

Have not the powers of Europe, by whose protection the kingdom of Monaco exists, a right to say that the laws of Monaco shall not encourage a vice which is demoralizing not only to its own people, but to the peoples that come to it from across the frontiers, north, east and west?

The sooner that is done the better, for then Monte Carlo may become what nature meant it to be—one of the most enchanting places in the world.

"But is it not a fact that the little kingdom is well ordered and well governed?" many persons ask.

It neither is nor ever can be, whatever the good intentions of its governors, while it appeals to one of the worst passions in humanity.

I have been to Monte Carlo about once every year for a few years, and I say without hesitation that while it is a God-blessed corner of the earth in climate and scenic beauty, IT IS MORALLY THE PLAGUE SPOT OF EUROPE.

Of course, there are thousands of people to tell you they have been there every year for thirty years and never yet saw the evils of which others complain.

There are always people who are as blind as bats and can see nothing.

Monte Carlo is the resort of good people of all kinds, but it is also the rallying ground of the worst criminals in the world, the most dangerous men and the basest women.

GOODS ROADS; CHEAPER HAULING.

A convincing argument that it pays to expend money in the construction of good roads is that products may be marketed more cheaply and quickly, too.

Frank Terris, a farmer who attended the Washington Good Roads association convention in Bellingham last week, explained HOW GOOD ROADS HAD PAID HIM.

He raises a great deal of cabbage. Last year he raised 100 tons and year before 120 tons. In 1905, before the road from his farm to the market was improved, he did not undertake to haul more than one ton of cabbage a load.

By the harvesting season of 1906 the road had been improved and he HAULED TWO AND ONE-HALF TONS AT A LOAD.

He lives sixteen miles from the market.

He believes that for every dollar spent for good roads the people will get $20 back.

One can soon compute the saving to him.

With a crop of 100 tons, it would take a man and team 100 days to take it to market with roads in the condition they were formerly.

After they were improved it would take a man and team but forty days to market the same crop.

THERE IS A SAVING OF SIXTY DAYS' WORK OF MAN AND TEAM.

A writer in Outing recently computed the financial advantage of good roads.

To haul a ton ten miles on dirt roads is worth $2.50, or 25 cents per ton per mile.

When a road is improved with gravel or macadam or other firm material and the grades are made easier, a two-horse team, he finds, can haul from three to four tons (so that the cost of marketing products at a distance of ten miles is reduced from 25 cents per ton per mile to 7 or 8 cents per ton per mile.

CERTAINLY IT PAYS TO EXPEND MONEY FOR GOOD ROADS.

Cooper Explains Reason for Remarkable Average of Boston Callers

During L. T. Cooper's recent stay in Boston, it is estimated that 65,000 people talked with him and purchased his medicine. This is an average of over 2000 a day.

His success was so phenomenal as to cause universal comment both by the public and the press. There must be a reason for this. Here is the reason given in his own words by Mr. Cooper when interviewed on the subject. He said: "The immense numbers of people who are calling on me here in Boston is not unusual. I have had the same experience for the past two years wherever I have gone. The reason is a simple one. It is because my medicine puts the stomach in good condition. This does not sound unusual, but it is in fact the key to health. The stomach is the very foundation of life. I attribute 90 per cent of all sickness directly to the stomach.

"Neither animals nor men can remain well with a poor digestive apparatus. Few can be sick with a digestion in perfect condition. As a matter of fact, most men and women today are half-sick. It is because too much food and too little exercise have gradually forced the stomach into a half-sick condition. My medicine gets the stomach back where it was, and that is all that is necessary."

Among Boston people who are staunch believers in Mr. Cooper's theory, is Mr. Frank D. Brown of 57

Bloomington street, Chelsea, Mass. He says:

"For five years I have sought relief for indigestion, stomach trouble and dyspepsia, spending nearly all my wages with doctors and obtaining no results. I had dull pains across my back, radiating to the shoulders. I had splitting headaches, which nothing seemed to cure. There was a gnawing and rumbling in my stomach and bowels. I was troubled with vertigo and dizziness, and at times almost overcome by drowsiness.

"I felt tired and worn out all the time, my sleep was not refreshing, and I would get up in the morning feeling as weary as when I went to bed. My appetite was variable—ravenous at times, then again nauseated at the sight of food. Sometimes my face was pale, at other times flushed. I was constipated and bilious (and had catarrhal affection in nose and throat, which caused me to hawk and spit a great deal, especially in the morning. I heard so much of the Cooper remedies that I decided to try them. After taking one bottle, a tapeworm 50 feet long passed from my system. I felt better almost immediately. All my troubles disappeared as if by magic, and my improvement was rapid. I now feel entirely well, and can honestly recommend Mr. Cooper's medicine to anyone who suffers as I did."

We sell the Cooper medicines which give universal satisfaction.—J. C. Perry.

Biliousness and Constipation.

For years I was troubled with biliousness and constipation, which made life miserable for me. My appetite failed me. I lost my usual force and vitality. Pepsin preparations and cathartics only made matters worse. I do not know where I should have been today had I not tried Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets. The tablets relieve the ill feeling at once, strengthen the digestive functions, helping the system to do its work naturally.—Mrs. Rosa Potts, Birmingham, Ala. These tablets are for sale at Dr. Stone's drug store.

Unsatisfactory Drain.

The tiling which has been placed in the gutters of Court street at the crossing of the alley just east of the Knight building has been placed so high that at least an inch and a half of water stands in the gutters above the tile. The property owners have entered a protest to the street authorities and as a result the pipe may be dug up and either sunk deeper so as to be on a level with the gutter or the approach cut back into the walk which would eliminate the tile.

Deafness Cannot Be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars free. F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, O.

Sold by druggists, 75c. Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.
