SPENT WARM EVENING

was spending too much money and could not afford a lux- that would not go off.

Alderman Low said that the system first installed worked well with exception of the strike on the bell and a few of the boxes leaked and favored giving the company a business chance that it may fill the boxes.

A motion to lay the matter on the table resulted in a tie vote and the council declared it carried.

Getting After the Electric.

Alderman Gesner introduced a resolution which was to the effect of the Portland General Electric given notice to vacate the concrete bridge if the company did not comply strictly to the time limit of giving its share for the structure that for every day beyond that which the company occupied a trolley to charge them $10. The resolution was referred to the committee to confer with the Portland General about building a new bridge for the line. Mayor Frasier as a member of the committee said that the proposition had been taken up with the company to it to construct a bridge across the creek east of the concrete bridge that the company considered the property owners wanted too much for their property and suggested that a bridge could be built on the west side of the present track of the street and one side of the concrete now fortifying the street. The company told the mayor three weeks ago that an expert engineer would be sent up from Portland to investigate the feasibility of the plan but he has not arrived in this city.

Councilman Frasier reported that the steel bridge had been completed and that the structure was in the best condition for crossing teams and pedestrians.

The committee on health and police disapproved the appointment of a police for Yew Park which was questioned at last meeting. The resolution was adopted. The residents of Yew Park asked for a special police to rid them of tramps and other objectionable characters but the committee claim that there is a citizen acting as officer for that district and that the appointment is not necessary.

About Two Little Lights.

Alderman Greenbaum and Gesner fired a few shots in the dim glow of two incandescent lights which the dry goods member moved he ordered swung near the south Salem school. One at the corner of Second and Lafayette streets and the other at the corner of South High and Lafayette streets in Pleasant Home addition.

After Alderman Downing had spoken pathetically of the hard times, Gesner asked if an agricultural experiment station was to be established and if the mover wanted to light up the woods in the country out south of the city. He said that the present council was so full of business men that the funds were swamped.

Isidore Swats Alonzo.

Greenbaum responded by saying that if a little bill was introduced such as to swing two lights in the dark streets at a cost of $1 per light that councilmen would hesitate, but when a $12,500 bill confronted them for the construction of a concrete bridge they would fall all over themselves to pay it. The round ended with an order to establish the lights. It was a crushing blow below the belt that was handed Alonzo but after a few gasps he recovered his wind.

The most exciting chapter in the proceedings occurred when Alderman Gesner presented a resolution which set forth the action of the grand jury in the matter of dealing with the concrete bridge in which he as chairman was interested.

Heads for the Whitewash.

The venerable senator and engineer and land surveyor and political manager asked that the same should be spread on the minutes of the council proceedings. The resolution fully exonerated the bridge committee by giving the findings of the grand jury. The document stated that Alderman Stolz had introduced the motion to refer the matter to the grand jury and after a lengthy discussion the council ordered the name of Councilman Stolz stricken from the resolution.

Mr. Stolz said that he had no objections to having his name appear as the mover of the investigation.

Alderman Gesner in defense of his resolution said that the grand jury had declared the bridge committee innocent and that since the newspapers which had been so anxious for the investigation did not "have manhood" enough to say that the committee had been exonerated he believed that it was but proper that the council should spread the resolution on its proceedings.

Stockton Took Off His Gloves.

A motion to lay the matter on the table was lost, and Council Stockton arose and said in reply to Mr. Gesner: "The eloquent and flowery speech of the gentleman who has just taken his seat is all very nice and his remarks in regard to the removal of insinuations affecting the character of certain members of the council is indeed very splendid, but I wish to inform the members that I have sat in this room and heard the gentleman accuse Alderman Downing—"

"The gentleman is out of order," said the mayor in his impulsive style and began rhytmatical hammering with his gavel which threatened to break the little wooden table.

Alderman Stockton without any hesitation continued: "I know that I am out of order, but I have heard the gentleman charge Alderman Downing there of graft and also a former member of the council who—"

The Mayor as Referee.

"You're out of order—take your seat—the gentleman is out of order," roared the mayor.

"Who," continued the dry goods man, "preceeded my colleague."

"You are out of order I tell you," said Rodgers. "Take your seat."

"I am done and down," said the speaker.

"You gentlemen will get me hot pretty soon" said the mayor and then it was ordered to spread the resolution on the minutes.

Haas Collars the Electric.

The curtain dropped and the next scene of importance came when Councilman Haas introduced a motion to sue the Portland General Electric for the sum of $40 which was said to be the damage done the fire hose which was cut in two by a car on State street during the Meyers fire. Alderman Haas said he was not in favor of taking any chances with the Portland General and was in favor of holding back a $425 bill which was finally ordered paid the company. After some argument the council authorized the city attorney to begin an action for $40 against the car company.

Under the order of "new business" the matter of the improvement of 12 streets, from State to Union, was taken up and specifications adopted. The council ordered that the Southern Pacific company be asked to plank the crossing at Twelfth and State streets. It was also decided to advertise for bids on the improvement for five days.

The canvass of votes of the recent election was read and the committee's report adopted.

An amendment to the city's bicycle ordinance was read for the first and second times. The amendment prohibits bicycles, tricycles and go-carts from using any sidewalk abutting on any street paved with hard pavement.

TO REFER TO OTHER CONFESSIONS.

State Wants to Throw Open Entire Case in Trial of Steve Adams.

(United Press Leased Wire.)
Rathdrum, Nov. 20.—The state sprung a surprise on the defense in the Steve Adams case today when it made an attempt to bring in the evidence of other confessions, alleged to have been made by Adams in relation to other crimes, in which the defendant is said to have been involved with officers of the Western Federation of Miners. At the time

Thousands Have Kidney Trouble and Never Suspect It.

Prevalency of Kidney Diseases.
Most people do not realize the alarming increase and remarkable prevalence of kidney disease. While kidney disorders are the most common diseases that prevail, they are almost the last recognized by patient and physicians, who content themselves with doctoring the effects, while the original disease undermines the system.

What To Do.
There is comfort in the knowledge so often expressed, that Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney remedy, fulfills every wish in curing rheumatism, pain in the back, kidneys, liver, bladder and every part of the urinary passage. It corrects inability to hold water and scalding pain in passing it, or bad effects following use of liquor, wine or beer, and overcomes that unpleasant necessity of being compelled to go often during the day, and to get up many times during the night. The mild and the extraordinary effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases. If you need a medicine you should have the best. Sold by druggists in fifty-cent and one-dollar sizes.

You may have a sample bottle and a book that tells all about it, both sent free by mail. Address Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. When writing mention this paper and don't make any mistake, but remember the name, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and the address, Binghamton, N. Y.

of the first trial of Adams in Wallace last February no such attempt was made by the state for the reason that they did not want the defense to become familiar with the evidence which might be used in the Haywood case.

Now the state wants to throw open the entire case. In event of the state being allowed to ask the defendant about the other confessions it is stated that one of the state's witnesses on rebuttal will surely be Harry Orchard.

The attorneys for the defense are making ready to fight against the extradition of Adams in the event of his acquittal. It is sure that in event of his acquittal he will be arrested here on the charge of the murder of a man named Collins at Tulluride, and it is said that the Colorado officer is already on his way to this state with the papers.

MURDERS HIS WIFE AND SELF.

San Diego Saloon Keeper Sends Bullet Through His Pleading Better Half.

(United Press Leased Wire.)

San Diego, Cal., Nov. 20.—Joe Rogers, a saloon keeper shot and killed his wife and then committed suicide at the corner of Front and A streets this morning. Mrs. Rogers was trying to persuade her husband to come home with her, when Rogers drew a revolver and shot the woman who was within three feet of him. Then Rogers turned the gun to his own forehead and fired, his body falling across that of his murdered wife. It is said by neighbors that Rogers had threatened several times in the last year to kill his wife, although no one appears to know the cause of their trouble. They are survived by five children, ranging from eight to 16 years.
