OPPORTUNITY.

To every life there comes a time supreme;
 One day, one night, one morning, or one noon,
 One freighted hour, one moment opportune,
 One rift through which sublime fulfillments gleam;
 One time when fate goes tiding with the stream,
 One Once in balance 'twixt Too Late, Too Soon,
 And ready for the passing wavering beam.
 Ah! happy he who, knowing how to wait,
 Knows also how to watch and how to stand
 On life's broad deck alert, and at the prow,
 To seize the happy moment big with fate
 From opportunity's extended hand
 When the great clock of Destiny strikes Now!
 —Mary Ashey Townsend.

THE OREGONIAN DODGES THE ISSUE.

"The Oregonian is accused of failure to give the people discriminative editorial guidance."

"Why, it is inquired, doesn't the Oregonian name some man really and properly fit for the office of governor, and put its iron heel on all these cheap pretenders?"

"In a news article it was proper, we suppose, to print a list of men of the two parties who may offer themselves as candidates."

"It is not the province of the Oregonian to pick out the nincompoops, pig-stickers and two-bit politicians among them."

"And it is a fair guess that every 'pig-sticker' and 'two-bit politician' and 'absolutely unfit man' among them would deem himself as well qualified for the office of governor, or for any other office, as their kind friend, Mr. Hofer, is for the editorship of a newspaper."

"NOW WOULD THE OREGONIAN SAY IT WOULD DISAGREE WITH THEM?"

In conclusion the Oregonian calls the editor of The Capital Journal "the erratic man," "the wild man," etc., etc.

Exactly the point we wanted the Oregonian to admit: "IT WOULD NOT DISAGREE WITH THEM." For revenue it would not disagree with any man's estimate of himself for a public man except some man it does not like.

Yet the Republican party in Oregon refuses to elect any Republican who would be the tool of the Oregonian. As soon as they elect a man AND FIND HE IS THE TOOL OF THAT PAPER THEY TURN HIM DOWN.

As it always does when cornered it dodges the issue. What we contend for is that the Oregonian blames the Republican party for not lining up for candidates indiscriminately.

What the people blame the Oregonian for is that it has utterly failed to give the people any guidance in matters political and HAS FAILED TO GIVE THE REPUBLICAN PARTY ANY LEADERSHIP.

It has played personal politics and the people have turned that down. They have not turned down the Republican party in Oregon WHEN REPUBLICAN PRINCIPLES WERE INVOLVED.

The Oregonian has boasted for aspirants indiscriminately without telling the people what kind of dimensions a man should have for a certain office.

If the Republicans elect the next governor of Oregon it will not be because the Oregonian has given them any discriminative leadership, or has ever said SUCH AND SUCH SHOULD BE THE QUALIFICATIONS OF A MAN FOR THAT HIGH POSITION.

It has allowed matters to drift and any old thing might get onto the ticket and the people were expected to ratify the yellow-dog ticket regardless of merit and they have refused to do it and HENCE THE OREGONIAN ABUSES AND ABANDONS THE REPUBLICAN PARTY.

The Oregonian has taken the position that it is not the business of a party newspaper to discriminate or to indicate in any way what kind of a man should become the Republican candidate for governor.

It does not take that position on the Presidency. It says flatly it wants Roosevelt, and practically says it will not AGREE NOW TO SUPPORT ANY OTHER CANDIDATE IF HE IS NOMINATED.

There it indicates leadership, or rather admits the demand for Roosevelt is so strong it falls in with it and dares have no other choice. Roosevelt requires no boosting to get onto the ticket.

The Capital Journal does not believe that every man who desires to get onto the ticket as the Republican candidate for governor IS FIT FOR THE LEADERSHIP OF THE PARTY. Results have proven this true.

The Oregonian's plan of leadership has been to apparently get just as weak a stick as possible, and then, if he has defeated lay the blame on the Republican party. IT SETS UP NO STANDARD FOR THE PARTY'S CHOICE.

If he gets in he is the Oregonian's man. He executes its policies. He does its bidding, in place of carrying on the state government in the interest of the Republican party. THE ORGAN IS ALWAYS BIGGER THAN THE PARTY.

He knows if he does not he has the certain and sure blasting blight of its colossal displeasure resting upon his administration, AND NO REPUBLICAN GOVERNOR IS WANTED WHO IS BIG ENOUGH TO TELL THE OREGONIAN TO GO TO, on matters that concern the common welfare. Hence no Republican governor of independence and ability will be encouraged or tolerated.

THE SUN WILL SHINE AGAIN.

After the civil war, in '73, and in '93 pessimists could see nothing but disaster ahead.

These periods of depression, however, were quickly followed by abounding prosperity. And so will the "pinch" of 1907.

We have been going ahead so fast that we have used up, for the time being, all available capital.

And then we have been frightened, and forget the enormous powers of growth possessed by a country of 90,000,000 people with fabulous natural resources at their command—a country with seven times as much coal as all Europe, that controls the world's cotton trade, produces $7,000,000,000 a year on its farms and $18,000,000,000 a year in its factories.

Horace Greely, at the close of the civil war, showed the way to resume specie payments in the simple formula "THE WAY TO RESUME IS TO RESUME."

RESUMPTION SPEEDILY FOLLOWED. TODAY THE WAY TO DO BUSINESS IS TO DO BUSINESS. NOBODY CAN MAKE ANY MONEY BY STOPPING WORK AND HOARDING HIS CAPITAL.

That this is realized to a very large extent is shown by the fact that the Pennsylvania, New York Central, Harriman lines, and other great railroads report that the transfers of small lots of stocks have in the past few weeks increased by hundreds every day.

Extra clerks have been put to work in the Union Pacific and Southern Pacific offices to parcel out the stockholdings of the investors who show in this very practical way their faith in the future of these properties.

It will help toward a restoration of confidence if people remember that wealth is not a production of engravers and printers, and that it is not produced in Wall street.

While counting up the losses in the market values of securities, it is well to remember that the value of farm products in the last seven years has increased some $5,000,000,000 or enough to counterbalance the paper losses of a good many miniature panics.

THE SITUATION OF THE RAILROADS IS TYPICAL OF THE GENERAL STATUS OF AMERICAN BUSINESS, only perhaps the railroad's problem is a little more aggravating.

They are NOT SUFFERING FROM A DEARTH OF BUSINESS, BUT FROM A NECESSITY FOR MORE FACILITIES AT A TIME WHEN THEY ARE UNABLE TO FIND THE MONEY TO FINANCE IMPROVEMENTS.

This is one of the most serious features of the present situation, for the reason that the railroads are literally the arteries of commerce.

To the extent that they adequately serve the needs of manufacturer, merchant and farmer, each will prosper.

If either the arteries or the blood fails, both will suffer. Production without transportation is useless.

It is because railroad managers believe that these facts are being more and more generally realized that they are confident, as one of them puts it, that "The sun will shine again."

 "Indeed, it is beginning to shine now. When the agitation against the railroads shall have passed away, the money that they so urgently need will be forthcoming."

SOME FOOLISH FARMERS.

The farmers assembled at the State Fruit Growers convention permitted themselves to be stampeded by an orator imported for the occasion into a demand for the admission of Asiatic labor, says the San Francisco Chronicle.

They ought to know, and a good many of them by sad experience do know, that they cannot have Asiatic labor many years without losing their farms.

And they know, or ought to know, that whatever their clamor they will not get more Asiatic labor, and that the supply now coming will be cut off.

The land will not be given over to Asiatic civilization in order that steamships on the Pacific may make money by carrying the coolies and that immigration agencies in this country and Asia may continue to get their rake-off.

The money of the "corporations" which the farmers have been accustomed to lambaste is the only source and only inspiration of any effort worth mentioning to admit Asiatic coolies.

In "resolving" in favor of letting down the bars the fruit growers have simply been "worked" by those whom they have been accustomed to consider their natural enemies and who are laughing in their sleeves at their dupes today.

The farmers gain nothing by saying what is obviously untrue, and when they say that only Asiatics will pick grapes and weed beets they place themselves in that position.

Ninety-nine-one hundredths of all the sugar beets grown in the world are produced exclusively by white labor, and the raisins of Spain are picked and packed in a climate as nearly like our own as two climates can be.

To say, as some have, that "Americans will not labor," is to assert that 72,000,000 of native-born Americans are living off 12,000,000 or 14,000,000 of foreigners. It is absurd.

In attacking the motives and character of those who are determined to maintain this as a white man's country, the fruit growers were silly, to say the least.

The fruit growers will not encourage the white workers to come to their help by vilifying them, and they will have to get white help or go without help, for Asiatic coolie immigration must stop.

The tone and character of the "memorial" adopted by the fruit growers are evidence that it was prepared in advance by some designing person and brought there to be rammed down their throats.

And the trick was done neatly and the contriver is chuckling over it. But it will not help to get in one Asiatic and it has made a multitude of enemies for the farmers.

The Pacific coast must remain a white man's country.
