The report of Salem school district in this paper is a high compliment to the management of the funds. Not a dollar of graft, but one instance where a director undertook to let a contract without authority, and the rest of the school board collected a judgment for costs against the illegally awarded contract. The report is the work of the finance committee, Directors Lee and Epley and Clerk Johnson. The work for the ensuing year is carefully mapped out. If the grafting element that has operated in the city affairs the past year could be as completely weeded out for the coming year it would save the city thousands of dollars. The people should leave nothing undone to eliminate that feature of local government.
