What is an Editor?

A little boy in a neighboring town was given the stult by his father to write easily on "Editors," and here is the result:

"I don't know how newspapers come to be in the world. I don't think God does, for he haint got nothing to say about them and editors in the Bible. I think the editor is of the missing links you read of, and stayed in the bushes until after the flood; and then come out and wrote the thing up, and has been here ever since. I don't think he ever died. I never saw a dead one and never heard of one getting a nickle. Our paper is a mighty good one, but the editor goes without underclothes all winter and don't wear any socks and paw ain't paid his subscription since the paper started. I ask paw if that was why he had to suck the juice out of snowballs in winter and go to bed when he had a shirt washed in summer. And then paw took me out into the woodshed and he licked me awful hard. If the editor makes a mistake folks say he ought to be hung; but if the doctor makes any mistakes he buries them and people dassent say nothing because doctors can read and write Latin. When the editor makes a mistake there is lawsuits, swearing and a big fuss, but if the doctor makes one there is a funeral, cut flowers and perfect silence. A doctor can use a word a yard long without his or anybody knowing what it means; but if the editor uses one he has to spell it. If the doctor goes to see another man's wife he charges for the visit; but of the editor goes he gets a charge of buckshot. When the doctor gets drunk it is a case of being overcome by the heat and if he dies its from heart trouble; when the editor gets drunk its a case of too much booze and if he dies its the jim-jams. Any old college can make a doctor; an editor has to be born."

Dispatches from Tokio indicate that there will be no difficulty settling the Japanese immigration question providing we can hit upon a method which will not impinge upon the dignity of Japan. Considering the fact that Japan exercises the right of excluding Chinese coolies, there should be no trouble in convincing Japanese statesmen that there will be no sacrifice of dignity in their consenting to the United States dealing with the labor question precisely as they do.

MISS KELLEY HAS BEEN LOCATED

(Eugene Guard, Jan. 8th.)

Miss Winnifred Kelly, daughter of Mrs. Mattie Kelly, who resides at 798 Willamette street, and of Abe Kelly, also of this city, disappeared last evening and has not been seen since by her relatives or friends, who are much concerned over her disappearance.

Miss Kelly was last seen at the residence of her uncle, John F. Kelly, at the corner of West Sixth and Lincoln streets. She left her home late yesterday afternoon, stating that she was going to Schwarzschild's book store to buy a German book for use in her studies at the university. She was at the home of her friend, Miss Kate Henderson, and at the home of Miss Minnie Hawthorne during the evening, and from there went to John Kelly's residence. The family asked her to stay for dinner, but she declined, stating that she had been invited out to one of the sorority houses. She left the Kelly residence at 6:10 o'clock, and that was the last seen of her.

When Miss Kelly failed to return home at the usual hour, her mother and sister, Miss Frances, became alarmed and began to make inquiry as to her whereabouts. All her relatives and numerous friends in town were telephoned to, and when it was learned that she had said she was invited to one of the sororities all of the girls' club houses were telephoned to, but she had not been to any of them during the evening. The officers were then notified and a diligent search was made for the missing girl. Several theories were advanced, among them being that she might have been waylaid on a dark street by hobos or desperate characters, and drugged and kidnapped, and another that she might have boarded the northbound flyer, which arrived but a few minutes after she left John Kelly's residence. If the latter is true, why she should want to run away is a mystery. Her mother and sister say there was no trouble at home, and she seemed to be happy at all times. She was not keeping steady company with any young man, and it does not seem likely that she eloped with any one, although it is said her folks think it possible she might have left to marry a former student of the university who is now attending a medical college in Chicago. However, as the girl is of age, being 19 years old, it is not thought probable that she would have occasion to keep the marriage a secret from her folks and friends. A young man at the university had Miss Kelly's company engaged for the show at the theater last night, but early in the afternoon she telephoned him that she would be unable to go. This, together with the fact that she told that she had been invited to one of the sorority houses, when it was proven that she had not been, lends color to the theory that she planned to leave on the train. Inquiry of the ticket agent on duty at the depot at the time the train arrived proved that she had bought no ticket, but the officers are endeavoring to communicate with the conductor, who is in Portland today, to learn whether or not she boarded the train.

Students Searching.

The classes at the university were dismissed this afternoon and the students are making a systematic search of the city for the missing girl on the belief that she might have been foully dealt with and that she might be found in some lodging house or out-of-the-way place.

Miss Kelly has always borne the best reputation, and always kept the best of company. On that account the mystery is all the deeper. She is a beautiful girl, vivacious and full of life, and is a member of the sophomore class at the university, having many friends among the student body, as well as outside the institution, having lived here a greater part of her life. At the time of her disappearance she wore a black tailor-made suit, a white hat with blue plumes and a black veil with big dots.

Found at Albany.

(Eugene Register, Jan. 9th.)

The mystery concerning Miss Winnifred Kelly, daughter of Mrs. Mattie Kelly, who mysteriously disappeared, was cleared up late last evening by finding her at the Russ House in Albany where she had registered under her right name.

Sheriff Fisk had communicated by telephone with Conductor Riley of the flyer, who went through here Tuesday evening and it was learned that a girl dressed in black and wearing a black veil got on the train at Eugene and got off at Albany. This answered the description. Sheriff Fisk at once communicated with the sheriff of Linn county, who went to the hotels and found her at the Reiss. She was detained there pending the arrival of her uncle, Dr. W. L. Cheshire, who left on the night train to bring her back today.

This ends an affair that threw all of Eugene into a state of great excitement yesterday, so much so that classes at the university, where she is a sophomore, were suspended and practically the entire masculine portion of the student body turned out in force in a pelting rain patrolling the mill race and river, tramping through Hendricks park, over Skinner's butte and along the byways and hedges hunting for evidence of foul play. The cause for Miss Kelly's peculiar action is not yet known.

Davenport in Silverton.

Homer Davenport, universally admired in Silverton, where he was born and matured, spent Tuesday afternoon with the school, and he was probably never more successful in furnishing entertainment than he was upon this occasion. The fifth, sixth, seventh and eighth grades visited the high school room and for nearly an hour the cartoonist cited incidents of great interest connected with his recent trip to Arabia, and of his school days in Silverton.

Homer enjoys sketching ex-Senator Spooner of Wisconsin, and commenting on his appearance. This he did before the students to the pleasure of all. He told of his first music lessons, of having taken part in an entertainment in the M. E. church years ago, and many other incidents of interest, especially when related in his genial manner. Before his visit to the high school building Mr. Davenport entertained the younger pupils in the public school building, and it was certainly a pleasure long to be remembered by the little folks.

Although located in the east, where he can make his favorite vocation more of a success, he claims to be a resident of Silverton, and only recently, when visiting a hotel in Portland he registered "Homer Davenport, Silverton, Oregon." No man has done more to advertise this city than he, and while he is proud of his home town, Silverton is proud of him.—Silverton Appeal, Jan. 3.

Every backache sufferer, every man, woman or child with any kidney trouble will find profit in the reading Jacob E. McCoy, retired, living on Capital street, beyond Mill Creek, Salem, Oregon, says: "There has been no reason for me to change my good opinion of Doan's Kidney Pills, which I expressed through your papers three years ago. I procured the remedy at Dr. Stone's drug store at that time and received the most gratifying results from their use. I was relieved of kidney complaint of several years' standing. The principal symptoms were in connection with the kidney secretions and any strain objects of the union, and an plainly rhages of the kidneys. Nothing I had found in the way of medicine gave me any satisfactory relief until I got Doan's Kidney Pills. They gave me prompt and lasting benefit. I have recommended them ever since then when occasion has arisen.

Mr. W. That it was beneficial and quick in relieving me there is no doubt and it is my intention to obtain another bottle." For sale by Dr. Stone's drug store.

The greater part of the Kann collection of art objects has been bought by Americans and will ultimately find its way into museums in this country. There is a great deal of disgruntlement exhibited in Europe over the removal of so many art treasures to America, and some very nasty things are being said about the commercialism of the purchasers, but they are not half as bad as those that must have been heard in despoiling countries when France and England were filling their galleries. We at least are not stealing the artistic things we are acquiring.
