JAPANESE ARE NOT WANTED IN ORCHARDS

Although the California fruit-growers at their recent annual convention adopted a memorial favoring repeal of the Chinese exclusion act, and protesting against the prohibition of the coming of Japanese, the latter at least are proving to be anything but desirable laborers in the southern California orange groves. There have been frequent complaints about these little brown men recently. One of the latest is thus related by the Redlands Citigraph:
 "Highland orange growers have reached the limit of their endurance

CONSTIPATION

For over 200 years I suffered with chronic constipation and during this time I had to take an enormous quantity of water every 24 hours before I could have any motion on my bowels. Happily I found Cascarets, and today I am a well man. I suffered until I was 40 years of age. Cascarets cured me and I am free from all this suffering. You can see this in regard to suffering humanity."

with Jap pickers, and have fired the whole gang. White pickers will take their places. The Japanese are unreliable, quarrelsome, quick to take offense, and get drunk, when they are noisy and 'fghty.' The experience of Highland is exactly the same as that of other places. They are not cheap as laborers, when quality and amount of work is considered."

Assuming these statements to be true—and there appears no reason to question them—it seems peculiarly unfortunate that these southern California growers who are having such unpleasant experiences with Japanese laborers, were not represented at the Marysville convention which was hocus-focused into adopting the pro-Asiatic memorial. That precious resolution is reported to have gone through unanimously. Why were not the fruitmen who know the facts present to voice opposition?—San Diego Union.

miles in extent is covered with remarkable stones—remarkable in that they have been shaped into many curious forms, and that independent of the hand of man. The waves of an ancient sea which covered the region in the prehistoric ages fashioned the stones, producing many resemblances to objects manufactured in workshops today or found in nature. There are stone balls varying in size from a marble to a cannon ball, many of them as round and smooth as those cast for the great guns of a man-of-war.

There are stone dinner plates as thin as the porcelain or china found on the tables of dining room and nearly as perfect in shape. Sometimes these are found in piles two or three feet high, as though arranged by the hand of man. There are stone flowers, stone cabbages, stone dumbbells, stone canes, stone quoits, stone boomerangs, and even resemblances to birds and animals are discovered.

The peculiar freak of the waves in taking up the art of carving in this part of the plain is accounted for by the conformation of the desert at this point. When the waters of the sea occupied this region they were a part of the gulf of California, the nearest point of which is now 90 miles distant. The tides came in to this ancient sea through the gulf from the south. They rolled up against a low range of hills on the opposite side of the Yuba plain and, receding, were again thrown back toward the Superstition mountain, finally passing out at about the point whence they entered this arm of the gulf. This kept the waters at that particular point always in a swirl. This circular motion wore the rocks round or nearly so, laminated some of them, carving the plates and thin pieces, kept small rocks and bowlders revolving, turning out the balls and dumbbells and in like manner shaping up other freaks by their peculiar actions.—St. Nicholas.

COOPER MET USUAL SUCCESS IN PITTSBURG

Received Thanks from Hundreds While in the Smoky City.

The following article, taken from the Pittsburg Press, describes the results of L. T. Cooper's visit to that city, and the effect of his new preparation as told by people who had become convinced of the soundness of Cooper's theories with regard to the human stomach.
 Cooper believes that the human stomach in civilized races has become greatly weakened. He claims that most ill health of the present generation is due to this fact. The article is as follows:
 "L. T. Cooper is meeting with the same astonishing success in Pittsburg as in other cities. For the past few days many thousands of Pittsburg people have called at his headquarters to talk with him.
 "Cooper's prophecy, made upon his arrival, to the effect that before he left Pittsburg thousands would realize that his theory is correct and would come and thank him for what his medicine had done, is rapidly being borne out.
 "On Monday an astonishing number of people called to express their gratitude to Mr. Cooper. Judging from what some of these people had to say to a Press reporter, when interviewed, Cooper's claim that the human stomach is degenerate is distinctly verified.

 "One of the most unusual statements was made by Mr. C. W. Woods, of 103 South Highland street. He said: 'For four years my wife was in very poor health. She was weak and thin, with a hectic flush and cough. Physicians said she had consumption, and I was inclined to believe them. It certainly looked as though her days were numbered, and there appeared to be very little ground for hope.
 "Shortly after Mr. Cooper came to Pittsburg I began to hear of wonderful results that had been obtained by persons who had tried his medicine, so I got some for my wife. She had taken it only two days when she was relieved of a tapeworm 42 feet long. She began to improve immediately—has gained seven pounds since she began taking the medicine. She feels splendid and looks very much better. If any one doubts this statement I would be pleased to have them call at my house and verify it.'
 The Cooper remedies are becoming justly famous. We sell them.—J. C. Perry.
