HIGH SCHOOLS BREAK EVEN

The interscholastic basketball season between the Salem high school and girls against the Eugene high schools boys and girls were greeted with a splendid attendance of those who were there surely got the worth of their money. The best feeling prevailed and the yells of the schools were frequently and impartially given by the student body and interested spectators.

The Girls' Game.

When the Salem team of girls came to the yancas for their preliminary warning up it was plainly seen that unless the Eugene girls showed remarkable agility it would be easy work for the girls of the Capital City and so it proved, for although the Eugene girls fought valiantly they were no match for their heavier opponents. The Salem girls commenced throwing baskets from the start and at the end of the first half had piled up a score of 13 to 6. The second half they scored an equal number of points and the Eugene girls three two fouls, making the final score 26 to 2, in favor of the Salem girls.

The Boys' Game.

It was another story when the boys started. From the very first the Eugene boys began tumbling the ball to the basket without apparent effort while the Salem lads were unable to do anything. They threw a foul and were awarded one point and that was the extent of their getting in the first half—the Eugene standing 18 to 2 in favor of Eugene.

The second half was a repetition of the first, except that the Salem boys made two baskets and four fouls and the Eugene boys made 19 more points, the final score being 37 to 10 in favor of Eugene. It would be impossible to set out the particular stars as all did well. The Eugene boys excelled in team work as well as in throwing baskets and the individual playing of each member.

It was a happy outcome, however, the games and gives the Eugene another good, very good clinch with the W. O. I. A. championship.

There was nothing in the least "significant" in the girls playing better and we can see no reason why the girls should be barred from this excellent game for physical development. It is far more beneficial than dancing.—Eugene Star.

Blind Men's Dreams.

One of the most intelligent inmates of a blind asylum, who came to the world blind, says that he dreams of the things he has about and never dreams of any person that he has not in any way come in personal contact with. He dreams of music, of the faces of persons he knows, of such things as might happen at the time or in some place in which he has actually been, but never of things in other places or in other ways. Even although he has read descriptions of localities, of natural beauties, of the appearance of a city, or a city, no idea of what they look like comes to him in the fanciest sleep. There is a class of blind people who become blind when quite young. Such blind people never see of any scene or object except what they have remained in the world from what they actually saw when they became blind.—Pearson's Magazine.

POSTOFFICE TO BE ENLARGED

Postmaster Farrar has under consideration plans for an extension of the Salem postoffice, by adding on one story and a basement about 50 by 100 feet on the east side, as the present quarters are badly outgrown. Additional carriers now required to meet the growth of the city have not room to work their mails, and the entire basement of the proposed addition would be required for handling increased mails. It takes so much red tape to get improvements started by the general government and an appropriation by congress besides, that by the time it is finished the city will probably have outgrown the addition now asked for. It is not generally understood but the smallness of the Salem postoffice was doubtless due to the rotten census enumerations this city has been subjected to, these many years on account of machine political appointments to that job. The federal census has been the laughing stock of western Oregon, and the census taken by the city government and Commercial club a few years ago was the only honest effort ever made to do this city justice in the way of an enumeration. So the erection of a public building at Salem came about on a basis of about half the people to be served. Whether future efforts will be on the same narrow-gauge system remains to be seen. But it is a fact that Salem postoffice was hardly big enough to handle the business of this city from the very first day it was occupied.

Postmaster Farrar has made a number of decided improvements. The government architect seemed to have an idea that lavatory for the men was all that was needed. During the past year a fine lavatory has been built for the women employes. A fine new parpet was received by the postmaster about Christmas time.
