SHOE STORE SOLD.

C. G. Givens Sells His Stock to D. F. Brunner of the Oregon Shoe Company.

C. G. Givens has sold his shoe store on Commercial street to D. F. Brunner, of the Oregon Shoe Company, and possession has already been given. R. P. Bradford, who has been employed with Mr. Givens, will remain with the new owner, and H. J. Oswald, who has been with the Oregon Shoe Company for some time, has the position of head salesman.

It will be seen that the store is not going out of business, but rather new energy will be put into it, and the business pushed.

Mr. Givens, who has the honor of being the oldest established shoe man in the city, will retire from active business. He will purchase some suitable small fruit and poultry ranch near Salem and put his attention to this. He has seen many around him prosper and enjoy life in the quiet pursuits of fruit farming and henceforth—although he doesn't care for the riches—he will enjoy a life of ease.

Mr. Brunner is so well known to the shoe purchasers of the Capital City that any comment on the quantity and quality of the business he will do is unnecessary.

The doors of the store under the new management will remain closed for a few days, while a general clean-up is in progress.

A BURGLAR

When Mrs. R. L. White and daughter returned home from church last Sunday night just before 9 o'clock they discovered a man leaving the rear door of the house and fly west along the road on the bank of the canal to Broadblain street, disappearing. They went inside and found drawers out and contents scattered generally, but nothing had been taken but a large pocketbook of Mr. White's who is away from home, which contained papers which were found this morning in front of S. S. Train's residence, and given to Chief of Police Ries. The police were notified, but no further clew was gotten of the burglar.—Albany Democrat.

Twenty-three Chickens Skidoo

John Manthei, of North Salem, who was yesterday the proud possessor of 24 fine chickens, this morning discovered that his chicken house only contained three of the smallest fowls of his flock. He is naturally very much wrought up over the mysterious disappearance, and has enlisted the help of Doc Gibson, who has distinguished himself in the capture of various animals, from men to horses and cows, and doubtless will soon locate the missing 23 birds.

James Martin a Policeman

City Street Commissioner Martin last evening made his first arrest under the authority recently invested in him by the Salem fathers. Mr. Martin's victim was a disorderly drunk, and was promptly landed in the city jail, where he spent the night with three other knights of the road. At a recent meeting of the council the chief of the fire department, the city physician and the street commissioner were appointed special policemen. It now seems to be up to Chief Darr and Dr. Miles to make good.

The plumbers are wearing a smile that will not come off, and it, was only a little freeze at that.

It is a wise "X" that stays where it is placed.

The Virginian—The cast of "The Virginian" is stronger than ever this season, which reflects great credit on the Kirke La Shelle Co. It is no uncommon thing for managers to retrench and cheapen their casts, after a play has been on tour for a season or two, but in "The Virginian" the important characters, with one or two exceptions, are played by those who originated them when the play was first produced in New York City. This big-city production is to be an early offering at the Grand opera house.

The $10,000 Beauty—"The $10,000 Beauty" would be a really good show if the manager would fire a couple of those hamfatters who are supposed to be comedians. They should be fined for appearing in public. The singing was good, and the chorus girls—on the stage—looked pretty, were well drilled and graceful. The $10,000 Beauty could be made entertaining, but oh! those hamfatters.
