 Two Burned to Death.
 South Sioux City, Neb., Feb. 8.—Morett Anderson and Edward Streater were incinerated here early today in a fire which destroyed the Streater boarding house. Twenty sleepers escaped, many sliding down a telephone pole. Mrs. Dolly Hartnett, one of the injured, accused a near relative of setting the house afire to be revenged on her for a recent quarrel.

ELABORATE FUNERAL SERVICES

WILL LIE IN STATE

FATHER AND SON, KING AND PRINCE, VICTIMS OF THE TYRANNY OF THEIR PREMIER AND ASSASSINS' BULLETS GET TO THEIR GRAVES BY DEGREES.

(United Press Leased Wire.)

Lisbon, Feb. 8.—Funeral services were held today over the remains of King Carlos and the Crown Prince in St. Vincent's cathedral, with all the imposing ceremony of the Catholic church. Weeping throngs lined the streets leading to the cathedral, and double rows of guards were on duty to suppress any disturbance that might be started while the cortege was passing.

The widow of the king and Manuel, the youthful king of Portugal, remained away in accordance with the Portuguese custom. It is unusual for widows and the children of the dead to attend funerals in this country. The bodies will lie in state three days before burial.

The ceremonies began at 10 o'clock this morning. In the presence of a great gathering of ambassadors, officers of the palace and state and other distinguished men, the caskets were carried from the chapel at the Necessidades palace, where they have reposed since February 1, by servants of the house of Braganza to carriages.

The high dignitaries of the church marched in front of the coffins carrying crosses, and they were followed by the royal, civil and military households and the ministers, peers and deputies. As the funeral moved in the direction of the church of St. Vincente de Fora it was heavily guarded by troops.

A military band played dirges at the head of the procession. The carriages of the civil governor and the ministers followed the band, each carriage being drawn by eight horses. Then came other carriages containing suites of the ambassadors, officers of the regiments of the late king and the crown prince, the majordomo of the palace and other officials.

In the center of the carriages was the imperial crown of the dead king, draped with crepe and surrounded by flowers, and in the following vehicle was his sword and helmet. Well back in the procession was the carriage bearing the remains of the king. The coffin could barely be seen, because of the great number of wreaths around it. The carriage with the remains of the crown prince followed immediately behind.

The bodies were received at the church by the Brotherhood of Misericordia and by all the bishops and the archbishop of Portugal. In front of the altar was the catafalque, draped in gold and black, and upon it rested the caskets of the king and crown prince during the service.

Lisbon, Feb. 8.—On either side of the catafalque sat the members of the royal household, to the left was the throne of the Cardinal Patriarch, who solemnly conducted the ceremonies. A short allocution in praise of King Carlos and Crown Prince

WILL MAKE SENATORS TAKE NOTICE

THEY HAVE FRANKS

SENATOR LA FOLLETTE WANTS THE GOVERNMENT TO TAKE OVER TELEGRAPH AND TELEPHONE LINES—SENATORS WHO HAVE FREE SERVICE WILL BE SHOWN UP.

(United Press Leased Wire.)
 Washington, Feb. 8.—There is the promise of some pyrotechnics in the senate over the interstate commerce question again this season, akin to those that were shot off when the rate bill was under discussion two years ago.

Senator LaFollette has introduced a bill to bring telegraph and telephone companies under the control of the interstate commerce commission. The same bill has been introduced in the house by Representative Carey, of Wisconsin.

Senator LaFollette appeared before the senate committee in the interest of his bill today, and received no great encouragement. But it is understood that LaFollette intends to force the matter upon the attention of the senate as a whole, and if he cannot get action there is the prospect that he will bring to light a list of senators who enjoy the use of franks supplied by the telegraph companies.

Luiz was delivered before absolution was granted.

After lying in state for three days in the church of Saint Vincente, the bodies are to be carried through the cloisters to the royal pantheon, where the remains of the princes of the house of Braganza rest.

Afterward the majordomo will swear that the remains are those of the king and prince of Portugal, then the caskets are to be placed in niches prepared for them. Later the infantry outside the pantheon will fire volleys. A salute of 161 guns from the forts will also be fired.

The scene was heartrending as the coffins were sealed ready for removal from the palace. The queen's grief was frantic. She fell upon her knees and grasped the casket as if to prevent their removal. Manuel, the boy king, with streaming eyes, was compelled to tear her away, carrying her in his arms from the mortuary chapel.

The rest of Franco's prisoners were released today.

MILLIONAIRE MURDERER

(United Press Leased Wire.)
 London, Feb. 8.—F. Holmes, a millionaire, with his wife and daughter and two women servants, were found today dead from bullet wounds. Holmes' corpse was found first in a wood near the mansion, near Henley. The women had been shot through the head, apparently as they slept. A full investigation has convinced Scotland Yard tonight that Holmes killed the women and then suicided. It is believed he was insane from an attack of grippe.

LONG DRAWN OUT TRIAL ENDS THIS MORNING

Former District Attorney Found Guilty, Penalty Is a Fine of Not More Than $10,000 Or Imprisonment Not More Than Two Years

Portland, Or., Feb. 8.—John H. Hall, formerly United States district attorney for Oregon, accused of land frauds and conspiracy to delay justice, was found guilty this morning by the jury, which reported at 10 o'clock. The verdict was handed in at 1:30 last night, after about four hours' deliberation. Under the federal statutes conspiracy, such as charged against Hall is punishable by a fine of not more than $10,000 or by imprisonment of not more than two years.

Hall was present in the court room and received the verdict with little show of emotion.

Hall arrived in the court room a few minutes before the jury entered, and sat chatting with his attorneys and personal friends at the same table he had occupied throughout the proceedings of the trial. He seemed in the best of spirits and looked more unconcerned than any of his attorneys. From appearances he and his attorneys were confident of an acquittal.

As the jurors took their seats everyone in the court moved to advantageous positions. Hall leaned forward and eagerly scanned the faces of the jurors, all of whom appeared unmoved. While the verdict was read the clerk of the court, Hall sat motionless and the crowd of spectators were hushed with suppressed excitement. After the motion was made for a new trial, the defendant arose from his feet, and was surrounded by scores of friends who pressed forward to shake his hand and speak a word of sympathy. He received each with a smile.

Judge Hunt received Hall's notice and granted the defense sixty days to perfect their appeal. Sentence will probably be passed next week.

The jury took eight ballots before a verdict of guilty was reached. Eli Ramer, of Crabtree, Or., was the last man to change his vote from acquittal to guilty.

Beyond stating that the verdict is what he expected, Mr. Heney refused to make any statement.

Hall said: "I have nothing on my conscience indicative of any wrongdoing. The verdict is a surprise in view of the evidence. Those of my friends who still believe in me, I shall be glad to greet as of old; those who do not, may pass on the other side."

JAP PIRATES GROWING BOLD

Victoria, B. C., Feb. 8.—News was brought by the Kagu Maru from Maizura, Japan, of the piracy of a Japanese fishing schooner, Yosan No. 1, the crew of seven being killed and the schooner looted. The vessel was missing since December 20, and was discovered shortly before the Kagu Maru left Yokohama, aground on the beach near Kunimi village, Echizen, little damaged, having been cast ashore by the tides. A dead body, with indications of foul play, was found, but there was no trace of the other fishermen. The police have dispatched a vessel to search for the pirates known to infest the district.

MEN WERE KEPT AT WORK IN NAVY YARD.

Washington, Feb. 8.—John B. Simmering, an aged mechanic, is the hero of the Washington navy yard. He has accomplished something that congressmen, the secretary and assistant secretary of the navy declared they could not do, and hence there is much rejoicing in the yards. The order went out Tuesday that 500 men must be laid off in the yard, and others would be dismissed later. Simmering called up the White House and talked to Secretary Loeb about the matter. The latter told Simmering that he would tell the President that he called. The next morning the telephone bell in the yard rang, and Simmering was called. At the other end the President was talking Simmering was invited to the White House, where he had a quiet talk with Mr. Roosevelt. As the result of this conversation the 500 men were put back to work, and no more will be dismissed.

MRS. J. "PIERP" LOSES JEWELRY

(United Press Leased Wire.)
 Galveston, Tex., Feb. 8.—Jewelry and other valuables, reported to be worth $20,000, have been stolen from the private car Independence, in which Mrs. J. P. Morgan, wife of the New York financier, and two women friends are traveling. The party left New Orleans Wednesday night, the private car being attached to the regular westbound Southern Pacific train. Mrs. Morgan and her friends, Mrs. J. N. Nappen, of Providence, and Mrs. J. Neredith, of New York, stopped at Beaumont, Houston and El Paso. Mrs. Morgan has reported that at the latter place burglars entered the car and carried off much valuable property. Mrs. Morgan will not discuss the value of the articles. The police think it was the work of a professional thief who was riding on the train.

JAPS CARRY ARMS TO CHINESE REBELS

(United Press Leased Wire.)
 Hong Kong, Feb. 8.—Interesting developments are expected to follow the seizure of the Satsuma Maru, a Japanese steamer, by the Chinese customs officers. The Satsuma carried four cases of rifles and 50,000 rounds of ammunition for Chinese revolutionists, but consigned to high Japanese officials. This is the second seizure of this character made by Chinese cruisers, and Japan has made much noise in entering protests against them.
