

Liber Pills
It is impossible, simply impossible, for any one to enjoy the best of health if the bowels are constipated. Undigested material, waste products, poisonous substances, must be daily removed from the body or there will be trouble, and often serious trouble, too. Ayer's Pills aid nature, that is all. J. C. Women Need the Ballot.
In his lecture, "What a city can do for its citizens," Hon. Frederick C. Howe, municipal expert, designates the granting of suffrage to women as the city first duty. He argues that city administration is housekeeping, and that women suffer most and gain most by bad or good administration. "Suffrage would enlarge women's self-respect just as it enlarges man's," says Mr. Howe. "She would feel that she was an integral part of the community in which she lived. Further than this, it would increase man's respect for women. We cannot appreciate the change which would take place in all of us were this to come about. One has only to go to Colorado to see the difference in the attitude of the sexes toward one another."—Farmer's Wife.

Neighborhood Favorite.
Mrs. E. D. Charles, of Harbor, Me., speaking of Electric Bitters, says: "It is a neighborhood favorite here with us." It deserves to be a favorite everywhere. It gives quick relief in dyspepsia, liver complaint, kidney derangement, malnutrition, nervousness, weakness and general debility. Its action on the blood, as a thorough purifier makes it especially useful as a spring medicine. This grand alternative tonic is sold under guarantee at J. C. Perry's drug store; 50c.

Too Unusual.
Mrs. Schley—Chief, I'd like to employ some of your detectives to shadow my husband.
Big Chief—Why, what's up?
Mrs. Schley—Why, he brings me home flowers and candy every evening and calls me darling, too. There surely must be something terrible behind it all.—Chicago News.

THE RACIAL WAR IN THE TRANSVAAL.
One of the subjects upon which the Campbell-Bannerman government is certain to be hard pressed during the session of Parliament which will open on Tuesday next is the war being made on all Asiatics by the Boer authorities of the Transvaal. When Lord Elgin, as secretary of state for the colonies, approved the law enacted by the Transvaal legislature for the exclusion and deportation of Asiatics from the Transvaal colony he could hardly have foreseen the consequences it would entail. He probably assumed that it was solely intended for use against the Chinese coolies now or lately employed in the Witwatersand gold mines, and as poor old China has to stand for everything, he thought no harm would come of it.
But it was not only the Chinese whom the Boers had in hand when they passed that ordinance. They objected to any kind of Asiatic, and they are enforcing the new law against all alike with an impartial severity. There are presumably no Japanese in the excommunicated crowd or something would before this have been heard from Tokio; but there are a number of Hindoos, and as they are just as much British subjects as the Boers and just as much entitled to the protection of the British government, they find it difficult to understand why they are not as free to live in one part of the British empire as another. That they are not is what they are learning by bitter experience.
One of the legal requirements is that all Asiatics wishing to remain in the Transvaal must present themselves for registration and identification. They have to be measured and weighed and give their thumb prints and a lot of other things, and after all is said and done they are liable to be deported anyhow at the pleasure of the authorities. There have been a number of arrests for refusal to comply with these conditions, and the culprits have been punished by fine and imprisonment for their mis-conduct. Last week thirty-five Hindoos were taken into court, including the chairman and the treasurer of the British-Indian Association, and the chairman and secretary of the Islamic Society, all described as citizens of substance and standing.
It is said that thirty-two of this batch were ordered to leave the country within two weeks, although they have been living in the Transvaal for years and have created valuable interests. It is difficult to see how it will be possible for the British government, with 120,000,000 Hindoo subjects already showing signs of restlessness, to stand for that kind of thing, and the opposition will surely want to know what Premier Bannerman intends doing about it.—Philadelphia Inquirer.

BEER PROMOTES TEMPERANCE

Recognized as a Food Product, and So Dealt With by the Government

It is being recognized the world over that the drinking of beer promotes temperance and sobriety to a far greater extent than all the prohibition laws on the statute books.
All enlightened European nations are encouraging the manufacture and consumption of light beers containing about three and one-half per cent alcohol, and the result has been most gratifying to all sincere lovers of temperance.
The United States government has taken a positive stand in this direction, the war department holding that the re-establishing of the army canteen for the sale of beer being an absolute necessity in the interest of temperance and sobriety.
Beer is today recognized as a "Food Product," and is so dealt with by the government.
All the great insurance companies have contradicted the lies that have been given currency through prohibition sources that the drinking of beer was a bar to securing insurance, and have lately published to the world at large the statement that those drinking beer moderately (not more than two quarts during twenty-four hours) were the very best of risks. The latest British life insurance reports show that the ratio of death rate among abstainers is thirty per cent greater than among moderate drinkers.
Beer is pure and wholesome, and the day is not far distant when it will be as much a part of the daily subsistence of every family as are milk, bread and other food necessities.
The beer brewed by the Salem Brewery Association is in every sense the very best that modern enterprise can produce. It speaks for itself and is its own best advertisement.
