

THREE CORNERED FIGHT FOR COUNTY JUDGE

William Bushey Decides to Take a Hand in the Contest For That Nomination in Marion County

At the solicitation of many Republicans in all parts of the county, William Bushey, of this city, has decided to enter the race for the nomination for county judge of Marion county.

The other men in the field are W. W. Hall, who has been county clerk two terms and for the past four years chief clerk in the office of County Assessor, and M. L. Jones, who has served in the legislature, and is a large land owner at Brooks.

Mr. Bushey has been surveyor and engineer in this county for many years. He was called into the street construction work of this city in the past two years, when other surveyors got matters badly muddled and mixed, and had to be straightened out, Wm. Bushey was called in and did the work in a satisfactory manner. He could have the office of city engineer and street commissioner if he would take it, but prefers to become a candidate for county judge. He will put up a strong fight, and from this time on, as all the candidates are now probably lined up there will be something doing in the race at the coming primaries. Bushey is one of the progressive young men of the county.

When he was shown the platform of the other two candidates he said he was something of a good roads man himself, and would have something to say to the people a little later. He did say this much, that he favored constructing permanent high ways as fast as possible, and wherever a road district was willing to vote a special tax to construct good roads he was in favor of the county helping such districts, so long as the plan was uniform and applied to all districts.

HARVEY BROWN A SUICIDE

BAKER CITY RUMOR

EVIDENCE TENDS TO SHOW THAT INSTEAD OF BEING ASSASSINATED BROWN DELIBERATELY KILLED HIMSELF—WAS IN GREAT FINANCIAL DIFFICULTY.

(United Press Leased Wire.) Baker City, Or., Feb. 14.—The rumor is now current that Harvey Brown committed suicide, and was not assassinated, as has been generally supposed. Just where the story originated is not known, but it has gained wide-spread circulation, and is causing much comment. There are several reasons advanced to support the suicide theory, chief of which is the fact that he was in great financial difficulty, and desired to secure money for his family. It is reported that on the day of his death he told his wife he was going to his mine in Stice's gulch to see a man, whom he knew at the time was not there. It is also reported that the bolts in the gate are the same as those used at his mine, and that a quantity of wire, the same as was used on the bomb, was found in his cellar. Although Brown had taken out life insurance amounting to $27,500, only $10,000 of this was in force at the time of his death.

ABE RUEF PUTS UP A FIGHT

Further asserts that Rabbis Nieto and Kaplan and William J. Burns called upon the mother and sister of affiant to secure their aid in the effort to have the affiant tell what he knew of the said transactions, promising that he would be given full immunity. The affiant, Ruef, in reply to these repeated urgings, declared that if he should tell all that he knew that it might not satisfy the prosecution, and that they then might repudiate their agreement with him. They said Burns declared that no such question would be raised, and that the district attorney's office had assured him of that fact. The affiant then stated that the judges of the superior court might not be willing to carry out the plan, or that the prosecution, when the time arrived, also refuse to do so. They said Burns declared that no such proceedings would ever arise, and that he, Burns, would kill any one who would refuse to carry out the contract. The afore mentioned editor, W. J. Biggy, also personally assured this and guaranteed the affiant that the immunity contract would be carried out, and also swore that he would kill anybody who refused to do so.

"The father and mother of the affiant relied upon the repeated assurances and promises of the prosecution, and time and again called upon him, urging him to accede to the wishes of the prosecution and rely upon their promises of immunity. The affiant was assured by District Attorney Langdon, Assistant District Attorney Francis Heney and William J. Burns that should he plead guilty to the extortion charge against him he would in the future be allowed to withdraw his plea of guilty and enter one of not guilty, which in turn would be dismissed, and that all further indictments returned against him by the grand jury would also be dismissed. They assured him that they would be able to have the presiding judge set the cases of all indictments returned against him before the judges of departments six and eleven of the superior court, and that these judges would dismiss the indictments. It was later agreed upon that Rabbis Kaplan and Nieto, Detective William J. Burns, Assistant District Attorney Francis J. Heney and District Attorney Langdon should call upon the judges of departments six and eleven and secure their consent to every agreement. The affiant, however, refused to plead guilty, asserting his innocence of the charge, which he now again reasserts. He was then told by the said Heney that it was absolutely necessary for him to do

CLAY ATTACKS ALDRICH BILL

(United Press Leased Wire.) Washington, Feb. 14.—Another attack on Senator Aldrich's financial bill was made in the senate this morning when Senator Clay, of Georgia, denounced it, in a 20-minute speech, as a vicious measure framed to "favor the rich and powerful, and to enable them to control the issue of money against the interests of the people."

Senator Clay declared that Senator Bailey's idea of issuing $500,000,000 in treasury notes was a much more effectual remedy, and criticized congress for allowing a surplus of $300,000,000 to accumulate in the United States treasury. He approved of Secretary Cortelyou's action in placing part of the money in national banks, as he said it was better off there than in the treasury. The senator declared that the South and West are discriminated against in the bill in the classification of bonds which are to be used as a basis for an increased circulation.

POISONED BY TOAD STOOLS

(United Press Leased Wire.) San Francisco, Feb. 14.—Pierre Chenot ate toad stools, which he had gathered in Golden Gate park last night, and was found unconscious by Patrolman J. P. Kelly, who booked him on a charge of being intoxicated. The man spent last night at a station in a stupor, and it was not until this morning, when he was removed to the city prison, that his real condition was found out. When he recovered consciousness he cried steadily for his wife, whom he had left in convulsions from eating of the same dish. Chenot, who is a carpenter, got the supposed mushrooms and brought them to his apartments, at Franklin and Gregory streets, where he and his wife cooked them. After eating them, both were taken sick, and Chenot left his wife in agony while he went in search of a physician. At the corner of Sutter and Franklin streets he dropped and lay there a considerable time before he was found by the policeman.

SOLDIER STABBED BARTENDER

San Francisco, Feb. 14.—While attempting to quiet a disturbance started by three soldiers in a Golden Gate Avenue saloon early this morning, Robert Brown, the bartender, was stabbed in the back and probably fatally wounded by Claude Heishman, an artillery man. Heishman was captured, but his companions escaped.

Irritation of the throat and hoarseness are relieved immediately by two or three little swallows of Kemp's Balsam, the best cough cure. Grip patients should make a note of this.

DROWNED WHILE FIGHTING FIRE

(United Press Leased Wire.) New York, Feb. 14.—Charles Kruger, deputy fire chief of New York, was drowned today in a sub-basement of the mirror factory of the Pischler Company, while he and his men were fighting a fire that had attacked the building. Six other firemen were injured and 30 were overcome by smoke. Chief Croker had ordered his men to fight the flames from a position in the street, as he realized that the building might collapse at any moment. Kruger did not agree with his superior. He thought more could be accomplished by attacking the fire from the inside of the building, and got permission to lead several firemen into the plant. A few minutes later he fell through a trap door and was drowned. The men who followed him were rescued by their comrades. Kruger was one of the best known fire fighters in the East.

RELIGION GONE MAD

FANATICS IN THE SADDLE (United Press Leased Wire.) Winnipeg, Man., Feb. 14.—As a result of a Sunday closing crusade, started by the Lord's Day Alliance, under the Lord's Day act, one man has been arrested in the act of taking a bath. Undertakers conducting funeral services have been taken in custody and newspaper men taking notes on sermons have not escaped the keen eyes of the law. More than 500 summonses have been issued for alleged breaches of the law and police officers are busy serving them.

COUNCIL TRIES TO BEAT THE PEOPLE

(United Press Leased Wire.) Seattle, Wash., Feb. 14.—A special meeting of the city council was held last night to give a second reading to the Union Pacific franchise, so they can be advertised and finally passed prior to the vote on the charter amendment requiring the submission of all franchise ordinances to the people for ratification. By passing the second reading last night they will get their final reading at the regular council meeting on March 2, one day before the city election.

Los Angeles, Cal., Feb. 14.—Jimmy Britt is down to hard work for his fight with Battling Nelson at the local club on February 25. From the East Side club he took an eight-mile run on the roads and in the afternoon yesterday he spent several hours in the club gym skipping the rope, pulling the weights, wrestling with the sand bag, and doing shadow boxing. He stated yesterday that he weighed 149 pounds. Nelson is off now on a hunting trip. He will begin training Sunday.

so, that his co-defendant, Schmitz, had agreed to testify against him, and that he alone would be held to blame.

"The affiant was then assured by Rabbis Kaplan and Nieto that Judge Dunne, of department six and Judge Lawlor, of department eleven, had agreed to carry out the plans of the prosecution and affiant asserts that these assurances were made to him before he pleaded guilty and tendered the grand jury room.

"He further asserts that acting upon such verbal promises and a written contract covering part of the agreement and relying upon the assurances given to him by Francis J. Heney, William H. Langdon, William J. Biggy, William J. Burns and the Rabbis Nieto and Kaplan, he did testify before the grand jury in regard to certain transactions, and that, believing that all the aforesaid promises and assurances he was made a witness against himself."

Attached to the affidavit was a copy of the immunity contract, which is held in the joint keeping of Detective uras and Rabbi Nieto.

tenced to seven years' imprisonment.

Hyne admits that he is the "Witthoff" who is wanted by the police authorities in all the big American cities, and that his real name is F. Scholz. He says he has used 28 different names, and that he has 32 wives, some of them living in Washington, New York, St. Louis, Chicago, Detroit, Cincinnati, Minneapolis and Milwaukee.

ANOTHER MYSTERY OF THE DESERT.

(United Press Leased Wire.) San Bernardino, Cal., Feb. 14.—An other desert mystery has been reported to Coroner Vanwie. The body of an unknown white man has been found beside the Santa Fe track near Ibex by the crew of an eastbound freight. A bullet wound in his head indicated the cause of death, but whether murder or suicide has not been decided. The youth was well dressed and his hands were soft, showing he was not of the laboring class.

OREGON CITY MAN IN TROUBLE

(United Press Leased Wire.) Oregon City, Feb. 14.—Otto Olsen, who was arrested last night charged with embezzling $4500 belonging to the Willamette school district, was discovered today to be also a forger. The bond submitted by him to cover the defalcation was today pronounced a forgery. A week ago Olsen fell 14 feet from a telephone pole, striking his head, and he is still confined to his bed as a result of this fall. It is now believed that he was attempting to commit suicide when he fell, and that the supposed accident was really the result of a carefully put up scheme for self-destruction.

Besides being the treasurer for the Willamette school district, he is the financial agent for the Methodist church, and local superintendent of the Portland General Electric Company. He came into possession of the $4500 of school funds through appropriations to pay upon the district's bonded indebtedness, which he failed to do.

Still Being Talked About—

People of the city are still talking about the musical features of the big booster meeting the other night. The McElroy orchestra covered themselves with glory three feet thick and it will be long remembered that Mrs. Hinges' voluntary assistance was the great feature of the program, and in which no one was disappointed.
