X-RAYS.

The Oregonian tells of a man whose hair was black, who, on recovery from an attack of typhoid, grew a crop of bright red hair. The man thinks it strange, but probably explained the plausible solution of the phenomenon, that is that the man's hair was dyed.

Barbers are cutting their customers' hair, and their own hair, financially, at ten cents per cut.

Commercial street is to be kept with bituminous, or something of the kind, will it not have to be repaved? Most people say there is no good in it.

There is no saying much, but some indicate that Taft will have a harder fight on his hands at election than he did at the primary.

Have you found out yet whose valentine you are, or whose valentine you think your best, is?

The little town of Volin, S. D., is in the riot stage, because a married couple there named a recent arrival in the family Emily Nesbit Thaw. The neighbors object, and make all kinds of dire threats, but, as it isn't their baby, it's difficult for an unbiased outsider to discover what business it is of theirs, anyway.

The whole Japanese question is easily settled. Let Americans cease to patronize them in anyway, and the thing is done. The American people have the game in their own hands, and hence have no kick if the country is captured by the Orientals.

THEY ANSWERED THE CALL OF THE WILD.

John Taylor, Simon Mathews and Tom Andrews, three Indian youths about 20 years of age, were apprehended here at 3 o'clock Sunday morning, after having escaped from the Indian school at Chemawa. When questioned by Chief of Police Gibson, the boys stated that they had left the school Saturday afternoon, and were planning to escape to Idaho. They were returned to Chemawa on the first train, leaving for that place after their arrest.
