

New Livers exchanged for Old Ones

Sounds funny doesn't it—but it's true. You can get a brand new liver—just as active and healthy as a liver can be—by the simple process of taking an occasional NR tablet according to directions. And when you have the new liver it means that all the ailments that came from the old one—such as constipation, biliousness, sick headache, indigestion, dyspepsia, stomach trouble, rheumatism, malaria, chills and fever, pimples and bad complexion will disappear.

Take an NR tablet to-night and you'll feel better in the morning.

ELEANOR FRANCES HOUSEHOLD LETTER

TROUSSEAU SETS IN NEW YORK—BRIDAL OUTFITS OF HOUSEHOLD LINENS—POPULARITY OF ALL WHITE IN TABLE DECORATIONS—PRACTICAL COLORED LININGS—OF SANITAS—SHIRTWAIST BOXES—FITTINGS FOR LINEN CLOSETS—GLAZED COVERS FADDISH AND PRACTICAL.

All the special linen stores and we have a number of such places here, are giving particular attention to furnishing "trousseau sets" as the wedding outfit of household linen has come to be designated.

The foreign idea that a bride should have a well-filled linen chest as part of her outfit, has been adopted here by the set of people who control the styles, since what they do is invariably copied. Fashionable dinner clothes are of plain satin finished linen with wide borders, and two monograms are used worked at opposite diagonal corners, placed so that they are well up on the top of the table and not likely to be covered by the china or silver. Very large napkins, either 27 inches square after the English fashion or 24 inches by 36 the oblong French shape are used to go with these plain dinner cloths. The napkins are folded in three and the monogram comes in the center and is placed on the service plate used at all ceremonious dinners.

Lace and Fine Linen.

Marvelous are some of the cloths made up of fine linen flax lace—a square meshed lace made somewhat after the style of Mexican drawn work but differing from that in pattern and general effect. Cloths and dollies of this most costly style are further ornamented with insets of Venice Point lace and patterns done in fine hand embroidery. Such linens are suitable for use only in the most elegant and expensive establishments, but every woman with an eye for artistic handwork is sure to admire these creations which represent months of skilled labor by many clever workers.

All White Effects.

These cloths are used over white or colored satin linings that throw out the design beautifully, but the preponderance of favor is for tables where the setting is all white, color being introduced only in the flowers and favors. In accord with this plain crystal with the monogram cut in is reckoned better style than any more fancy glass. Gold figured glass is more often used at luncheons than on dinner tables, and white and gold china holds first place for the same service, though none of these rules are obligatory among the fashionable set where hostess is more or less a law unto itself.

Lace Centers and Dollies.

Lace edged centers and dollies are the proper caper as indicated by the make up of the afore mentioned trousseau sets, and this is a sensible as well as a pretty fashion, for colored embroideries are perishable under the best of conditions and white pieces do not grow tiresome as colored things have a way of doing.

Colored effects can always be obtained by placing mats under the dollies and center pieces to correspond with any desired scheme of decoration.

Novel and Practical.

A novel and very practical set of colored linings is easily and inexpensively made by purchasing some of the new waterproofed wall covering known as Sanitas and cutting it into mats just a shade smaller than the linen or laces of the dollies or centers. This material can be had in plain buffs, blues, pinks or greens and its substantial texture is a great protection to a polished table, while such linings never wear out or fade and a damp cloth renews their color, for Sanitas is really a sort of glorified oil cloth made up for wall hangings, and imitates perfectly wall papers, burials and leathers, as well as tiles, so that its possibilities for household uses are endless outside of its legitimate field as an artistic and sanitary covering that needs only to be washed with a damp sponge to remove all soil or grime.

Shirtwaist Boxes.

Shirt waist boxes covered with pretty chints patterns of this material are both newer and more practical than those upholstered in cretonnes or matting, and the plain colors make the very pretty and cleanest linings for closet shelves and bureau drawers. For linen chests or closets this is especially suitable, and can be matched in color with the elastic and ribbon bands that hold the sets of towels and napkins in even packages of a dozen or more. A well kept linen closet is a joy to every home loving woman and should be considered in the plans of every house as it surely would be if there were more women architects.

Glass Covers Over Linen.

One of the most popular fads here is to have glass covers made that exactly fit the tops of tea tables, dressing tables, bureaus, and the center pieces used to adorn dinner tables. These perfectly protect the delicate coverings of embroidered and lace trimmed linens, and all the washing needed is that given the glass to keep it clear and bright. This practice is certainly a gain for economy both in preserving the linen and a saving of the time and effort that must otherwise be expended in cleaning such delicate handwork, but it is seen more just now in the more pretentious homes of the metropolis than in the plainer ones where its practical advantages should make most appeal to the housewife.

THE VALUE OF CHARCOAL

Few People Know How Useful It Is in Preserving Health and Beauty. Costs Nothing to Try.

Nearly everybody knows that charcoal is the safest and most efficient disinfectant and purifier in nature, but few realize its value when taken into the human system for the same cleansing purpose.

Charcoal is a remedy that the more you take of it the better; it is not a drug at all, but simply absorbs the gases and impurities always present in the stomach and intestines and carries them out of the system. Charcoal sweetens the breath after smoking, drinking or after eating onions and other odorous vegetables.

Charcoal effectually clears and improves the complexion, it whitens the teeth and further acts as a natural and eminently safe cathartic.

It absorbs the injurious gases which collect in the stomach and bowels; it disinfects the mouth and throat from the poison of catarrh.

All druggists sell charcoal in one form or another, but probably the best charcoal and the most for the money is in Stuart's Charcoal Lozenges; they are composed of the finest powdered willow charcoal, and other harmless antiseptics in tablet form or rather in the form of large pleasant tasting lozenges, the charcoal being mixed with honey.

The daily use of these lozenges will soon tell in a much improved condition of the general health, better complexion, sweeter breath and purer blood, and the beauty of it is, that no possible harm can result from their continued use, but, on the contrary, great benefit.

A Buffalo physician, in speaking of the benefits of charcoal, says: "I advise Stuart's Charcoal Lozenges to all patients suffering from gas in stomach and bowels, and to clear the complexion and purify the breath, mouth and throat; I also believe the liver is greatly benefited by the daily use of them; they cost but 25 cents a box at drug stores, and although in some sense a patent preparation, yet I believe I get more and better charcoal in Stuart's Charcoal Lozenges than in any of the ordinary charcoal tablets."

BEER PROMOTES TEMPERANCE

Recognized as a Food Product, and So Dealt With by the Government

It is being recognized the world over that the drinking of beer promotes temperance and sobriety to a far greater extent than all the prohibition laws on the statute books.

All enlightened European nations are encouraging the manufacture and consumption of light beers containing about three and one-half per cent alcohol, and the result has been most gratifying to all sincere lovers of temperance.

The United States government has taken a positive stand in this direction, the war department holding that the re-establishment of the army canteen for the sale of beer being an absolute necessity in the interest of temperance and sobriety.

Beers today recognized as a "Food Product," and is so dealt with by the government.

All the great insurance companies have contradicted the idea that have been given currency through prohibition sources that the drinking of beer was a bar to securing insurance, and have lately published to the world at large the statement that those drinking beer moderately (not more than two quarts during twenty-four hours) were the very best of risks. The latest British life insurance reports show that the ratio of death rate among abstainers is thirty per cent greater than among moderate drinkers.

Beer is pure and wholesome, and the day is not far distant when it will be as much a part of the daily subsistence of every family as are milk, bread and other food necessities.

The beer brewed by the Salem Brewery Association is in every sense the very best that modern enterprise can produce. It speaks for itself and is its own best advertisement.
