

DUPLICATE ANCIENT ROMAN LUXURY

If the effeminate luxury with which the Roman senate surrounded itself presaged the birth of the Roman empire as some have asserted, an underground railroad with cars upholstered in velvet connecting the United States capitol with two marble palaces, newly built and about to be opened, ought at least to furnish food for reflection to the American people, says the Washington correspondent of the Seattle Times.

The senate and house office buildings they are called. The cost $3,000,000 each. With foundations of granite, walls of marble, roofs of tile; with baths and languorous lounging places; with such furnishings as even the Romans were denied, they are called office buildings.

In them there will be means to gratify all the senses. Banquet halls, reception apartments, decorated in carved marble, great fireplaces, meeting rooms so high and wide and imposing as to suggest a cathedral, corridors through which teams of horses might with ease be driven; every feature, in fact, will be as far from the theoretical simplicity of a republic as money can make it. And in one building there will be apartments for every senator, and in the other for every member of the house.

Picturesque Toga Lacking.

Our senators will not wear the picturesque toga, but like the Roman senators they will clap their fat hands, and like the Roman pages, our pages will come running. The senator who desires to retire will pass from the senate chamber to the elevator, the private elevator marked for senators only, and will be gently dropped into the basement, where he will take a seat in the red velvet car the page has summoned. The car will roll away through the underground passage, lined with white tiling, to the basement of the marble office building and there another elevator will devote itself to the exclusive business of hoisting the senator to his apartments. And there the senator will do as he pleases, for none but the elect may enter into his presence.

The magnitude of these marble buildings may be appreciated from the area they cover. Each embracing an entire city square. It is also indicated by the fact that it has taken about five years to build each of them. The senate palace, white no larger than that of the house, appears to be receiving the finer finish as it will take some months longer but there is no sign in either that expense has been spared. It would be difficult to find a place anywhere about them to spend another dollar. And the walls are so massive and the construction done with such care that they will stand for ages as a monument to what the American congress thought of itself at the beginning of the twentieth century.

Ready in a Few Days.

The house will enter upon the enjoyment of its palace in a few days, the preparations for the opening of that building being almost completed. A special committee has already set aside such rooms as are to be used for committee purposes, and on January 8 the members drew lots for the remaining rooms. There are 410 rooms in the house building, in addition to committee rooms, caucus halls, smoking rooms, bathing section, cafe, pantry, dining rooms, etc., and there are only 396 members of the house, including the half members from Porto Rico and the Philippines, so that there ought to be room for all and no crowding. It is not yet known whether meals, shaving and baths are to be free to members.

Neglected Colds Threatens Life.

(From the Chicago Tribune.)
"Don't trifle with a cold," is good advice for prudent men and women. It may be vital in the case of a child. Proper food, good ventilation, and dry, warm clothing are the proper safeguards against colds. If they are maintained through the changeable weather of autumn, winter and spring, the chances of a surprise from ordinary colds will be slight. But the ordinary light colds will become severe if neglected, and a well established ripe cold is to the germs of diphtheria what honey is to the bee. The greatest menace to child life at this season of the year is the neglected cold. Whether it is a child or adult, the cold slight or severe, the very best treatment that can be adopted is to give Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. It is safe and sure. The great popularity and immense sale of this preparation has been attained by its remarkable cures of this ailment. A cold never results in pneumonia when it is given. For sale at Dr. Stone's drug store.

Elks' Purple Minstrels.

The local lodge of Elks have completed all arrangements for a monster minstrel jubilee to be given at the Grand opera house early in March. They have secured a complete scenic and costume equipment from the east and also two professional men to stage and direct the performances. This engagement will be the most ambitious attempt ever made by the antlered brethren here and will be replete with surprises and special features. Preparations for the event are being made and a regular first class minstrel show will be produced which will contain all the earmarks of a professional presentation. A grand minstrel parade will be given fully costumed and 50 of the handsomest Elks in town will proudly march through the principal streets of the city, with banners flying and band playing. Nothing that money or brains can do will be overlooked to make this a great financial, social and artistic success. The preliminaries, assignment of parts, etc., will be arranged at a meeting of the Elks Sunday afternoon in their hall.

Neighborhood Favorite.

Mrs. E. D. Charles, of Harbor, Me., speaking of Electric Bitters, says: "It is a neighborhood favorite here with us." It deserves to be a favorite everywhere. It gives quick relief in dyspepsia, liver complaint, kidney derangement, malnutrition, nervousness, weakness and general debility. Its action on the blood, as a thorough purifier makes it especially useful as a spring medicine. This grand alternative tonic is sold under guarantee at J. C. Perry's drug store; 50c.

Women as Well as Men Are Made Miserable by Kidney and Bladder Trouble.

Kidney trouble preys upon the mind, discourages and lessens ambition; beauty, vigor and cheerfulness soon disappear when the kidneys are out of order or diseased.

Kidney trouble has become so prevalent that it is not uncommon for a child to be born afflicted with weak kidneys. If the child urinates too often, if the urine scalds the flesh, or if, when the child reaches an age when it should be able to control the passage, it is yet afflicted with bed-wetting, depend upon it, the cause of the difficulty is kidney trouble, and the first step should be towards the treatment of these important organs. This unpleasant trouble is due to a diseased condition of the kidneys and bladder and not to a habit as most people suppose.

Women as well as men are made miserable with kidney and bladder trouble, and both need the same great remedy. The mild and the immediate effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It is sold by druggists, in fifty-cent and one-dollar size bottles. You may have a sample bottle by mail free, also a Book of Swamp-Root, pamphlet telling all about Swamp-Root, including many of the thousands of testimonial letters received from sufferers cured. In writing Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., be sure and mention this paper. Don't make any mistakes, but remember the name, Swamp-Root, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and the address, Binghamton, N. Y., on every bottle.
