A DANCE AT THE RANCH

From every point they gaily come, the bronchos' unshed feet Pat at the green sod of the range with quick emphatic beat; The treases of the buxom girls as banners stream behind-Like sliken custigating whips cut at the sweeping wind. The deshing cowboys, brown of face sit in their saddle thrones And sing the wild songs of the range in free uncultured tones, Or ride beside the pretty girls, like gallant cavallers, And pour the usual fairy tales into their distoning cars. Within the "best room" of the ranch the jolly gathered throng Burn like a swarm of human bees and leid the air with song. The maldens tap their sweetest smiles and give their tongues full rein In efforts to entrap the boys in admiration's chain. The Bddler tune the strings with pick of thumb and scrape of bow, Finds one string keyed a note too high, another keyed too low, Then rosins up the tight-drawn hairs, the young folks in a fret Until their ears are gretted with the warning words: All set!

B'lute yer pardners! Let 'er go! Balance all an' do-se-do! Bwing yer gals an' run away! Right an' left an' gents sashay! Conts to right an' swing or treat!

On to the next gal an' repeat! Balance next an' don't be shy! Swing yer pardner an' swing 'er high! Busch the gals an' circle round! Whack yer feet ontil they bound! Form a basket! Break away! Swing an' kise an' all git gay! Alman left an' balance all! Lift your hoofs an' let 'em fall! Bwing yer op'wites! Swing agin! Kiss the sage hens if ye kin! Back to pardners, do-se-do! All jine hands an' off we go! Genta salute yer little sweets! Hitch an' promenate to seate!

And thus the merry dance goes on till mo rning's struggling light In lengthening streaks of gray breaks down the barriers of night, And bronks are mounted in the glow of -arly morning skies By weary-limbed young revelers with drooping, sleeping eyes. The cowbeys to the ranges speed to "work" the lowing heards, The girls within their chambers hide to sleep like weary birds, And for a week the young filks talk of what a jolly spree They had that night at Jackson's ranch down on the Owyhee. -Denver Post.

Thereis no reason why Republican candidates for the legislature should not sign Statement No. 1 with the determination to preserve the power of the Republican party in the state.

If he wants to take Statement No. 1 it is in the interest of the people for him to do so. It may be in his own interest as a candidate or ME may not.

If he wants to take Statement No. 2, let him do so. Let him not be a hypocrite, but let his say BOLDLY AND OPENLY THAT HE IS NOT GOING TO THE LEGISLATURE TO VOTE FOR THE CHOICE OF THE

DIVORCES IN THE BAILROAD FAMILY.

The government's suit to divorce the Union Pacific and Southern Pawife roads is a great mistake. If that union is Hiegal, so, also, very bearly, is the combination of the Lake Shore and the Michigan Cuntral, thich are "parallel and competing" lines I as much stricter sense than so the Harriman carriers. Both are controlled by the New York Contal through ownership of stock in the same way that Union Pacific consols Oregon Short Line and Southern Pacific. To got a step further back, in the New York Central system alone, the Vanderbilt enterprise controls the Nickel Plate, another "parallel and competing" road; a litt 16 further back, it controls, the "par-allel and competing" West Shore Ra Hway. In deed, to enforce the sillystatutory theory that rallroads in a p ratition to compute must not be com-bined would thrown into confusio m a considerable part of the trans-portation system of the country. C emfusion and vession, for a time-would be the only result. No publi In good, so far as we are informedon the subject, ever came of the go Waramust "victory" in dissolving thunger-r of the Northern Pacific and G west Northern. Name will come stany court decree ordering the Unio

In place of th is merely embarrassing suit weshould like to see action by the go vernment to make the position of therailroads easier, as by legalizing p cols that they then, with unques-tionable justice, might be held to the e strictest accountability.—SaturdayEvening Post, Feb. 15.

The above is sent to us from THE CELEBRATED WEEKLY FOUND. ED BY BENJAMIN FRANKLIN.

It is an argument to legalize pooling of competing railroads, and the argument is very specious.

WHY SHOULD ONE COMMON CARRIER CORPORATION BE AL-LOWED TO HOLD STOCK IN ANOTHER COMPETING CARRIER? Why should Mr. Harriman be allowed to issue stocks and bonds ad libitum on properties he controls?

He is said to be making millions of surplus profits out of Oregon railroads with which hels buying other roads and issuing more stocks and tender and juicy beef, mutton or bonds, on which the traffic must pay interest and dividends.

IN THE MEAN TIME HE IS BUILDING NO NEW LINES IN ORE-Can that system go on forever until the mustimillionaire corporation
