"SLIDE MABEL," NOT KELLY, IS THE CRY

(United Press Leased Wire.)
Seattle, Wash., March 6.—"Slide, Mabel, slide, you dear"

The foregoing familiar exclamation is being produced with many variations at the State University these days, and in response to the urging of many fair rosters athletic co-eds, clad in bloomers, are playing the respective parts in the great American game.

Yes, the co-eds have organized a baseball team, two of them, and girls' baseball and hockey are now established sports at the State University. The suggestion that the co-eds take up this masculine form of sport was at first treated as a joke, but now that the girls have actually been out swinging a bat and running around the diamond, there is no longer doubt of the girls' support of the innovation.

GAME LOGGER CARRIES OWN SEVERED LEG

(United Press Leased Wire.)

Vancouver, B. C., March 6.—Carrying his severed right leg with him, Daniel Stetson, a hand logger crawled through two miles of brush to tide water at Toby Inlet, got into a boat and rowed another two miles down the coast to a logging camp before finally collapsing. Stetson was logging in the country back of Toby Inlet. He was working alone, and Monday, while felling a tree, was caught by the timber. It crushed his right leg into a shapeless mass, practically tearing it off, and Stetson completed the work by cutting the shreds of skin which remained. He was taken to Vananda hospital, where he died on Tuesday from loss of blood.

TRAINMEN ASK ROOSEVELT TO CHANGE MIND

(United Press Leased Wire.)

Spokane, Wash., March 6.—Amid scenes of great excitement, a resolution was adopted last night at a meeting of the Spokane lodge of the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen, which has nearly 400 members, requesting President Roosevelt to reconsider his determination not to be a candidate for a third term. The resolution petition declares that Roosevelt is needed as chief executive to complete "his fight for the people against the great corporations and monopolies of the country." The resolutions, which will be forwarded to the President, declared "We do not feel like trusting this great work to anyone else, even though he should be in accord with your principles and methods."

GIVE UP SEARCH FOR MISSING DRAUGHTSMAN.

(United Press Leased Wire.)

North Yakima, Wash., March 6.—Welland C. Torch, a draughtsman in the United States reclamation service at Sunnyside, this county, disappeared mysteriously after leaving his office for his home Tuesday noon. No trace of him can be found, and search was abandoned yesterday afternoon. Mayor Tiffany, of Sunnyside, and members of the reclamation service there have offered $100 reward.

Posses were organized immediately to search for Torch. No trace of him was found.

COUNTY STOCK INSPECTOR

FILES MONTHLY REPORT

Since my last report there has not existed any contagious or infectious disease in the county, to my knowledge, to any great extent.

Mango which has generally troubled us at this season of the year has not appeared this spring as yet. As far as I have been able to learn there has been no appearance of scab in sheep this season, and I believe 95 per cent of the sheep and goats of Marion county are without disease. There has been some cases of Colt all, or influenza, among horses; some cases terminating unfavorably; some dying, others going into Pupuria Hemorrhagica which is quite fatal. Farmers seem to have an abundance of feed for their stock, owing I think to the raising of large quantities of vetch and wheat for hay, which seems to be a very good hay product and quite easily raised; also due to the mild winter and absence of very severe storms.

I am informed by numbers of stock men that a large percentage of the young stock have subsisted on the grazing especially when housed at night with the addition of a little rough feed at night; all things considered, such stock are looking well for this season of the year. I have tested a few cows with tubercoline for tuberculosis, notably one at Silverton of which the people who saw her had grave fears.

The price of horses is at least 30 per cent lower now than at this date a year ago, but this does not militate against the breeding of good horses which still sell at a good price, but is to be accounted for by the financial stringency and shrinkage in values throughout the country, but at the present prices of horses it will pay the stockman well to raise them, especially the heavier classes. I note some fine draft horses having been brought into the county and with those previously owned here makes a fine collection for the farmer to choose from.

Cows are selling at a fair price especially those above the average grade.

I have visited several of the dairies over the county and talked freely with the owners and find that they have generally had a satisfactory and prosperous time and that dairies are paying well. I am sure, however, that dairymen are milking quite a number of cows that really do not pay to keep as dairy cows. Out of 17 records that I have made concerning the amount of milk produced by a single cow, they all agree that the cows should produce two to two and a half gallons each per day the year round. Speaking of the dairymen who have cows that do not pay, I think that each dairyman should have a tester and should test each cow and all cows that fall below 4 per cent butter fat ought to be cut out, fattened and sold to the butcher, unless they are exceedingly large milkers. Calves to replace those cows sold to the butcher should be purchased showing good points and from good milking strains to build up the herd instead of piling it down. Testers can be purchased from $6 to $10, consequently within the reach of all dairymen.

I examined the United States government herd at Chemawa and in the physical inspection I only found three or four that I thought the herd would be better off if they were disposed of; they were old cows and such in any herd should be fattened and used for beef. I submitted my findings in writing to the superintendent.

I noticed in my rounds among the dairies, that quite a number of dairy barns are being improved or repaired and some new ones being built and I am surprised that those building new barns should pay so little attention to the law specifying the necessary amount of square feet of brooding space per cow to keep them in good health, the space according to law being 800 cubic feet of air space. I believe that dairying is conducive when rightly carried on in a neighborhood of a larger sociability than almost any other avocation from the following. Here are four or five neighbors living along a certain road all in the dairy business once a week at least and part of the year twice a week the dairy product must be taken to market and one of these dairymen generally (each taking turn) taking the product to the creamery or railroad station, thus bringing them in contact once or twice a week where their principal thought will be dairy work and products and where they will be apt to discuss such problems and where if any one of them has obtained any valuable knowledge or information he is sure to discuss the same with the others.

Right here I wish to enter a protest against a custom prevalent in some place of a man gathering cream for some creamery being probably all day out in the hot sun till the cream is in a state of fermentation before it gets to the creamery and is unfit to make good or choice butter on its arrival. I will instance one case in point that I saw. A man stopped at a creek and was dipping water with a bucket and pouring it over the cans of cream to cool the cream which was frothing almost out of the can from acid fermentation. I think it is most certainly to the advantage and credit of the dairyman to get his butter fat to the creamery in the best possible condition, even if he has to pay a little more to get it there, the best creamery butter always commands top price.

And now a suggestion to dairymen in regard to food for the cow. In the late summer the cows flow of milk may be kept up by a little forethought in sowing vetch at such a time that a goodly amount may be used for soiling when the pastures are dry and brown. For the late winter, when the cows are falling off from long close confinement and dry feed, a liberal allowance of roots, potatoes are good especially large cored grown potatoes, also by planting a quantity of kale which makes a good, green forage and is not injured by frost and can be gathered any time and is readily eaten by them.

As far as my knowledge extends there is no infectious or contagious disease among cattle at this time as shown by physical examination. But incidentally I would like to say that I believe it would be profitable both to the farmer and to the state if the dairymen would have his herd tested with tubercolin for tuberculosis at least once every year. No physical examination will discover the presence of tuberculosis until the disease is in an advanced stage.

Respectfully submitted,
D. D. KELLER,
Stock Inspector for Marion Co.

CONGRESS TO INVESTIGATE

ELECTRIC BOAT COMPANY.

(United Press Leased Wire.)
Washington, March 6.—The house today adopted the report of the rules committee, recommending an investigation of the charges of corrupt practices on the part of the Electric Boat Company in securing legislation favorable to the purchase from that company of submarines. A special committee was named to conduct the investigation.

LOOKS GOOD HEPBURN MEASURE

$2,000 FOR SEAT

INCREASE IN PRICE OF SEATS IS TAKEN AS INDICATION THAT PROSPECTS ARE GOOD FOR PASSAGE OF HEPBURN BILL
MAKING STOCK SALES.

(United Press Leased Wire.)

New York, March 6.—A seat on the stock exchange has just been sold for $2,000, this being the first sale since the change since the announcement of the Hepburn bill proposing a tax on stock sales at the rate of 50¢ on each 100 shares. The seat sold brought $51,000 and the increase in the price is taken as an indication that the prospect that the Hepburn bill is considered small. The measure would greatly reduce the earning power of a stock exchange membership.

AMERICANS TO RESCUE OF JAPANESE

(United Press Leased Wire.)

Sitka, Alaska, March 6.—The eleven surviving members of the wrecked Japanese schooner Satsuma Maru were rescued by the United States revenue cutter Thetis from a point seven miles north of Cape Manby, Yukatkat bay, on the 3d instant. The Thetis is proceeding with the men and their effects to Seattle. Captain A. J. Henderson, of the Thetis, on his arrival here said:

"The rescue work was facilitated and made possible by a strong northerly gale on the first and second, which smoothed the prevailing heavy ocean swells. The men were taken from a very bad beach with an outer bar on which were only five feet of water 200 yards from shore, along which a strong current set and a heavy surf rolled six to eight feet high.

"The marooned men are all in good health except First Officer Tauda, who has a gangrenous gunshot wound in the left hand."

SEATTLE BANDIT IS #### THOUGHT TO BE FEMALE.

(United Press Leased Wire.)

Seattle, Wash., March 6.—A female bandit is now supposed to have held up the Fishermen's saloon early yesterday morning, and the police are working on a new clue. The robbery was that of an expert, but on account of the slender build of the person, the delicate hands and other essential points, the robber is believed to have been a woman.
