

UREN FACES ACCUSERS AT GRAND OPERA HOUSE

Challenge Not Met By the Anti's--Audience Was Enthusiastic--Salem Leaders Were Given a Number of Good Natural Jolts--Compliments For Machine and Crafters

Report of the Meeting.

There was a fair-sized audience at the grand opera house last night to hear the debate on Statement No. 1. The grand opera house, he was invited to debate the question of the machine and the grafters. He expressed regret that he was not in Washington attending to his official duties, and it would be unfair to make any attack on a man not where he could face his accusers. The audience was one of the best political audiences ever turned out in Salem, and was composed largely of Republicans and many college students, who turned out to hear the arguments, but were pleased with the man and his manner. Subordinate the party and the machine absolutely to the will of the people, was the plea of Mr. U'ren. We need parties and leaders but not machines nor bosses was his cry.

In conclusion Mr. U'ren warned those Republicans who were saying they would support no Statement No. 1 man, that the same policy on the part of those who upheld the primary law would defeat every candidate for the legislature on the Republican ticket in Marion county, and that it was unwise and unnecessary.

He eulogized Senator Bourne as a man who had played at the game of dirty politics, when all the rest played it, but who was willing to uphold a clean system adopted by the people, and got a good round applause for his sentiments in that line. He contended all the way through that it was the system that had made its adherents do wrong; that men naturally wanted a better condition of things, and if there was any criminality in politics today it was on the part of those who deliberately wanted to return to the rotten methods of the past.

All over the state candidates are announcing themselves through the newspaper, respectfully submitting themselves to the voters, instead of the bosses. It is not always thus before the days of the direct primary law.

ton was called for and responded amid great enthusiasm with a few words.

To the surprise of all, W. S. U'ren made no attack on Senator Fulton at the opera house. He did say he was personally in favor of Calkins for senator, but that Fulton was in Washington attending to his official duties, and it would be unfair to make any attack on a man not where he could face his accusers.

GOLLOWAY ADJOURNED COURT

In Honor of the Late Justice Halley—Department No. 2 Has a Badly Congested Docket.

The circuit court, Judge Galloway, adjourned today in respect to the late Judge Thomas C. Halley, at the unanimous request of the Bar Association of this city.

The case of the state against ex-Secretary of State F. I. Dunbar to recover nearly $100,000 claimed to have been illegally collected was continued until 9 o'clock tomorrow morning. Developments of an exciting nature may take place when court opens up, Dunbar having been ordered to appear at that time and show cause why he should not be punished for contempt for failing to appear and produce his private memorandum books, in which were recorded the fees he took while in office. At the close of the last hearing it was understood he would fail to appear, and his attorneys would appeal under a bond to the supreme court.

A Crowded Docket.

The circuit court docket of this district has become so congested that, unless the number of suits filed in the future diminishes to a considerable extent, or the circuit judge of some other county can come to the assistance of Judge Galloway, it is doubtful if the majority of the cases begun can be heard for several months at the earliest.

Judge Galloway, of the equity department of the circuit court, after sitting for five weeks almost consecutively in this county, has nearly 150 cases still on his docket. This same number of cases were on his docket when he began his present term five weeks ago, and, in spite of the disposal of over 100, the number remains unchanged, new suits pouring in continually. With this large docket in this county starting him in the face, Judge Galloway is compelled to go to Linn county next Monday and begin the hearing of some 120 matters, which have started there since his last sitting. In the meanwhile, Tillamook cases have aggregated a larger number than ever before there being between 75 and 100 cases held up there, with more suits forming a steadily increasing stream. Judge Galloway will be unable to go to Tillamook until April 20th, and by that time, if legal troubles increase at their present rate, the probabilities are there will be in the neighborhood of 200 untried cases in this county and 150 in Tillamook. Yamhill county attorneys are also complaining of cases being held up for trial, but Judge Galloway will not be able to repair to that county until April 13th, and it is doubtful if, even then, he will be able to hear all of the cases awaiting him there. Polk county alone fails to add its quota of complaint, for there is but the usual number of small suits to be heard in that county. Judge Burnett, of Department No. 1, the criminal court of the district, has on several occasions come to the rescue of Judge Galloway, but that department has a considerable lot of work itself at present.

The work of the equity department of the circuit court is destined to be on the increase instead of becoming less, owing to the appeals which are beginning to be made from the Railroad Commission, in accordance with law. In addition to these, the great majority of suits against State officials are begun in the circuit court in this district, and these cases take a great deal of time, usually several days in succession, such as the Dunbar and Kincaid cases, now pending.

W. J. Carlton, of 1446 Third St., Salem, Ore., says: "Doan's Kidney Pills, which I procured at Dr. Stone's drug store, not only strengthened my kidneys but they speedily removed the backache and lameness. A remedy that acts with such prompt and beneficial results as Doan's Kidney Pills is worthy of all confidence. I can conscientiously recommend them to others for I know I never had any medicine of the kind equal to them for curing backache and kidney trouble."
