

HORSE SHOW AT SALEM, APRIL 4, '08

Will Be a Great Social Event With Two Parades on Paved Portion of Court Street.

The committee on prizes for the great Salem horse show, to be held April 4, is meeting a hearty reception from the enterprising business men of the Capital City, and Chairman Del Dinmoor is highly elated with the excellent prospects for a list prizes sent in, with their donors and the class in which they will be awarded:

- J. L. Stockton, cup, value, $25; best standard bred stallion, any age.
- U. S. National Bank, cup, value, $15; best Percheron stallion.
- Capital National Bank, cup, value $15; best Clydesdale stallion, any age.
- Pacific Homestead, silver berry not classified.

A valuable cup will also be given by Chas. Yaunke.

A number of other cups were sent in, but donors had not decided to what class they would give them, so they will be mentioned later.

Buyen & Hamilton, rug, $10; not classified.

F. E. Shafer, stud bridle, value $8; not classified.

Two Big Parades.

Two monster parades will be held during the day, and the lovers of horseflesh will be given an opportunity to see the finest array of equines ever brought together in the Willamette valley. The parade in the morning will include all animals entered for exhibition, while that of the afternoon will include only the premium equines.

of prizes that will surprise the natives.

A few of the things already accomplished have been outlined, and now comes a second partial result of the committee, which is indeed a magnificent showing. By the time the committee has finished its work it will have on hand about $500 in cash and about 50 valuable prizes to offer the horsemen exhibiting their equines in the great Salem horse show, April 4.

Following is a partial list of the Del A. Dinmoore, cup, value $10; best Belgian stallion.

Steuiloff Bros., cup, value $10; best team of roadsters.

D. J. Fry, cup, value $10; best Percheron mare.

These beautiful cups are on exhibition today in the window of J. L. Stockton's store on Court and Commercial streets.

Three cups were added to the list of premiums yesterday, A. Bush giving a silver cup, valued at $15, for the best English Shire stallion and get, and Chas. Yaunke donated two silver cups to be awarded as first and second premiums, the class not having been decided upon.

The committee is still industriously at work, and many more valuable prizes will be added to the list.

Everybody boost for the big Salem horse show, April 4.

Oriental Investments in Jewelry.
Consul E. L. Harris of Smyrna reports that jewelry has always been greatly in favor among the Lavanines, not only as a means of embellishment but also as an investment. The consul adds:

"Even now, and in spite of the many saving banks which provide a fishment, but also as an investment, people in the interior prefer to purchase jewelry, probably through a feeling of suspicion in turning their money into strange hands."

"Smyrna abounds in jewelers and goldsmiths, who are not, however, skillful in cutting and setting. Precious stones, especially diamonds, are imported in the rough state from Holland. It is difficult to value the amount imported, as the greater part of this article is smuggled in.

"A large quantity of false jewelry, worth $30,000 to $55,000, is brought in from Gabsanz in Austria and from Germany. The greater part of these imports is sent to the interior and to the islands of the archipelago."

Mr. John Riha of Vining, Ia., says "I have been selling DeWitt's Kidney and Bladder Pills for about a year and they give better satisfaction than any pill I ever sold. I have used them myself with fine results." Sold by all druggists.

It is to be the sage tale of a dog without a tag in your case at Salem.

Benson Saved $2000.

The sending out of the pamphlets containing the measures to be voted upon at the general election in June, together with the arguments for and against the same, has been begun by the secretary of state. Already over 60,000 have been sent out to voters of the state, whose names have been submitted to the secretary of state.

The state printer has prepared 100,000 of these pamphlets, in all, at a cost of $6373.75. Of this amount the persons submitting the measures and arguments will have to pay $2797.34 as their proportion as fixed by law. The total amount collected by the secretary of state from the filers of the arguments is $2900.

An adjustment will be made on a percentage basis, and those who have paid more than their share shall receive a refund, while the others, who have not paid their full percentage shall have to remit the difference to the secretary of state. The postage for the sending out of these arguments will cost about $3000, and the cost of $6373.75 will have to be added to it, before the actual expense of getting out the measures can be ascertained, the amount of postage, the cost for clerks engaged in mailing about $250, and the cost of securing the names of voters.

Secretary of State Benson, it is estimated, has saved about $3000 in getting up of the pamphlet by his arrangement of the measures.

Perfection in cake and biscuit making is attained by the use of Royal Baking Powder. And the ease and dexterity of their making is marvelous.

Royal Baking Powder

Absolutely Pure

The only baking powder made with Royal Grape Cream of Tartar. Hence the superiority of the food it leavens. Hence the anti-dyspeptic qualities which it imparts to the food.

HENEY TO LET UP ON THE SENATOR

Advices From Washington to the Effect That Fulton Is Not to Be Annoyed

(Portland Telegram.) President Roosevelt and United States Senator Charles W. Fulton are on a friendly footing and the President has suggested to Francis J. Heney that he drop further attacks on Fulton.

This is a rumor which is in circulation and which is said to have been brought west from Washington. If the rumor is correct, as is asserted, it will change the complexion of things political to some extent. There are several indications which have a tendency to confirm the rumor. Among them may be mentioned the appointment of John McCourt as United States district attorney for Oregon. This is a Fulton appointment and one in which Fulton bested Senator Bourne, who was supposed to have the stronger White House pull. For two years when it was generally known that Fulton and Roosevelt were at odds, it was impossible for Fulton to have W. C. Bristol eliminated from the district attorneyship. Fulton had tried repeatedly to secure this appointment for some of his friends, but invariably failed and through the activity of Bourne, Fulton's wishes were ignored, notably when Chris Schuebel was nominated by the President at the request of Bourne, when Fulton, backed by the two congressmen, had recommended another man. That the President has undergone a change of heart regarding Fulton is apparent, for when Fulton recommended McCourt, the latter was promptly nominated and confirmed, although McCourt's selection did not meet with the enthusiastic approval of Bourne, who would have prevented it had he been able to do so.

While Fulton's victory in the matter of selecting a United States attorney discloses a friendly feeling between the senior senator from Oregon and the President, there is said to be even stronger evidence that President Roosevelt and Fulton buried the hatchet. All the that Heney has been interesting himself in Oregon affairs it has suspected that he was trying to "something on" Fulton, and who did not have evidence that could water in court, Heney went to church and made his attack on Fulton. That Heney was after Fulton at the suggestion of Roosevelt also suspected, owing to the friction between the senator and the President.

Now there is a change. What friendliness between Roosevelt and Fulton comes the report from formal that Heney will not be the second broadside at Fulton, as had advertised. It was Heney's intention to draw Fulton's reply to church speech, and then come Oregon and make further attacks on the eve of the primaries. He it is said on good authority, will come to Oregon to attack Fulton nor will he prepare his attack send it to the newspapers. In words, Heney is said to have "called off" by Roosevelt, and instead of wanting to see Fulton off the map, as had been his plan, Roosevelt is now well satisfied with the Oregon senator.

This understanding between chief executive and the senator about through the stand Fulton taken on a number of important matters, and when Roosevelt votes to support him on several issues, Fulton was with him. The for to recover the railroad grants is one of the principal factors in bringing Roosevelt and Fulton together, as well as the railroad amendment and his consent to the interstate commerce act. All these are matters in which President has been unsatisfied. In the railroad amendment, Roosevelt was delighted, not for some time was he believed to be even stronger evidence that who had drafted the measure.
