

TARGET PRACTICE ENDED

IT IS A FISH STORY

ILL-FATED STEAMER GOES DOWN WITH NEARLY ALL PASSENGERS AND CREW—ONE BOATLOAD OF WOMEN SANK IN THE SWIRL—THE BRAVE CAPTAIN STOOD ON THE BRIDGE.

(By Norman Rose, Staff Correspondent of the United Press, with the Fleet.)

Magdalena Bay, March 23.—(By government wireless to San Diego)—The battleship Ohio is the first of Rear-Admiral Evans' fleet to complete her target practice. The big ship fired the last shot yesterday, and today the gunners are resting after their arduous labors.

The battleship Georgia had prolonged night target practice last night with three-inch guns and three pounders.

A fishing party from the Georgia had a narrow escape from drowning yesterday when a terrific fight between a whale and a "threshing" shark threatened to wreck the ship's launch. The shark leaped high in the air time and again, alighting on the back of the whale and slashing it terribly. It was by the narrowest margin that the launch was stopped in time to avoid being smashed to splinters by the lungs of the sea monster. The weather here continues fine.

The supply ship Culoga arrived Saturday with mail and supplies of frozen meats and fruits for the fleet.

Ships Added to Fleet.
Washington, March 23.—Orders were issued today assigned the Nebraska to the Atlantic fleet now at Magdalena Bay. The ship will probably report to Rear-Admiral Evans at San Diego. The Wisconsin will be placed in commission at Puget Sound about April 1, in time to join the big fleet.

Jap Steamer Sinks.
Tokio, March 23.—Later advices from Hakodate, off which point the steamers Mutsu Maru and Hideyoshi Maru collided early this morning. Six the number of drowned at 265, 220 of these being passengers of the Mutsu Maru, and the remainder members of the crew of the same boat. The Mutsu Maru lies in several fathoms of water today, a total loss. The Hideyoshi Maru was not badly damaged.

A dense fog was responsible for the crash. The Mutsu, an 1800-ton coaster, was cut nearly in two by the Hideyoshi, and filled so quickly that she sank before her boats could be gotten clear. Scores of her passengers leaped into the water, but so dense was the fog that the small boats of the Hideyoshi, which immediately put back, had the greatest difficulty in locating those who were swimming.

Some of the survivors declare that one boat, in which were several women, was lowered but did not get clear quickly enough to escape being drawn under when the steamer sank. The captain of the Mutsu went down with his ship, remaining at his post on the bridge.

Move Wins Friends.
Tokio, March 23.—Expressions of satisfaction are being made by every newspaper in Tokio at the decision of the administration at Washington to have the Atlantic fleet stop at a Japanese port on its trip around the world. The most rabid anti-American publications are also joining in the rejoicing.

HE RESTED HIS HEAD ON A RAIL

(United Press Leased Wire.)
San Francisco, March 23.—Resting his head on a car rail in San Bruno avenue, and awaiting death because he said no one in the world cared for him, Fred Pollock was instantly killed when a car rushed by him in the darkness of last night.

Motorman Blank, who was arrested and charged with manslaughter, declared he did not see the man lying on the rail until it was too late to stop the car. He was released on bail.

Pollock, who was a metal worker, recently became despondent because he thought he did not have a friend to turn to in case of trouble. Rather than live this sort of life, he preferred death.

HEARST HAS A CANDIDATE

New York, March 23.—Thomas L. Higgen, who was the Hearst candidate for governor of Massachusetts, has been sprung by the Hearst papers as a likely candidate for President on the independence League ticket. However, there is a string to the boom, as Mr. Hearst may be the candidate himself.

The League will hold its convention immediately following the Denver convention.

Mr. Higgen has become prominent through his attacks upon the Standard Oil Company and other corporations.

His parents were Germans, and the troubles his father had with the Standard Oil caused the son to fight that corporation at every opportunity.

DAISY DOOLEY FAILED

Girl Says She Came All the Way From Michigan to California to Kill Herself.

(United Press Leased Wire.)
San Francisco, March 23.—Miss Daisy Cooley, a patient at the Harbor Emergency Hospital, is today bewailing the poor luck which last evening caused a doubly planned attempt at suicide to miscarry.

"I think it is a shame that you men should interfere with my plans, after I came all the way from Mount Morris, Michigan, to San Francisco to kill myself," she declared to the attending physicians.

After boarding a ferry for Alameda last night, Miss Cooley went to the ladies' parlor, removed her clothes and donned her nightgown. She had just swallowed a quantity of Paris green when a member of the crew, who had been told of the woman's queer actions by other women on the boat, broke into the parlor. As he forced open the door Miss Cooley leaped through a window and plunged into the bay. A small boat was lowered, and she was rescued and removed to the hospital.

Miss Cooley said she was once an inmate of an asylum.

GOLDMAN WOMAN TALKING

(United Press Leased Wire.)
Milwaukee, Wis., March 23.—Now is the crisis of the age, and the workingman should act at once. There are not enough cannon and soldiers in the world to stop the tide of anarchy, once the workingman has felt his power.

Thus spoke Emma Goldman, the "queen of the reds," to a crowd of 1000 persons, who had gathered in an obscure hall to listen to her harangue.

"There is a conspiracy in this country to hang every person connected with anarchy," she continued, excitedly. "The men who tried Moyer, Haywood and Pettibone dared not find them guilty, for they knew that the spirit of the Paris commune would rise up and use violence if necessary to save these men. This spirit is stronger than ever, and soon, if conditions do not change, the red flag of anarchy will float in every corner of the globe."

Police were present, but no attempt to prevent the Goldman woman from speaking was made.

PROGRAM FOR WEEK

American Dreyfus. He was a captain in the engineer corps of the United States army, and at the time of his downfall was in charge of harbor improvements at Savannah, Ga., the contractors being the notorious Greene and Gaylor. Frauds were unearthed, and the government accused Carter of abetting them, and in sharing in the profits.

Carter served four years in Fort Leavenworth military prison.

Tillman Knocked Out.

Washington, March 23.—A telegram from the bedside of Senator Tillman, at Columbia, S. C., announced today that the famous statesman may not be able to participate in the remaining proceedings of this session of congress.

Although his condition was much improved today, it is thought that he will not regain sufficient strength to enable him to make the trip to Washington before the senate adjourns.

New Cars.

Two new cars of the same type as has been run on the asylum line, have been put into service by the Portland General Electric Company on the run between the cemetery and the fair grounds. It is probable that a new schedule will be put into vogue running these cars on this line at 15-minute intervals.

COREANS RESORTED TO FORCE

(United Press Leased Wire.)

San Francisco, March 23.—D. W. Stevens, adviser to the Korean council of state, today decided not to attempt to prosecute the four irate Koreans who knocked him down in the lobby of the Fairmont Hotel last night and beat him with rattan chairs. He believes his assailants are probably students, who allowed their patriotism to run away with their better judgment.

The Koreans in San Francisco are angry because Mr. Stevens said in a recent interview that, among other things, the Koreans are being greatly benefited by Japanese protection. Last evening a committee called on him to protest.

Mr. Stevens attempted to justify his stand, whereupon one of his callers knocked him down, while the other three pounced upon him, and beat him with rattan chairs until they were pulled off.
