Rotten Pole Broke—
The catching of the trolley pole on one of the big Oregon Electric cars on the trolley wire, as it turned into State street from High at 11 o'clock this morning resulted in the breaking at the base of the telegraph pole at the southwest corner of the junction of the two streets, and the general tearing down and snapping of the network of wires. Fortunately the falling pole was stopped by a high wire strung from two other poles, and its downward flight arrested. Otherwise the accident might have resulted very seriously. Traffic was delayed for considerably over an hour on the local lines, as well as the through line to Portland as the result of the mishap.
