THE MAYOR'S VETO MESSAGE

There are some good ideas in Mayor Rodgers' veto message, but many of them are now in effect and on the status of the city and partly entered.

At present there are ordinances and state laws against minors being found in saloons, against women frequenting them, against selling to drunkards and against gambling.

These provisions and the Sunday laws are in the main enforced in this city and the city of Salem is as orderly and law-abiding in these respects as any city we know of, and FAR MORE THAN SOME OF THE ALLEGED DRY TOWNS.

Mayor Rodgers knows as a matter of fact that women do not much frequent Salem saloons, and that the very class of saloons that are orderly and law-abiding would be closed by the $1000 license fee.

When it comes to the matter of revenue, until this city is carried for prohibition, there is a grave question WHETHER THE REVENUES ARE NOT A MATTER OF SOME IMPORTANCE.

Since Eugene has become a dry town through the efforts of the churches and the university city taxes have doubled, and the moral condition of the city is not made perfect by any means.

The mayor's message was given a prohibition tinge by being taken up in the Methodist pulpit and given a quasi-endorsement by Rev. Sellock, although the mayor himself is not classed as a prohi.

From a business standpoint the mayor and the license committee should get together and frame an ordinance embodying SOME OF THE BEST IDEAS WHICH HE HAS BROUGHT FORTH.

As business men of this city we are all interested in the best order of things possible to be brought out. Rev. Sellock and all prohibitionists will agree with the mayor that revenue is not the prime object of saloon licenses but that POLICE REGULATION FOR THE PROTECTION OF SOCIETY IS DESIRED.

Now as reasonable men, all stringent regulations that lead to better order, are to be desired, and a license fee so high as to make the better class of saloons impossible is to be abandoned.

It is not to be presumed that Rev. Sellock would lend aid to drafting any kind of a license ordinance.

So that the city will get no help from that source, or from any prohibition advocate IN FRAMING A REASONABLY EFFECTIVE ORDINANCE.

Because if a license ordinance is made effective and regulation is a success, then the prohibition cause is struck a fatal blow.

The point we wish to get at, is that we are to expect no aid in making any license system a success from the prohibitionists.

The best ideas in the mayor's message FOR MORE STRINGENT REGULATION OF SALOONS, and abolishing the abuses he complains of, should be embodied in a new ordinance and passed.

The fee should be at $1000 a year. The mayor himself intimates that he favors a reasonable fee. The more orderly class of saloons THAT DO NOT ENCOURAGE DRUNKENNESS CANNOT PAY THAT PRICE.

It must be plain to anyone that the abuses complained of in the mayor's message, if they have any reality, are not going to be done away with by the figures in the license.

The average business man knows that $500 to $600 a year IS A FAIR LICENSE FIGURE FOR THIS CITY.

If a license could be so drafted so that half the saloons could be encouraged to sell nothing but beer and wines it would be a good thing.

The license committee should meet the mayor's suggestions for ANY ADDITIONAL REGULATIONS THAT WE DO NOT NOW HAVE.

As reasonable business men, who are all serving the city with no compensation but the satisfaction of doing right, they should cut out all politics, leave prohibitionists and local optionists to make their campaigns according to their principles, and deal with the license problem in this city from a sane business standpoint.

SPENDING MONEY.

The Oregon City Courier asserts that money is being spent to defeat the popular election of senator in Oregon, but it does not fear the result. The Courier says:

"The money used in Oregon to carry the state against Statement No. 1 will not be raised to any large extent in Oregon. There is great fear that popular election of senators will spread to other states. In such an event it might be hard for the various industrial and railway corporations and other great financial aggregations to own their respective quotas of senators. The United States senate might really become a branch of the people's government. No, it is absolutely necessary that these big capitalistic organizations own the United States senate, and this hobby of the people that they would like to elect senator must be nipped in the bud. There is every reason to believe that hundreds of thousands of dollars are to be used during the next month in overthrowing the amendment to our constitution commonly known as Statement No. 1, and that this money comes largely from outside sources. If the next legislature can be made up of men not in harmony with Statement No. 1, the trick is done. Our privilege of electing United States senators will then be a thing of the past. The people, helpless, irresponsible, must be prevented from doing themselves injury. It is absolutely necessary that the politicians become their guardians. This state of real political liberty has become a dangerous thing. Under some pretense or other the people's privilege of electing the senator must be won back from them."

A NATIONAL DANGER

A contributor to one of the popular magazines builds up a great scare article on the case with which our nation may be invaded on the east and on the west. If there was nothing more to follow than the mere act of invasion such a menace would be immanent, but there is something more; the strength of the nation in organized warfare is to be contended with and but few nations care to undertake the task. There is a matter of extreme importance, however, to the nation and its defenses, that is, the education of the rising generation to the science of national defence. This can best be done through our public schools in the organization of companies of cadets, allied with the Oregon National Guard. The states at a small expense could equip the youth of the state with cadet arms, their drilling from time to time would inspire a patriotism that can not be inspired from any other method the state may employ, and as the youth of the state grow to manhood they become at once the military power upon which the nation can depend in the case of such invasion as suggested by the contributor we have in mind.

State cadets is not a step to the governing of our nation by militarism but it will create a patriotism in the rising generation that will ever stand as an impregnable barrier to the foe from without who would under no circumstances be less fearful of the results of an effort at invasion.

MAKES WORK EASIER.

Salem People Are Pleased to Learn How It Is Done.

It's pretty hard to attend to duties with a constantly aching back; With annoying urinary disorders. Doan's Kidney Pills make work easier.

They cure backache. They cure every kidney ill. W. H. Wood, of 250 Cottage St., Salem, Ore., says: "A good many years ago I got badly kicked by a mule right over the kidneys and at another time while digging a well it caved in on me also injuring my back and since then I have had more or less annoyance from my kidneys. Change of weather caused my back to ache and when I worked hard it became so lame that I could hardly straighten up after stooping. I procured Doan's Kidney Pills at Stone's drug store, and since taking them I have continued to work hard and been exposed to severe weather, not an ache or other symptom of my former trouble remains. This clearly proves that Doan's Kidney Pills act up to the representations made for them. I also know of other people who have derived great benefit from their use. I am glad to let others know the merits of Doan's Kidney Pills for backache and kidney trouble."

SMILES

Early training is necessary to get the worm.

The Eugene city council has resolved to buy the water works for $140,000, subject to a vote of the people April 18. The university city is on the water-wagon to stay.

S. L. Kline and son of Corvallis have taken possession of their new department store, which is one of the finest in the Willamette valley. The proprietors are among Oregon's most enterprising merchants.

The young men of Salem are mostly going to stand for Statement No. 1. They regard it as a clean moral proposition in politics to have the pencil mark in the balloting booth April 17 and June 4, elect the senator instead of cash. They say it is honor enough to send a man to the legislature without having him trade his vote on senator for a federal office or cash.

If they could only secure daily mails the people of Coos bay would be happy.

The Oregonian clubbed Mitchell into the senate three times. Will it do that for U'Ren?

WHY OUR IMMIGRANTS GIVE UP HANDICRAFTS

All through the different countries of Europe the peasant who makes a definite occupation of some form of handicraft does so for one of two reasons: either he is a skilled worker who can make a good living by means of a particular craft, or he has some regular occupation which does not take all his time and falls to furnish him with an adequate living, and so ekes out his income by the pursuit of some home industry. When this man comes to America he does so with the sole idea of bettering his fortunes. The only way to make money is to obtain employment, and he soon discovers that it is impossible for him to work in the accustomed leisurely fashion of the old country as the work for which he receives wages takes all his time, strength and energy, leaving him only leisure enough for the rest that is necessary to his strength. He finds that he can earn more money than he could at home and support his family in what he considers a better style, and soon it seems clear that the small sum which he or his wife and children could add to the family income by handicraft would hardly pay for the time and money spent in procuring the necessary raw materials and tools in a country where the conditions are so different from those to which he has always been accustomed. As a rule, the whole family aspires to become Americanized as quickly as possible. As a matter of fact they discard the peasant clothing which they have always worn in favor of cheap ready-made garments which to them look fashionable, and the same sense of imitation leads them to despise the hand-made peasant work as much inferior to the showy factory-made articles they find in America. On the other hand, the skilled worker who could make a living at home by his handicrafts finds that there is no room here for the kind of work he can do. Conditions are entirely different, and, even if he were familiar with the language and knew how to grasp such opportunities as he may find, he could not, single-handed and without aid, pursue here the handicraft with which he was familiar and hope to find a market that would afford him daily bread. Therefore, the hand-work is neglected and forgotten, and the first effort of the worker is to find employment in some factory or at some other form of daily labor that will afford him a daily wage.—From "Profitable Handicrafts" in The Craftsman for March.
