THE POPE HAS A LEVEL HEAD

(United Press Leased Wire.)
Rome, March 27.—Ill feeling has arisen between Pope Pius and the members of his family because the latter wish to give up the small paternal inn, which they have kept for many years at Riese, the pope's native village.
The pope's sister, brother-in-law and nephew runs the inn, and they assert that not only have they made enough money to retire, but it is not decorous for the pope's relatives to provide food and wine for peasants. His holiness has replied to their complaint by saying that it is not very indecorous to work, even if one does not need to do so, and even if one's relative is the pope.

TEAMSTER ARRESTED FOR SOILING STREET.

A. J. Wood, a teamster in the employ of the contractor excavating for the three-story Breyman building on State street, between Liberty and High, was arrested this morning by Street Commissioner Martin, under instructions from Mayor Rodgers, for carrying dirt in loose bottomed wagons, contrary to the city ordinance.

Rodgers yesterday warned the contractor of the provisions of the ordinance, which provided that earth cannot be carried in any except tight box wagons. The contractor promised to see that all his wagons conformed with the ordinance, but Rodgers' attention was attracted to the amount of dirt leading from the excavation under progress, and soon saw a team coming from the lot with earth streaming from all sides and beneath the wagon. He then directed Martin to place the driver under arrest. This stopped the work for a time, as all of the wagons were in bad condition, but the bottoms were soon made tight, and the work proceeded with.

SUIT OVER DISSOLVING A PARTNERSHIP.

The suit for the appointment of a receiver in the butcher shop of F. A. Kurtz, brought by P. Anderson, who claims to be a partner, was argued before Judge Galloway in the circuit court this morning. Frank Holmes, representing Anderson, claimed that there was an agreement existing between Anderson and Kurtz, whereby the two agreed to accept a salary of $60 a month. Anderson claims Kurtz overpaid to the extent of $1100, and asks for a dissolution of the partnership and the appointment of a receiver. Charles H. McNary, appearing for Kurtz, produced affidavits of employees of the butcher shop, which is located at 277 Commercial street, stating that Anderson did not own any share in the business, and was merely working on a salary for Kurtz. It appears that when Anderson first went into the shop Kurtz made him an offer to buy a share in the business, but McNary claims Anderson was unable to take advantage of the offer, not having the necessary funds.

president of the New York, Ne Haven & Hartford.
The game has been played out by Mr. Harriman, and, while he will continue to be heavily interested in at least two nation's transcontinental railroads, he will not longer direct their policies.

The actual retirement of Mr. Harriman dates back to last October, although the fact has been kept a closely guarded secret. He has been only nominally the directing head of the Union Pacific and affiliated lines, his real dictation having ceased when he was suddenly called by the great banking interests that had been carrying him for heavy loans, and he was obliged to turn over something over $200,000,000 of Union Pacific shares that he had put up as collateral.
Starting lower, stocks soon developed a much improved tone, and at the close the Canadian Pacific showed a gain of five points, Missouri Pacific three, and Union Pacific and copper 2 1/2.

The administration bill so called, was introduced by Representative Hepburn and referred to the judiciary committee. The first crash between the Cannon and Hepburn forces was started today by some of the members of the committee on commerce, who today are sounding the sentiment of the Republicans in the house as to the probable fate of the resolution to discharge the judiciary committee from a consideration of the bill, and hand it over to the Interstate Commerce Commission. It is said that Hepburn feels that the measure would not be shipwrecked in the care of the commission.

RUBIO WINS $15,000 ON THE STEEPLECHASE.

(United Press Leased Wire.)
Liverpool, March 27.—In the presence of one of the biggest crowds that ever witnessed a horse race on this side of the water, Rubio today won the grand national steeplechase event with grace and ease. His price to win was 66 to 1.

The animal led his closest rival by ten lengths when he dashed past the judge's stand at the finish, thereby capturing for his owner the $15,000 purse. The chase is the top-notch of the year's turf events, and, because of this fact, beauty, wealth and fashion were abundantly represented.

FOREST PRESERVATION

A NATIONAL DUTY

In support of President Roosevelt's proposed conference in May at the White House to which he has invited the governors of the various states to discuss the question of forest preservation, the National Association of Manufacturers makes the following resolutions:

Whereas, An adequate supply of wood and timber is necessary to the permanence and prosperity of many of our most important industries, and

Whereas, The country as a whole consumes every year between three and four times more wood than all the forests of the United States grow in the meantime, and it is estimated that the entire commercial supply of wood and timber in this generation will not last over 25 years unless systematically conserved and replenished, and

Whereas, Deforestation menaces the river valleys with increasing danger from destructing floods, and steadily lessens and renders more irregular the flow of streams used for irrigation and water power, and

Whereas, The repeal of the Timber and Stone act has been repeatedly urged upon congress by the President in his messages to congress and by the secretary of the interior, as well as in the report of the public lands commission; therefore be it

Resolved, 1. That the Timber and Stone act shall be repealed and that all public lands shall be included in permanent forest reserves, the title to the land to be forever retained by the national government, stumpage only of matured timber to be sold, and young timber to be preserved for future cutting, so that the forests will be perpetuated by right use; and that the national government shall, by the reservation of purchase of existing forest lands, and the planting of new forests create in every state national forest plantations from which, through all the years to come, a sufficient supply of wood and timber can be annually harvested to supply the needs of the people of each state from the forest plantations in that state, and that the necessary legislation should be immediately enacted by congress to create the national forest reserves known as the White mountain and the Appalachian reserves.

2. That the census department and the forestry service of the agricultural department should be authorized to take a census of the standing timber in the United States in 1910 when the next national census is taken.

In passing these resolutions the National Association of Manufacturers puts itself on record definitely as favoring the President's policy of creating national forests in all parts of the country. The recent reports from the forest service of the department of agriculture indicate that drastic action must be taken in the very near future to protect the manufacturing interests which are involved in the threatened famine in wood for manufacturing purposes. Its members include representatives of such interests as the Builders' association, the agricultural and vehicle makers, furniture and cooperage interests, whose business is seriously threatened. These industries, which use hard wood primarily, are warned that the supply of this material will be exhausted within 15 years. The water-power interests represented by the association are confronted by losses of millions of dollars due to the non-regulation of rivers and streams on account of improper forestry methods. The cotton mill men of the south and east and factory in all parts of the country suffered last year damages amounting to more than $100,000,000 on account of floods due to the same cause. The great irrigation and reclamation projects of the government with the vast outlay manufacturing capital are absolutely dependent upon the kind of forestation urged by the association. The increase in the price of building material and consequently rent and other increases in cost commodities which the public has been forced to pay on account of growing scarcity of wood for such purposes has developed a widespread and vigorous sentiment which is national in scope in favor of demand of President Roosevelt the immediate attention be given to the great problem. Particular attention will be given at the coming conference in Washington to urging the passage of the Lever and Curtis bills creating national forests in the Appalachian and White mountains.

BUSINESS INTERESTS ATTACKED

San Francisco, March 27.—The business men of San Francisco selfishly opposing the graft promotions, because the instigations come too close to their own doors to let them," was the substance of an address delivered last night by Francis Heney, special prosecutor, before the Men's Club in Oakland.

Heney said that the merchant bankers and capitalists are complaining on the grounds that the investigations are injuring the city. "Why do they say this?" he asked. "Because, as we work our way ferreting out the wrong-doers of those responsible for much of the corruption, we come upon the trail of that class of people. Then the attitude toward civic righteousness takes a turn for the worse. Public service corporations and corrupt public servants are responsible for much of the wrong that is being done to the people."
